Business Plan Grant Helps Dairyman Evaluate Options

WHITE HORSE (Lancaster Co.) — Gordon Hoover of Lancaster County knows a good opportunity when he sees it. That's why he took advantage of the Pennsylvania Dairy Stakeholders' business planning assistance program.

The Stakeholders' group is providing grants to farmers who want to develop business plans for their dairy operations. The goal of the program is to encourage dairy farmers to develop business strategies for their operations.

Farmers who apply can receive a grant for up to 75 percent of the cost to work with a consultant and develop a business plan. The grant is limited to $1,500, so if a plan costs more than $2,000 to develop, the farmer would only receive $1,500.

Currently 11 farmers have completed their business plans with the provided grant monies. Another 10 have been through the approval process and are working on plans. Three are cur-

Berks Teachers Learn Y2K Worries Translate Into Business Boom For Food Company

ANDY ANDREWS

MYERSTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — Wes Siegrist of Dutch Valley Food Distributors remembers the items delivered last year to customers worried about potential Year 2000 problems.

Out the doors went bags of rice, beans, soups — all sorts of items from the rush of people who wanted to stock up for fear that stores, for whatever reason, would run out of them.

The year's rush to purchase bulk food items "just happened," Siegrist, sales manager, told more than a dozen Berks County grade and high school teachers Tuesday evening at the annual Berks County Ag In The Classroom Teacher Seminar.

The teachers visited Dutch Valley as part of the seminar.

Siegrist said that last year, to stock up for any Y2K emergency that would occur, many people did their own canning. For Dutch Valley Food Distributors, sugar demand was up. "It was a tremendous year," said Siegrist. "It was crazy. What you expected customers to take, they didn't. And what you didn't expect customers to take, they took."

Dutch Valley Food Distributors, which specializes in bulk foods, was founded by the Melvin Burkholder family, Manheim, in 1974. The company began in the "back end of a butcher shop" about two miles from where the company's headquarters is, north of Myerstown.

Because sugars are essential in the meat process, the shop bulked up on them. Neighbors purchased sugars and other items in the ensuing years. Finally, a distribution site was set up at the current location, once part of the Burkholder farm, in 1978.

The company is operated by Mel Burkholder and his three

PA BEEF EXPOSITION 2000

March 30 to April 2,
At The Penn State Ag Arena

Excitement Abounds Over Expo

The Pennsylvania Junior Cattlemen's Association will conduct its 10th annual Junior Steer and Heifer Preview Show at the 11th annual Pennsylvania Beef Expo, scheduled March 31-April 2 at the Penn State Ag Arena, State College.

The Expo is an excellent opportunity for Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association junior members to exhibit animals and partake in a weekend of fun and learning.

Since its creation in 1989, the Pennsylvania Beef Expo has expanded over the years to include various activities aimed at both junior and senior PCA members.

This year's Expo begins with the annual Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Awards Banquet and Meeting, scheduled Thursday, March 30, at Celebration Hall, State College. The festivities will begin with a social hour at 6 p.m. followed by a prime rib buffet at 7 p.m.

Cattle producers will be recognized this special evening for several awards including the Industry Service Award, Commer-

CATTLE: Compared to Tuesday, a very attractive supply of slaughter steers sold fully 1.00 higher. The majority of the offering was made up of top quality cattle, which helped make for a good market but also caused premiums to be lighter. Holstein steers traded mostly .50 higher, and slaughter heifers were not well tested. Slaughter cows sold firm to .50 higher, while slaughter bull prices were 1.00-2.00 higher in active trading. Supply included 39 percent slaughter steers and 42 percent slaughter cows.

SLAUGHTER STEERS: High Choice and Prime 2-4 1140-1495 lbs 72.00-74.60, few up to 75.50. Choice 2-3 1150-1490 lbs 70.10-73.25; 1495-1630 lbs 66.75-69.25. Select and low Choice 2-3 1125-1495 lbs 65.75-70.25. Select 1-3 1010-1360 lbs 62.75-68.50.

Delmarva Broiler

ATLANTA, GA.

DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was light to fair and centered mainly on the adequate to closely cleared supply of 3 pound and heavier sizes. 2.5 pound sizes remained readily available. Live supplies were mostly moderate; weights varied and were mostly desirable to light. Processing schedules were reduced in instances and just moderate overall. Less than truckIot asking prices were 1 cent higher at 51 to 63 cents. Trade sentiment was fully steady to firm. In the parts complex, thighs were irregularly available. Other cuts were at least adequate for the light and selective buying interest.

NY Phil Frozen Eggs

ATLANTA, GA.

EASTERN REGION FROZEN EGGS, MARCH 17, 2000. FEDERAL-STATE

Majority prices were generally unchanged when compared to a week earlier. Demand was light and unaggressive for usually fully adequate offerings of yolks, interest on balance of items was moderate but improved. The undertone was at least fully steady on whites and whole, and about steady on yolks. Liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspectin in the Eastern region for the week ending March 11, 2000 were 3 % more than than last week, and 7 % more than a year ago. Shell egg suppliers were fully adequate for needs.

National Egg Market

ATLANTA, GA

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE

In Chicago, prices were higher. In the Eastern region, prices were unchanged to higher. Elsewhere, prices were unchanged. The market tone was fully steady to firm. Retail demand ranged light to fairly good, mostly fair to moderate, with better movement centering around the scattered promotional activity. Supplies of all sizes were mostly adequate to instances tight in some areas. Breaking stock offerings were usually adequate from regular sources, and demand for additional product was generally limited as most dealers cautiously assessed further market developments. Light type fowl were sufficient for immediate needs.

ATLANTA, GA.

NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER PARTS - PART I FEDERAL-STATE

Trucklot buying activity was typically quiet for midweek. Offerings were mixed as some plants reported reduced slaughter schedules due in part to short weights, equipment upgrades and apparent cutbacks in production. Thighs and thigh meat were tight to adequate. Boneless, skinless breasts were becoming increasingly available and some discounting was reported. Bone-in breasts ranged about adequate to fully adequate. The balance was at least adequate. Retail and distributive movement was light to fair at best. The market tone was fully steady to firm on thighs and no better than steady on the balance.

PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED BROILER/FRYER PARTS, DELIVERED TO FIRST RECEIVERS IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES.

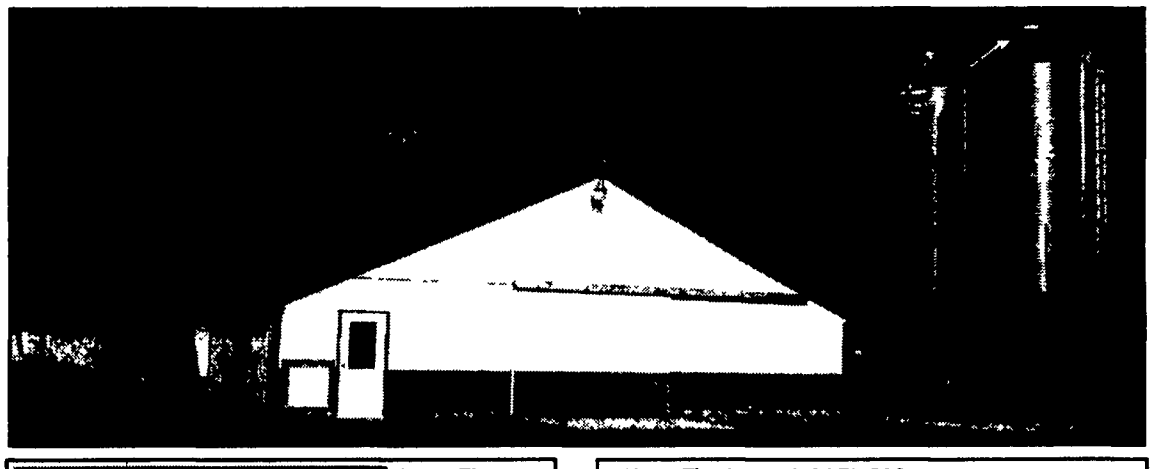
Quality Building and Equipment

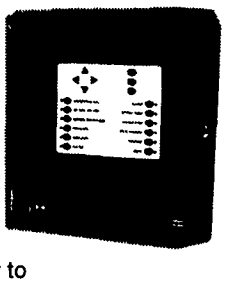


Featuring:
- CHORE-TIME Feeding
- CHORE-TIME Nipples
- CHORE-TIME Ventilation
- Chore-Tronics™ The Simple Solution Automated Controls
- Wheeling Painted Galvanized Steel Roofing and Siding
- Panelized Building
- Poured Walls

Chore-Time nipple drinkers come assembled and feature Chore-Time's Surge Plus® regulator which automatically boosts pressure during times of peak water consumption.

Chore-Time's new MODEL C2® PLUS Broiler Feeding System gets birds off to a good start, minimizes wasted feed, and provides birds with consistent access to fresh feed. The latest in Chore-Time's 45-year history of outstanding broiler feeding systems, the MODEL C2® PLUS includes a reinforced pan eating area and cone wear surface. This may be Chore-Time's most durable broiler feeder yet.

Chore-Tronics™ The Simple Solution



Chore-Tronics™ Controls give you the competitive edge. The Chore-Tronics™ Line of controls was developed specifically to meet today's management challenges. Improvements in individual systems, genetics, and nutrition still offer production advances, but these may not offer enough of an edge in today's competitive market. Properly integrated house management using Chore-Tronics Controls for the ultimate in flexibility and precision offers the greatest potential for a competitive advantage.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, MO
Wed Mar 22, 2000

USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

Daily National Grain Market Summary

Grain and soybean bids were all higher on fund buying and below average crop condition ratings in some winter wheat areas. Wheat mostly 1 to 3 cents higher. Corn 1 to 4 cents higher. Sorghum 6 to 8 cents higher. Soybeans 1 to 5 cents higher. Improved crop conditions are expected in Texas and Oklahoma wheat areas due to good overnight rainfall. Forecasts are calling for more moisture over the next 24 hours. However, some concerns that too much rainfall may cause some crop damage due to diseases. Export sales continues slow this week and Algeria is waiting for lower prices before they make any purchases. Corn and soybean bids moved higher due to fund buying on the Board. Some traders continue to maintain drought concerns as some areas of the Corn Belt remains dry. A South African crop agency lowered their corn production to 9.188 million metric tons. Soybean meal prices were slightly higher. Beans were also supported by reports that precipitation for this month is below normal in several places. Slow export demand limited gains.

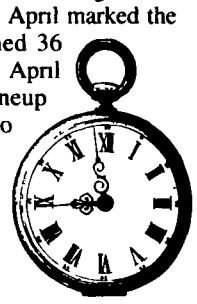
The Old Farmer's Almanac This Week With

MAR. 27 - APR. 2, 2000

ALL FOOLS, APRIL 1.

SPRING FORWARD!

Daylight Saving Time is upon us once again at 2:00 A.M on Sunday, April 2. Spring forward (in October, it was "Fall back!" remember?) by setting the clocks an hour ahead before you retire for the night on All Fools. April seems like the appropriate month for adjusting timepieces. From the Latin aperio, for "I open," April is a month dedicated to the budding and flowering of new things. In the age-old Alban calendar, April marked the first month of the year and contained 36 spring days. In the time of Romulus, April took second place in the calendar lineup and lost 6 days, but it had fallen to fourth in line (and been shortened to 29 days) well before Julius Caesar took charge. He put it back to 30 days, at least.



In April Rome was founded; Shakespeare died . . . -Samuel V Cole

TIP OF THE WEEK

VEGGIE SAUTÉ

1 tablespoon olive oil
1 small bunch scallions, trimmed and chopped
2 small zucchinis, sliced
1 each small red, yellow, and green peppers, seeded and cut into 1/2-inch slices
3 cloves garlic, minced
1 tablespoon fresh herbs (basil, thyme, etc.)
1/2 teaspoon salt
freshly ground pepper
juice of 1/2 lemon

Heat oil in large skillet and add vegetables, cooking uncovered, and stirring occasionally for about 5 minutes. When veggies are just beginning to soften, add garlic, herbs, salt, and pepper. Continue cooking until just tender, toss with lemon juice, and serve hot, as is or over rice.

Makes 4 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

The March Sun raises, but dissolves not.

Whatever March does not want, April brings along.

Snow in April is manure; snow in March devours.

April cold and wet fills barn and barrel.

Hey, Have You Heard The News?

Pro-Lix Liquid Cattle Feed Supplements are available from our dealership! Now, feeding your cattle supplements has never been easier! We'll provide you with a quality Pro-Lix product and feed your cattle for you!

Pro-Lix Supplements can provide you with many benefits. Lick wheel feeding allows 24 hour availability to all cattle. Research indicates that Pro-Lix improves digestion rates and forage consumption on poor quality roughage. Pro-Lix is a nutrient dense product that takes the effort out of feeding a supplement. Free-choice liquid supplements eliminate the "boss cow" syndrome and allows animals to balance their own nutrient intake. Pro-Lix is an economical source of nutrients that will fill the nutritional gaps in your forage program.

Best of all, Pro-Lix works with all types of pasture grass or forage, as a free-choice supplement, a top-dressing, or a ration mix.

Glickman Announces Mandatory Livestock Price Reporting

WASHINGTON, D.C.–In a move to help level the playing field for small livestock producers, Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman today announced that major livestock packers, livestock product processors and importers soon will be required to report pricing details to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"We need to ensure that small farmers and ranchers have a full and fair opportunity to compete in an increasingly concentrated agricultural economy," Glickman said. "This new mandatory price reporting program will help producers by making the market more transparent, giving them better information about what's happening in the marketplace."

USDA's proposed rule spells out who is required to report, what information must be reported, and specific reporting times. Those affected are livestock packers and product processors and importers who slaughter an average of 125,000 cattle, 100,000 swine, 75,000 lambs per year. Importers who annually import an average of 5,000 metric tons of lamb meat are also required to report.

At stipulated times of the day, affected packers, processors, and importers must report to USDA the details of all transactions involving purchases of: livestock, domestic and imported lamb carcasses, and imported lamb cuts.

They also must report the details of all transactions involving: domestic and export sales of boxed beef cuts, including branded product, sales of domestic and imported boxed lamb cuts, including branded product, and purchases of imported boxed lamb cuts, including branded product.

In many instances, mandatory reporting will provide USDA with new information that has never been collected under the existing voluntary market news reporting program. Consequently, USDA is seeking input from the livestock and meat industry on how this new information would best be reported back to the industry, in order to assist small and medium sized livestock operators in making sound market-based decisions.

"I want to thank Senators Lugar, Daschle, Harkin, and Johnson for their leadership on this important issue," said Glickman.

The proposed rule, which will be published in the Federal Register March 17, will be open to public comment for 30 days. Additional information is available on the web at http://www.ams.usda.gov/lsg/price.htm.

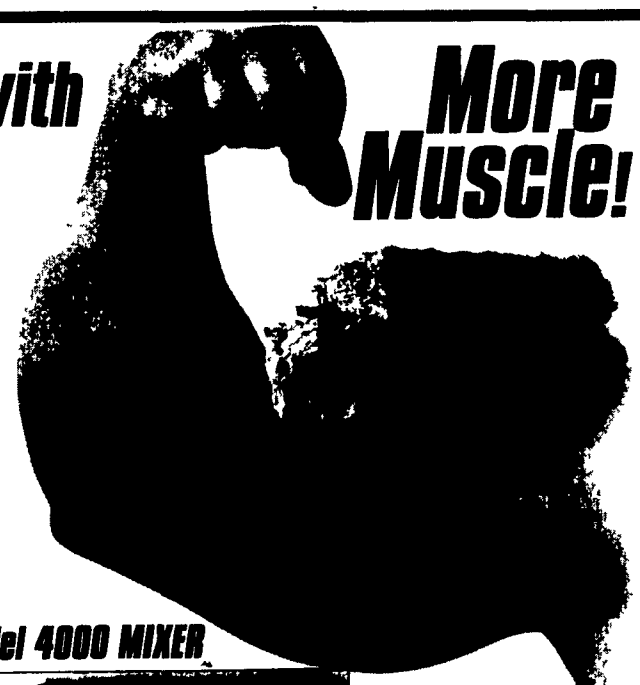
The Mixer with More Muscle!

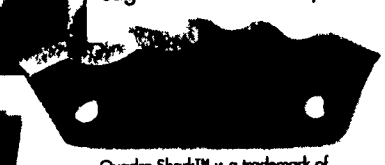


Model 4000 MIXER

- New tub design plus full-length breaker bar improves mixing with less power so you can feed more hay. A 3/8-inch bottom pan adds extra service life. Welds are strong and tolerances precise for stronger side walls. You get more sturdiness and durability in a new Model 4000 Mixer. New design of transition area in lower auger improves feed flow and reduces torque.
- New design of discharge door frame allows a more-complete mix of ration. Choose from belt or auger discharges. Choose various discharge lengths. Increase operator convenience and reduce feeding time with optional hydraulic height control of discharge.
- Improved drive train provides reliable performance. A shear bolt helps protect the planetary and lower-auger roller chain and sprockets.

Struck-level capacities of 205, 305 and 380 cubic feet. Optional side extensions provide struck-level capacities of 232, 343 and 428 cubic feet.

For really tough hay, add knives made from 1/4-inch Quadra-Shark™ steel. The through-hardened knives feature scalloped cutting edges for reduced torque.



Quadra Shark™ is a trademark of Patz Sales, Inc

Season Begins For Produce Auctions

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Regional produce growers are ready to bring their cool crops and bedding plants to the opening of produce auction season.

Most of the auctions begin the season with bedding plants and flowers. Some auction managers have indicated to Lancaster Farming they may have spring onions and similar crops to sell.

One of the larger area produce auctions, Leola Produce Auction, Leola, begins Tuesday, March 28, at 10 a.m. The auction continues Tuesdays and Thursdays initially and will include more days as the season progresses.

Weaverland Produce Auction, New Holland, opens its auction doors April 4 and 6 beginning at 9 a.m.

Cumberland Valley Produce Auction, Shippensburg, begins its auction March 28. The auction continues Tuesdays and Thursdays through April.

Lebanon Produce Auction, Reistville, opens its auction doors Tuesday, April 18, at 10 a.m. The auction will operate Tuesdays.

Leinbach's Shippensburg Produce Auction, Shippensburg, already began its season with flowers. The auction is operating on Tuesdays but will operate Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning April 4 and 6.

Kutztown Produce Auction, Fleetwood, began March 21 and operates Tuesday at 10 a.m.

Snyder County Produce Auction, Port Trevorton, is open Fridays at 10:30 a.m. They have scheduled a special Easter Sale April 14 at 10:30 a.m.

• Windmill Produce Auction, Penn Yan, N.Y., opens April 29.

Oklahoma City, OK
Wed Mar 22, 2000
USDA-OK Dept Ag Market News
Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary

Compared to last week: Feeder steers steady to 1.00 higher; feeder heifers steady to 1.00 lower. Demand good for feeder cattle. Stocker cattle and calves steady. Demand continues extremely good for grazing cattle. The mild winter has caused cattle on wheat to finish ahead of schedule this season with the March wheat run occuring mostly in February. Same is expected for the May run which will likely concentrate in April. March rains have been generous statewide. Spring grazing will be optimal. Quality average to attractive. Feeder cattle in slightly thin to moderate flesh, end fleshy. Weigh-ups remain highly varied and in complete range of gaunt to full. Slaughter cows steady to 1.00 lower. Slaughter bulls steady. Packer demand moderate. Demand very good for thin grazing type cows. Total of 415 cows and bulls sold with 35 percent to packers. Receipts this week 8,960; last week 10,394; last year 11,587. Supply consisted of 75 percent yearlings over 600 lbs; 20 percent calves and short yearlings under 600 lbs; 5 percent cows and bulls. Heifers comprised 39 percent of feeder and calf supply. Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

Franklin County Dairy Uses Technology To Max Bottom Line

JAYNE SEBRIGHT
Lancaster Farming Staff

MERCERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Computers, good ventilation, and sound management help the Hissongs maximize the bottom line on their 235-cow dairy in Mercersburg.

Father Ron and his sons, Rick and Rod, work to maximize production and minimize labor on their dairy through using computer technology to detect heats, monitor milk records, and manage farm records.

With a rolling herd average of 24,750 pounds milk, 805 pounds fat, and 766 pounds protein, the Hissongs share management responsibilities on the farm.

"My dad takes care of the calves and handles the shop work, while Rod and I share the herd management responsibilities," said Rick. "Rod does most of the employee management and reviews, while I do more of the purchasing and contracting of feeds."

The Hissong's dairy operation celebrated its 50th anniversary last year. In 1949, Ron's father Glen purchased the farm. Ron and Glen formed a partnership in the early 1970's until Ron took the farm over in the early 1980's. Last year Rick and Rod incorporated with the father to form Mercer Vu Farms, Inc.

One of the most interesting innovations the Hissongs use on their farm is a computer system that detects heats in their dairy animals. Using transmitters that are mounted with pouches on the cow's rump, the Heat Watch system indicates when cows come into heat.

The transmitters are put on the cows at about 45 to 50 days in milk. Then the Hissongs wait for the animal to come into heat. Every day they check the standing heat list on the computer and see who needs bred that day.

"I used to get really disgusted spending 20 minutes two or three times a day monitoring heats and not seeing anything," said Rick. "When we got the Heat Watch system, we didn't need to spend that time watching heats. That's a labor cost savings."

According to Rick, the initial cost of the Heat Watch system was about $6,000 for their 145-cow herd. Each transmitter costs $55, and you need enough transmitters for about half of your herd. A farmer also needs to purchase the software to record the data.

Once the Hissongs started using Heat Watch, they immediately saw significant cost savings. "The nicest thing about the program was that our days open decreased 30 days and our days in milk dropped by 60 when we first started using it," said Rick.

The Hissongs also use the Surge Parlor Manager software to monitor milk records and Lancaster County DHIA's PC Dart Program to manage their herd records.

"The system helps you monitor everything from when to trim the cow's feet to when to dry her off," said Rick.

Using Heat Watch and the PC Dart programs, the Hissongs are currently doing a study to determine the best time to breed cattle.

"When we put the information into the computer, we enter in how long after the first mount she is bred," explained Rick. "Our most optimal time seems to be between eight and 15 hours after the first mount."

The computer prevents the Hissongs from having to invest more in time and labor.

"When we expanded, our goal was to go from 140 cows to 230 cows and not add any labor," said Rick. "With the help of the different computer packages we use, that's what we did."

Milking three times a day, the Hissongs have three full-time milkers. Each milker works one shift each weekday and milks a double shift every other weekend. The milking shifts normally take around five hours. Each milking requires only one person to run the parlor and move cows. That frees up the Hissongs to manage the herd, handle the feeding, and take care of any problems.

To improve milk quality and guarantee dependable employees, the Hissongs do regular employee evaluations and offer both quality and attendance premiums to their employees.

The Hissongs also have a new naturally ventilated free stall barn that they feel helps them keep production up during the hot summer months. The barn was built three years ago when they decided to expand the herd to 230 cows.

"In the old barn we used to see anywhere from a 15 to 20-pound drop in production during the summer months," said Rick. "In the new barn, our herd drops only about five to seven pounds in the summer."

The key to natural ventilation, according to the Hissongs, is the sight location of the barn. "If your barns going to see down in a valley, it's probably not the best place to build a naturally ventilated barn," said Rick.

The Hissong's farm is located on a hill, so the barn has a nice breeze going through it most days. The building has 14-foot sidewall openings and a 38-inch high by 38-inch wide "chimney" or open ridge roof.

"Of course, you're always going to have those hot summer days when there is no breeze going. But, if I had it to do over again, I would build it the exact same way," said Rick. " When you walk into that barn, you don't smell a dairy barn — just fresh air."

The free stall barn was built to allow for future expansion, which the Hissongs plan to do in the next three to four years. Currently milking their herd in a double-eight herringbone parlor, they're already at the maximum herd size that is ideal for that size parlor.

"Right now we're contemplating what our next step will be and how those pieces will fit together," said Rick. "Ideally we would like to build a new parlor suited for 600 cows because that's what it is going to take to make the expansion cash flow."

With the parlor comes another free stall barn plus a special needs area and a freshening area for the herd.

"When we look into the future, our goal with the new set up is that this farm will send a tractor-trailer load of milk to market every day," Rick said. "That kind of volume gives you a lot of power over how and to whom your milk is marketed."

The Hissongs currently run two groups in their herd. They feed a TMR ration formulated for each group. The high group's ration is formulated for 90 pounds of milk, while the low group gets a 70-pound mix.

They use homegrown forages and mostly homegrown high moisture corn, although the drought prevented them from growing enough this year. They purchase other ingredients in the TMR, and they depend on a local nutritionist to formulate the rations.

The forages and high moisture corn are grown on the Hissong's 700-acre farm. Currently they have about 400 acres of corn, 100 acres of beans, and 150 acres of alfalfa.

The Hissongs currently raise all of their replacements, which include about 174 heifers right now. However, after the new Agway heifer replacement system opens up in Shippensburg, they plan to send all of their replacements to that facility.

Rick started working on the dairy after he graduated from Penn State with a major in Agricultural Systems Management & Technology in 1993. Rod joined his father and brother in 1998, after graduating from Penn State with a major in Dairy and Animal Science.

Ron's wife Judy also helps out on the farm by keeping the financial records and handling the time cards. Rick is married to Becky and has two children, Ryan, who is three years old, and Rachel, who is about a month and a half. All of the Hissongs are actively involved in their local church, the First United Methodist Church of Mercersburg.

In 1999, the Hissongs hosted Franklin County Fall Farm Fun Fest, which they enjoyed doing.

"It was a great experience, and we got a lot of nice compliments on it," said Rick. "We enjoy showing people what farming is all about. With less than two percent involved in agriculture, it's important to educate people about how a working dairy farm is run."

Using Heat Watch, PC Dart, and Surge Parlor Manager software, both Rod and Rick rely heavily on the computer to keep them updated on the herd.

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

Corn, No.2y — 2.47 bu., 4.42 cwt.
Wheat, No.2 — 2.37 bu., 3.96 cwt.
Barley, No.3 — 1.69 bu., 3.62 cwt.
Oats, No.2 — 1.54 bu., 4.80 cwt.
Soybeans, No.1 — 4.75 bu., 7.93 cwt.
Ear Corn — 76.69 ton, 3.83 cwt.
Alfalfa Hay — 134.25 ton, 6.71 cwt.
Mixed Hay — 143.75 ton, 7.19 cwt.
Timothy Hay — 147.50 ton, 7.38 cwt.

Director Attends Institute at Penn State

Recently Scott Kriebel, a state director for Pennsylvania DHIA from Columbia County, attended the 16th Cooperative Director Institute at Penn State. This school attracts people from a wide variety of organizations, who come together to share experiences both good and bad. The group discussions can lead to solutions within the respective organizations. The institute meets yearly and addresses cutting edge developments and issues. The theme of this year's institute was "Helping Cooperative Members to Think Outside the Box."

Scott was very enthusiastic about participating in the curriculum citing "top notch speakers, educational programs, and great food" as being particular highlights. He felt that it was beneficial "to get different points of view as well as important keys to interaction between Board and Management."

sons, Matt, Lane, and Corby.

There have been nine building additions to the central location in the time the company was established a quarter century ago. The company delivers to bulk food stores and retail outlets. They don't have refrigerated or frozen products.

About 60 percent of the company's clientele is of a conservative background, including Amish and Mennonite families and other customers in Pennsylvania and surrounding states and in Missouri, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Tennessee, Iowa, and elsewhere. The company delivers product as far north as New York state, Vermont, Massachusetts and south to North Carolina and South Carolina.

There is a total of 3,500 products and the same number of customers. The company employs 90, including 12 sales personnel on the road.

Bulk food products include everything from baking powder, as outlined in their brochure, to yeast and much more. They also sell packaging products from aluminum foil to seal top bags.

The warehouse to contain the items for distribution measures 72,500 square feet in size with a 30-day average product rotation. (Siegrist noted most products are rotated every 20 days.) The warehouse maintains a constant 65-degree temperature and 50 percent relative humidity all year-round.

All plastic, cardboard, and office paper is recycled. The plastic is baled and sold to recycling companies.

Dutch Valley Food Distributors maintains its own fleet of 20 trucks (maintained by four full-time mechanics) that deliver to 24 states. (Because the company policy is to have drivers home for the weekend, Dutch Valley uses commercial carriers to deliver products to another 24 states.)

'We hear a lot of positive feedback from the customers about our drivers," said Siegrist. "We believe service is very, very important."

The company handles about 250-300 orders per day, noted Siegrist. Their product catalog has 139 pages, including a description of item, prices per package, unit price, suggested retail, and a markup percentage. According to Siegrist, the markup percentage was necessary because so many customers don't really know what they should charge, typically, for an item.

For delivery in a 20-mile radius, there is a $300 minimum purchase. That minimum purchase increases to $1,000 for customers as far away as Wisconsin.

Customers can also pick up items at the warehouse.

system has kept mispicks to less than 10 percent of product sold and out-of-stock items to less than 1.5 percent of the product sold, noted Siegrist.

Of the 3,500 items for sale, in terms of high sales, the number one item is the sugar-free vanilla wafer. The product, made in Wisconsin, is a small wafer with a vanilla-type filling. "We sell trailer loads of the product," said Siegrist.

The company sells organic products, besides a full line of soybean products, including soy milk, nuts, roasted soybeans, honey-roasted soybeans, and other items, including soy liquid and powder. Four different companies supply pasta.

In terms of volume sales, the number one item is the Sweet Temptation nut snack mix. Number two in volume sales is the Just Fruit snack mix.

Dutch Valley Food Distributors has its own private label, Bulk Food, Inc.

The company even sells a book, "Practical Produce," with a suggested retail of $8.99-$9.99, on how to plant, grow, harvest, and prepare produce.

On the premises the company has its own gelatin mixing room, which can mix about 950 pounds at a time. The process allows the gelatin to hold up better during the refrigeration process. The color is added to it to promote eye appeal. They also make sugar-free products.

Big sellers recently were peanut butter, chocolate, coconut, and other items for Easter candymaking.

The company plans to expand its warehouse and distributing operation with the purchase of an adjacent 13-acre property. It is now in the stormwater management approval process.

The company is also working on its own Internet Website.

The Berks County teachers also toured Associated Wholesalers Inc. in Robesonia.

Chris Michael, president and CEO of Associated Wholesalers, said the company, a cooperative food distributor, employs about 1,200 people in two distribution centers, including one in York County.

The company distributes "everything you would find in a supermarket," Michael said.

At the tour, the group visited a warehouse measuring about 700,000 square feet, or more than 16 acres. Both centers comprise more than a million square feet or more than 23 acres under roof.

The company supplies food for about 1,000 independent retailers. Associated Wholesalers has its own labels, Shurfine and Shursave items. The Shurfine label, a private label from Portland, Ore., is manufactured by different companies under Associated Wholesalers' specifications.

One product, Shurfine Eggs, is packaged by Sauder's in Lancaster County, he said. Shurfine chicken is packaged by Pennfield. Shurfine milk is bottled by Rutter's Dairy in York County.

Associated Wholesalers purchases produce locally, when it can, and from the West, notably California and New Mexico.

A wide range of products is moved daily.

"We move thousands of skids a day here," said Michael. They deliver about 120 loads of products per day. Because of product perishability, the chicken loaded at 5:30 at night arrives at the stores by 6 in the morning.

The company, said Michael, had its roots in the late 1920s in Lancaster city. At the time the company was known as Lanco Wholesale Company.

The Robesonia location employs about 800-900 people. Both centers have approximately 90 of their own tractor-trailers that ship product to Pennsylvania and surrounding states in the Mid-Atlantic region.

Dairy Farmers Of America To Hold Second Annual Meeting

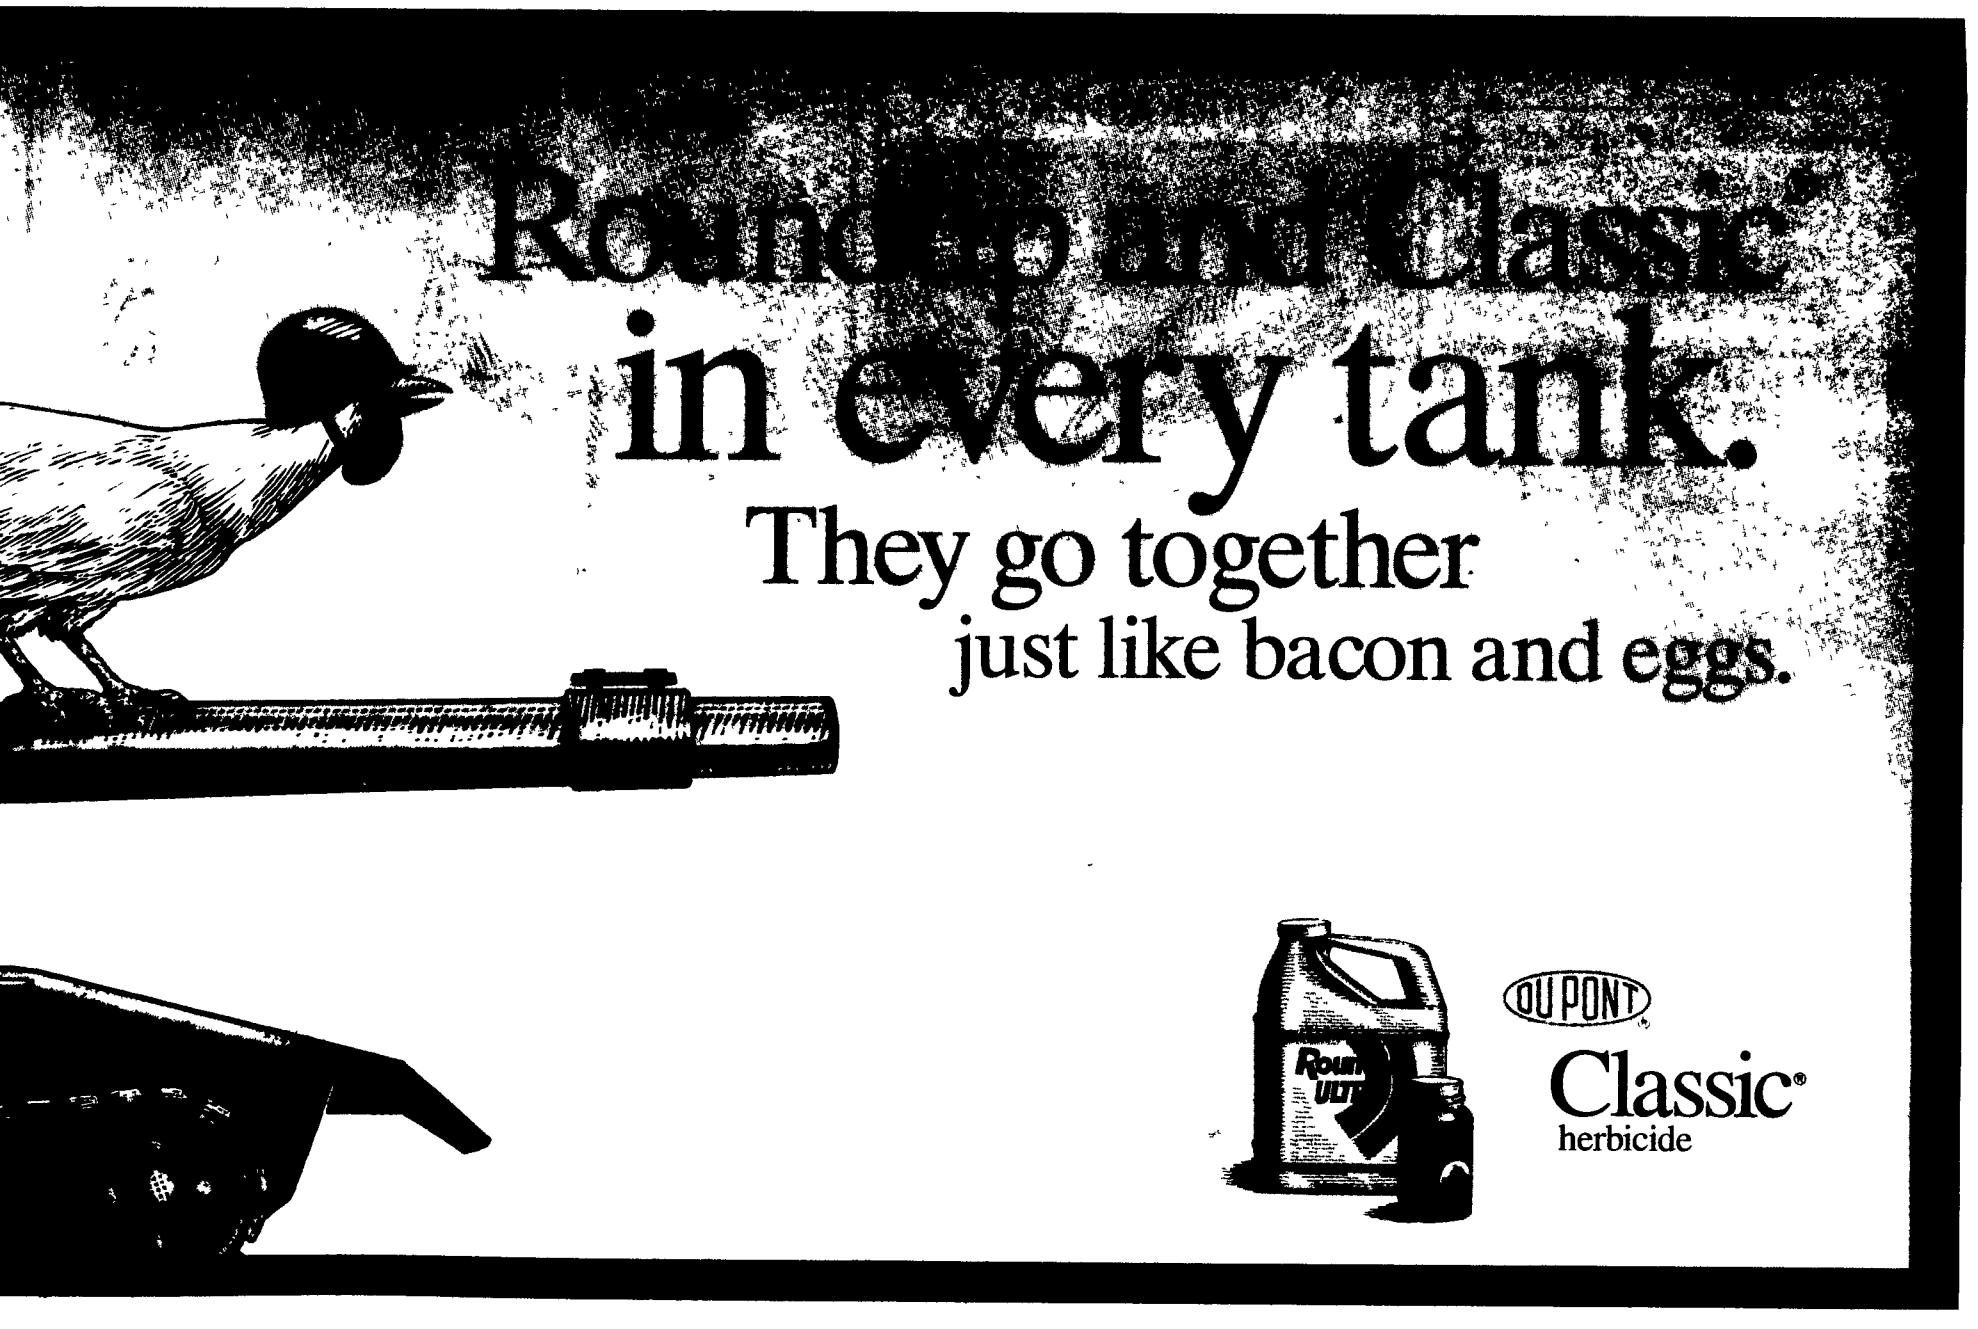
KANSAS CITY, MO–Dairy Farmers of America (DFA) will hold its second annual meeting at the Hyatt Regency Crown Center in Kansas City, Missouri, on April 10-11. Attendance at the two-day meeting is expected to top 1,500 dairy farmers and guests from across the nation. This year's meeting theme is "Beyond 2000" as the farmer-owned cooperative focuses on ways to help dairy farmers compete profitably in a competitive and rapidly changing industry.

In addition to the business meeting, this year's event features an expanded Dairy Bar and Trade Show with informational product and marketing displays by DFA's operational divisions and service units. Elsie the Borden cow will make a guest appearance on behalf of DFA's Borden Cheese division and in recognition of the famous icon's 60th year promoting quality Borden products. Joining Elsie will be Jim Cavanaugh who helped select the first Elsie at the 1939 World's Fair.

The meeting begins at 1:00 p.m. on Monday, with a general session featuring presentations outlining accomplishments of the dairy marketing cooperative by DFA Chairman Herman Brubaker and President and Chief Executive Officer Gary Hanman. In addition, Charles Beckendorf, chairman of DFA's Finance Committee, will present the financial report of the organization's second year of operation.

A banquet Monday evening features Rep. Roy Blunt (R-MO) as the key note speaker outlining legislative challenges facing the dairy industry in the year ahead. In addition, DFA's Borden Cheese Division will announce the "Calling all Elsies" contest winner. The winning DFA member farm couple receives an expense-paid trip to New York City where Elsie made her debut at the 1939 World's Fair.

Tuesday morning, the general session reconvenes with the DFA member delegate body discussing and voting on resolutions submitted by members in DFA's seven Area Councils. The resolution process gives members at the grass roots level an opportunity to have input in development of DFA positions on issues and policies that affect the dairy industry. The meeting concludes with a "question and answer" session with DFA executives. Adjournment is scheduled for 3 p.m., Tuesday, April 11.



NCFC Advocates Elimination Of Needless Tax Burden On Farmer Cooperatives

WASHINGTON, D.C.–"As cooperatives look to the 21st Century, it is important for the industry to have the appropriate tools so it can continue to give value to its farmer owners," said Gary McDavid, attorney for Dorsey and Whitney, LLP, in testimony before the House Small Business Committee on behalf of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives (NCFC).

Therefore, McDavid said NCFC is working for the inclusion of H.R. 1914 into an upcoming tax bill. The measure would allow a farmer cooperative to bypass the dividend allocation rule, a regulatory rule that negatively impacts the amount of the patronage dividend deduction taken by a cooperative.

The benefits of this legislation for cooperatives could be substantial. Among other things, a cooperative could more easily:

•Raise capital from outside investors.

•Increase the amount of patronage earnings paid to the farmer owners.

•Create a class of nonvoting preferred stock that could be traded on capital markets, thereby providing liquidity to the cooperative's interests.

•Create a preferred stock program for management and employees that would improve incentive programs.

rently in the approval process.

The Dairy Stakeholders group is looking for more farmers to apply for the grants, which are co-funded by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and industry groups. Hoover was one of the first farmers to participate in the program.

Hoover and his wife Carol farm a 188-acre farm in White Horse. They milk 120 Holstein cows and have 120 replacement heifers. The herd averages 22,000 pounds of milk.

The Hoovers are third generation farmers who have been farming for 20 years. They pride themselves in maintaining a family-operated farm with only one full-time employee and two part-time high school hired hands.

The Hoovers have three daughters, Jill (16), Brenda (13), and Leslie (9). Carol works in a testing lab for Pioneer Seeds. In addition to operating his dairy farm, Gordon serves as a Land O'Lakes, Inc., Director and travels to meetings in St. Paul, Minn., and Carlisle regularly.

"We never had a formal written plan for our dairy farm," said Hoover. "Like a lot of farmers, we had a farm accounting program through Farm Bureau, production and feed records through DHIA, and agronomic records on Agribasics."

The grant provided by Dairy Stakeholders gave Hoover the opportunity to compile all of those records and do some planning for his operation.

"It helped us look at some alternatives for the future," said Hoover. "One of the main reasons we wanted to work with this program is that we are using a milking parlor and freestall barn that were built 40 years ago."

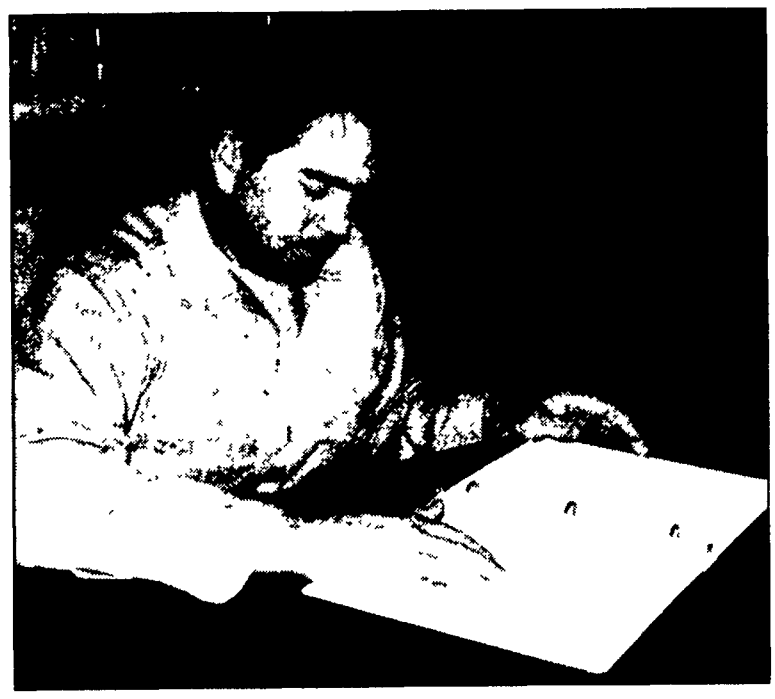
Hoover wants to replace his existing facilities to improve cow comfort and operator convenience. "We looked at whether we could handle constructing a new facility for our current or an expanding herd size," said Hoover.

Using the grant, Hoover hired Rich Ridgeway, a consultant from Land O'Lakes, Inc., and one of about fourteen consultants on a list provided by Dairy Stakeholders. Ridgeway used a business planning program to compile all of the data that Hoover had and create a base plan, which was where the Hoovers were at that time. The base plan could also be termed an initial feasibility study.

The plan analyzed production per cow, cost of production, and other factors that Hoover and Ridgeway then critiqued. "We asked ourselves where were the areas where we could improve."

"That aspect alone was very beneficial to us," said Hoover. "I would encourage every farmer to do a business plan because it forces you to write it down. Once it's written down, you can really analyze the numbers a lot more than you can when they're floating around in your head while you're out working in the field."

Based on the information in the plan, Hoover looked at his goals for his operation. "With our acreage, we have a nutrient management plan that can accomodate 150 cows and 150 replacements," said Hoover. "We looked at four alternatives for building a new facility, including freestalls and a parlor, for 150 cows."



Hoover reviews the business plan he put together with the help of consultant Rich Ridgeway from Land O'Lakes, Inc. The plan helped him to weigh out his options for improving his dairy facilities.

The four alternatives were based on the amount of milk the herd was producing. "When we did the plan, our herd was averaging around 20,000," said Hoover. "So we cash flowed the expansion at higher production averages to determine where we had to be."

Since then, Hoover's herd average has increased to 22,000 pounds. "From a cash flow aspect, the plan showed us that we may need to build a freestall barn for 175 cows and use the existing parlor for a couple of years," said Hoover. "We're still researching other options because the physical limitations of our existing parlor don't make it very attractive."

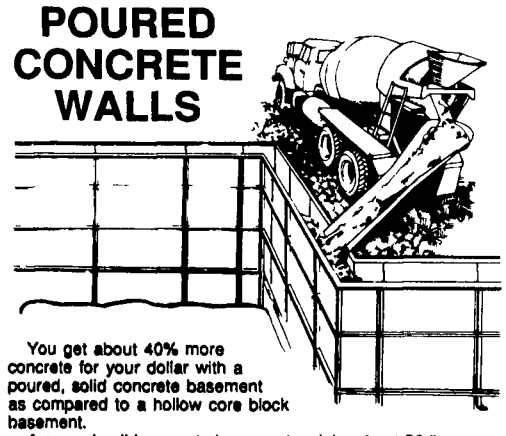
START WITH THE BEST!

POURED CONCRETE WALLS



You get about 40% more concrete for your dollar with a poured, solid concrete basement as compared to a hollow core block basement.

A poured solid concrete basement weighs about 50 lbs more per cubic foot! Far denser. What's more, poured solid concrete walls are monolithic ... there are no joints!

This is why laboratory tests show poured, solid concrete basements have many times the flexural and compressive strength to withstand the side and down pressures caused by earth, wind, water and building loads and the material density to resist water penetration

Best of all, thanks to modern and efficient construction techniques, poured, solid concrete basements are competitively priced

Adjusted Gross Revenue (AGR)

John Berry
Ag Marketing Agent
Lehigh Co. Extension

The Adjusted Gross Revenue (AGR) insurance plan is a non-traditional whole farm risk management tool. The AGR concept uses a producer's historic Schedule F tax form information as a base to provide a level of guaranteed revenue.

AGR:

1) provides an insurance safety net for multiple agricultural commodities in one insurance product;

2) establishes a common denominator for commodity production cash receipts;

3) makes simple and straightforward use of income tax forms; and

4) reinforces program creditability by using Internal Revenue Service tax forms and regulations.

The AGR product provides the producer protection against low farm revenue due to unavoidable causes. Covered farm revenue is income from agricultural commodities reported on the Schedule F tax form, including incidental amounts of income from animals and animal products and aquaculture reared in a controlled environment. Incidental livestock income represents the crop production value fed to livestock.

Coverage is available at three levels:

1) 65% coverage and 75% payment

2) 75% coverage and 75% payment

3) 80% coverage and 75% payment

The basic coverage is 65/75 and is available to all producers. To qualify for 75/75 coverage three different agricultural commodities must be grown. To qualify for 80/75 coverage eight different agricultural commodities must be grown. Each commodity must meet minimum revenue requirements.

AGR protection is calculated by multiplying the approved gross revenue times the percent coverage level and payment rate selected by the producer. The approved gross revenue is the smaller of:

1) the average of the producer's prior five years of Schedule F tax information. The average gross revenue can be adjusted for expanded operations; or

2) expected revenue for the insurance year.

For example, a producer with a $100,000 approved gross revenue who chose 80/75 coverage would have $60,000 protection ($100,000 X 80% coverage X 75% payment)

Loss payments are triggered when the adjusted gross income for the insured year is less than the loss inception point. The loss inception point is calculated by multiplying the approved gross revenue by the chosen percent coverage (65, 75 or 80). Once a loss is triggered, the payment rate is 75% of the revenue shortfall. Loss payment for this example would trigger when the income for the insurance year is below $80,000 ($100,000 X 80% coverage).

Producer eligibility requirements include:

- filed five consecutive years of Schedule F tax forms. For 2000, the 1994-1998 tax years.
- produces eligible commodities
- U.S. citizen or resident
- files calendar year farm tax return
- no more than 50% of allowable income is earned from purchase and resale of agricultural commodities
- no more than 35% of allowable income is from animals and animal products
- must have Multi Peril Crop Insurance (MPCI) when more than 50% of allowable income is from insurable crops.

This summary is for general illustration only. Please, contact a private insurance agent to learn more details about AGR and other crop insurance products.

One option Hoover is considering based on what he learned from the plan is partnering with a neighbor. "By partnering, you spread out your dollars and share the risks," said Hoover. "Another aspect of partnering that is especially attractive is the labor situation. We want life to get easier as we get older, and with partnering, you can share the labor."

Once Hoover decides what option he will choose, he plans to work with Ridgeway to develop a more-detailed plan. "A business plan can help us outline our goals, resources, and determine what each party brings to the table," said Hoover. "Consultants can help you work out these details before you begin the expansion or partnership."

Hoover would recommend that any farmer take advantage of the Dairy Stakeholders' business planning grants. "It forces you to sit down and spell everything out," said Hoover. "It is especially beneficial for fathers who are looking to bring children into the operation or for older farmers who are looking forward to retirement."

"Everybody should sit down and figure out these things," said Hoover. "As farmers, it helps us look at some tough decisions that we tend to ignore because we're either too busy or just don't want to deal with it."

Any dairy farmers interested in applying for the Dairy Stakeholders' business planning grant should contact Alan Bair, Director of Dairy Industry Relations for Penn State, who is the administrator of the program. His phone number is (717) 948-6328.

.50- 1.00 higher. Prices started off the week slightly lower, but found strength by Thursday's attractive offering. Market indicators turned higher on Wednesday, when the Western feedlot trade began and the futures market closed higher. Also, dressed beef values turned slightly lower at midweek but very good movement was noted (which is more important). Western feeders sold their cattle 1.00-1.50 higher from 72.00-73.50 live and 115.00-116.00 dressed with a record daily movement in Nebraska of 102,600 head on Wednesday. Local Holstein steers sold mostly .50 higher, while slaughter heifers were not fully tested. The slaughter cow market continues to reach for the sky and ended the week 1.00-1.50 higher. Demand for slaughter bulls was very good this past week with prices closing 2.00-3.00 higher. Supply included 40 percent slaughter steers, 6 percent slaughter heifers, 35 percent slaughter cows, 6 percent bulls, with the balance feeders.

Simmental Breeders At Pennsylvania Beef Expo

Pennsylvania's 2000 Beef Expo will be held March 31-April 1, in State College at Penn State University's Ag Arena. In conjunction with this event, Simmental breeders from Pennsylvania and surrounding states will be selling some of the best Simmental females and bulls East of the Mississippi.

The sound of the gavel will be heard on Friday, March 31, starting at 11 a.m. with the Performance Tested Bull Sale. At this year's sale, 28 Simmental bulls will offer buyers some of today's superior genetics, whether it be in your purebred herds or to complement cross-breed or commercial programs. Simmental bulls in the millennium will offer high feed efficiency, calving ease, volume, superior EPDs and more importantly, reduced frame sizes.

Immediately following the Performance Test Sale, breeders will be selling 45 female lots of selected Simmental gentics. These girls will be dressing in their finery to show you how they can complement your breeding programs. Regardless of your appetite, this sale will have something for everyone, blacks, reds, purebreds and full-bloods. Cattle to be sold include a great line-up of solid colored, outstanding halter broke, show prospect heifers, bred heifers, cow/calf pairs, three in ones, and bred cows. All females have been pre-screened and will guarantee to meet the challenges and requirements of the cattle industry. Sponsor of this auction is the Pennsylvania Simmental Association.

This annual event has become so popular that last year, buyers from eight states, some from as far away as Maine and Connecticut, purchased registered heifers and cows to add to their herds. Current PSA President Bill Shoemaker from Manns Choice, said, "This year's sale is destined to be an even better one. We are offering a dozen high quality, show-type heifers which will be attractive to juniors who show cattle at their local and regional fairs. In addition, we are offering some superior genetic lots-- a selection of embryos for embryo transfer -- which will produce the kind of offspring the cattle industry demands for today's market. There is no question but that this sale is loaded with outstanding females which will please the most discriminating cattle buyer. I am excited about the excellent caliber of the cattle our breeders have consigned and look forward to my own participation."

In addition to the beef breed auctions and the performance tested bull sale, commercial exhibits and food vendors make this a major event in the Pennsylvania beef industry.

Cattlemen and women don't want to forget to bring along their semen tanks . . . as the PA Junior Simmental Association has once again responded to the call of duty by offering supreme Simmental semen and embryos to the highest bidder. Your participation in this annual auction benefits our junior membership and has the reputation of including the nations 'hottest' bulls and embryos. This is your opportunity to fill your semen/embryo needs and support our junior members at the same time.

2000 PCA Cattlemen's Queen Contestants

On March 30, at the annual Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association Banquet, the 2000 Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Queen will be chosen. This year two talented young women will be competing for the crown.

Stephanie M. Biggerstaff is the daughter of David and Cecelia Biggerstaff of Belle Vernon, Westmoreland Co. Stephanie is in her senior year at Penn State University majoring in Business Administration. Though she is only 21 years old Stephanie has already proven herself to be very active in the beef industry. Currently serving as a member of the Fayette County Cattlemen's Association Board of Directors, she was also crowned the 1998-2000 Fayette County Simmental Queen.

Jessi Leister, daughter of Michael and Donna Leister of Biglerville, Adams Co. Jessi is a senior at Delone Catholic High School. She is very active in both Adams County 4-H and Adams County Cattlemen. Jessi has served as 4-H Senate President and president of her community club for the last four years, as well as being crowned 1998 Adams County Beef Producer Queen.

The Cattlemen's Queen is an ambassador for the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association and its affiliate organizations at agricultural and other events throughout Pennsylvania.

2000 Highland Happenings

The American Highland Cattle Association presents a full year of activities for Highland producers and enthusiasts around the country. These activities range from the first ever performance tested Highland bull sale and a "Big Sky Country" National Convention to a full schedule of shows.

On May 20, 2000 approximately 20 performance tested Highland bulls will be offered for sale in Dryden, N.Y. These bulls will be the top 70% of those consigned from around the country. They will have completed a 140-day feed test, been semen tested and measured "inside and out" by ultrasound and scales. These bulls are top young herd-sire prospects with complete AHCA's "Roll of Excellence" show program. Through this performance data available. The sale will start at 3:00 p.m. and trucking is available throughout the U.S.

On June 22-25 the activities will move to Bozeman, Mont. for the 2000 National Convention. At this time, AHCA will introduce its new Highland Production Record System, a breed performance program. There will also be a carcass competition, farm tours and an optional trip to the famous Custer's Last Stand Reenactment Summer is a beautiful time in this area and the convention will be a great opportunity to make new friends and see top quality cattle. New breeders and enthusiasts are always welcome.

2000 marks the third year of program, Highland cattle shows around the county are sanctioned and exhibitors receive points based on their placing. This allows animals from across the U.S to compete against each other for awards in their divisions. Over the last two years, we have seen a tremendous increase in participation of sanctioned shows, which enables the public to see some of the finest Highland cattle. There are currently "Roll of Excellence" shows in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Colorado and Washington. The final show of the season and the National Show and Sale, is held at the National Western Stock Show in Denver, Colo. in January.

Highland cattle are known for their majestic appearance, long flowing hair and sweeping horns. They originated in the hills of Scotland, where the weather is harsh and the cattle needed to be tough to survive.. Today, this ruggedness is one of the breed's prized traits. In addition, Highland cattle have strong maternal characteristics, excellent calving ease and longevity. The breed is also known for outstanding carcass merit. It is "Beef Fit For a Queen," as Queen Elizabeth of England raises a fold of Highlands to produce for her table.

For further information on the Highland breed or any AHCA activity please contact us at (303) 292-9102, ahca@envisionnet.net or check out our web site at www.highlandcattle.org.

Under the title "not just another pertty face" this group of Highland cattle show their ruggedness which according the national breed organization is one of the breed's prized traits.

North Collins, N.Y - Leigh Ann and Lamont Ennis will have Braunuleh cattle on display at the Pennsylvania Beef Expo. According to breed brochures, the most asked question directed at Braunvieh breeders is, 'What kind of a crossbreed is Braunvieh?' But Braunvieh is not a crossbreed or a new breed developed by using two or more breeds. Records of Braunvieh cattle date back to 800 B.C. literally translated, Braunvieh means 'brown cow'. And in the mid-1800's the Brown Swiss breed was developed from the Braunvieh. Today, Braunvieh are found in over 60 countries from the Artic Circle to the Tropics. In the photo, a 1999 ET heifer calf is shown from the Ennis herd.

BUNTON 2000 SERIES ZERO-TURN-RADIUS MOWERS

Bunton has meant quality for more than 50 years. The BZT 2000 Series rotary mowers are the newest additions to this proud tradition. They've been designed for lawn care professionals who make a living mowing grass in a variety of conditions – full of turns, obstacles and unforgiving terrain. That's why we've made them more durable, more maneuverable, with operator-friendly features.

- Large fuel tanks save time because you'll stop less often to refuel.
- Electric deck lift lets you quickly adjust the height of cut from 1.5 to 5 inches.
- Deluxe suspended seat with armrests.

Seventy-Eight Beef Bulls Performance Tested

The PA Department of Agriculture's Meat Animal Evaluation Center wishes to announce the final results of the Bull Performance Testing Program. Seventy-eight outstanding bulls completed the test this year. The group consists of 39 Angus, nine Polled Herefords, 28 Simmentals, one Charolais and one Limousin. This is a record-setting group of bulls on test this year. We had a remarkable, five bulls that completed the test with gains in excess of 5 lbs. per day. The 39 Angus (including two Red Angus), maintained a group average daily gain of 4.03 lbs. per day through the 112-day test, with a lifetime weight per day of age of 3.46 pounds. The top-gaining and top indexing Angus bull is the PS Traveler 351 614 son owned by Marlin and Steve Paul. This sire was purchased in PA's 1997 performance tested bull sale, and was the second highest indexing Angus that year. The 5.30 lbs./day Lot #1 gained through the test is the top gain overall breeds! This bull also recorded an adjusted 365-day wt. of 1609 lbs and a lifetime wt. per day of age of 4.41 lbs. This bull achieved the highest index of all breeds with a 124. The second fastest gaining, and second high indexing Angus, is the T C Stockman 365 son of Ed Dunkelberger's, who gained 5.13 lbs. per day. Two additional Angus gained in excess of 5 lbs. per day on test. Both of these bulls are R R Scotch Cap 9440 sons with yearling wts. of approximately 1,450 lbs. These bulls were bred by Robert Work and Penn State respectively, and calculated indexes of 118 and 117.

The top-indexing Polled Hereford bull is the Remitall Foundation son consigned by Sally Abrams, of Livingston

President's Report

Bill McCoy

A hearty congratulations to Penn State's Quiz Bowl team. They won an impressive victory in the quiz bowl competition at the NCBA convention in Phoenix, Az. Under the very able leadership of Dr. Irskin Cash, Penn State defeated teams from around the country for the championship. PCA and all of agriculture salute Dr. Cash and his team for their effort and this great accomplishment.

It is always fun to see and get reacquainted with friends from around the country. The NCBA convention provides a perfect setting for this venue while at the same time its members conduct business, establish policy, and set the rules by which we govern ourselves. I always leave with the feeling that although we have our differences, the industry is in very capable hands and will weather any foul wind that confronts us.

George Hall, our newly elected President, is a very capable leader with strong ties to all facets of the industry. He has lofty goals for the future and has issued a challenge for all of us at all levels of the industry to get involved and make this an even greater industry as we enter the next millennium.

One of the highlights of the convention for me, having missed The Cattlemen's College, was the Cattle Fax Outlook Seminar. Cattle Fax does a very complete and in-depth analysis of all the factors they believe will effect the market in the year

Beef Management Short Course Set

YORK (York Co.)–Area beef producers are encouraged to enroll in a beef management short course beginning Tuesday, April 4.

Jim and Brenda Eisenhour will host the first of four sessions starting at 7 pm at their Wellsville beef finishing operation. Jim Hogue with Agri-Basics will discuss energy density and projecting cost of gain and avoiding feedlot nutrition problems such as acidosis, founder, and laminitis at the session.

cial Cattleman, Seedstock Breeder, and Cattle Feeder of the Year. One farm will be recognized with the Stewardship Award for its dedication to preserving agriculture and the environment for future generations. The Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Queen and Princess will also be crowned at this time. Banquet reservations can be made by calling the PCA office at 717-986-0333. The PCA Annual Meeting will be held in conjunction with the Awards Banquet. New directors will be elected at this time.

March 31 will kick off the beginning of the Expo Trade Show. Scheduled to run Friday through Sunday the trade show is an excellent opportunity to visit, ask questions, and get in on some great deals. The trade show is comprised of vendors from every aspect of livestock and agriculture. Top name equipment and pharmaceutical companies will be present, as well as show supply and embroidery exhibitors. An added attraction to this year's trade show will be the various displays of exotic beef breeds such as Tarentaise and Braunvieh cattle.

Once again this year's PA Beef Expo will provide Juniors with an opportunity to take their knowledge of the beef industry to the next level by com-

2000 and just how great an effect these factors will have. Generally speaking their prognosis for the year 2000 was optimistic with a few reservations. Those reservations centered around the weather and what effect it would have on the grain harvest. They believe we are still in the effect of a La Ninya weather pattern and this may bring dry conditions to a large part of the grain belt. We know what effect this would have on the feeder cattle market! They also mentioned that heavy calf placements in the fall will show up as fed cattle in the late spring and early summer quarters with the best market of the year possibly coming during the 4th quarter.

Our industry is changing so rapidly that it is difficult to keep pace. The use of EPD's in selection of sires for our cow herds is becoming common place. Creating the proper genetic pool to breed for desirable traits has been made possible through creative EPD selection. Progeny are then source verified so that they can be identified electronically by scanners for future reference. As one herdsman mentioned to me, "We breed using EPD's and select on performance."

One of the tools used in the selection process has been the use of the sonogram to measure back fat thickness, size of rib eye, and days required to grade Choice or Prime using the ration of choice. I have heard of the sonogram being used for feeder cattle selection when new placements arrive at the feed year.

My own feeling is that the sonogram has not been perfected for wide spread usage at an affordable and commercial level. I hope you get the drift, space age technology has entered the livestock forum and I believe it is here to stay.

It has been my pleasure to serve as your president during the past two years and I thank all of you for making this possible. I hope to see many of you at peting in the annual PA Beef Expo Skillathon or the PA Beef Expo Quiz Bowl challenge.

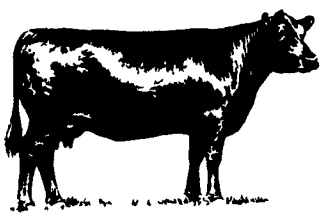
Considered to be one of the most popular events of the Beef Expo, this year's Skillathon will be held Saturday, April 1, 8-10 a.m. in the Penn State Ag Arena, University Park. This year the Penn State Block and Bridle Club is once again coordinating the contest. The Skillathon is an excellent opportunity to test their beef industry knowledge and learn important skills needed to be a successful cattle producer. By incorporating project skills and industry basics in a series of mini-learning stations participants can test their abilities in areas such as identification of beef breeds, retail cuts, feed ingredients, food safety, and other areas. Divisions for the Skillathon include senior (16- to 21-year olds), intermediate (12- to 15-year olds), and junior (8- to 11-year olds).

The Beef Expo Quiz Bowl challenge will also take place on Saturday starting with the preliminaries at 9 a.m. Since its onset the Quiz Bowl Challenge has provided some of the most exciting moments in Expo history, with the heated Quiz Bowl Finale. Any teams of four junior cattlemen, 4-H, or FFA members are invited to compete. The competition will be divided into two divisions: 14- to 21-year olds (seniors) and 8- to 13-year olds (juniors). Questions for the most part, will be obtained from Beef Today, BEEF Magazine, Keystone Cattlemen, and Lancaster Farming, but may also be taken from various publications of the National Cattlemen's Beef Association, Penn State University, PA Cattlemen's Association and state breed organizations. Quiz bowl topics will include nutrition, genetics, reproduction, animal health, marketing and promotion, and breeds as well as the possibility of state and national organizations and people in the beef industry.



The Beef Skillathon and Quiz Bowl Challenge competitions are open to all members of the Pa Junior Cattlemen's Association, 4-H, and FFA. Individuals can join the PA Junior Cattlemen's Association for $5 annual membership dues at the contest site. County, club, or school teams consisting of four members in one division are invited to participate. To call in your registration or for more information, contact Liz Smith at the PCA Office, (717) 986-0333.

This year's PA Beef Expo Heifer show will be held Saturday, April 1, 2:30 p.m. and will sport over seven different breeds of beef cattle. Classes will be divided by age within breed. Heifers born between October 1998 and October 1999 are eligible. In addition to separate classes for most breeds, there will be a class for all purebreds and a class for crossbred breeding heifers.

The Junior Steer Show is scheduled for Sunday, April 2, following the showmanship classes. Steer classes will be divided into weight classes, depending on the number of entries. Steers will weigh in from noon-2 p.m. on Saturday. Light, middle, and heavyweight division champions will compete for Grand Champion.

Each year the quality of the junior animals exhibited at Expo raises to a new level, and the 2000 Beef Expo will be no exception. Attendance is expected to be at an all-time high this year, as PCA Juniors strive to carry on the tradition of superior animals and impressive showmanship conduct that has come to be expected at Expo.

Science will highlight viable byproducts for Pennsylvania cattle feeders and address feeds, feed efficiency and quality grade. Other sessions will be April 11, April 18, and April 25.

There is no cost to attend the short course sessions, but producers are asked to register in advance with the Customer Service desk at Penn State Cooperative Extension in York, (717) 840-7408. PeoplesBank will provide refreshments for the short course sessions. A group order will be placed for the Midwest Plan Service Beef Cattle Handbook or CD-ROM for those interested. The handbook contains 145 fact sheets with beef management information. Cost for the handbook is $50 plus $5.50 shipping and handling. The CD-ROM with PDF files included costs $25 plus $5.50 shipping costs. If you wish to purchase a copy of either resource, please indicate this when you register for the event.

The second session on April 11 at 7 p.m. is a working cattle lab planned for South Branch Farm at Seven Valleys. Dr. Jim Cohagan with Muddy Creek Veterinary Service will provide instruction at the session. He will demonstrate how to conduct a routine physical exam to determine the need for medical treatment for beef cattle. Other topics to be demonstrated include castration techniques, worming, injection sites and techniques, safe animal handling and proper animal restraint.

A producer panel discussion will be featured at the third meeting on April 18. The session begins with the dinner of your choice at Hoss's Steak and Sea House West York location at 6:30 p.m. The West York restaurant is located at 2175 White Street. Following the meal at 7:15 p.m., a producer panel discussion will feature area beef feeders and breeders sharing their views about important beef industry issues. Panel members will include Dennis Byrne, Chester County cattle feeder; Dan Gross, Manchester cattle feeder; Dwight Hess, Manheim cattle feeder; Wayne Hoffman, Dover cattle feeder; and Bob Livingston, Seven Valleys cattle breeder and feeder.

Wendall Landis with the Pennsylvania Beef Council will discuss services to beef feeders, recordkeeping for beef feeders, and profitability in beef feeding. Ned Sayre, Angus breeder with Waffle Hill Farm in Churchville, Md., will discuss "Breeding Cattle for the Certified Angus Beef Program" at this session.

To receive directions for the meetings, request a brochure from the York Extension Office's Customer Service Desk, (717) 840-7408 or e-mail yorkext@psu.edu.

Manor, N.Y. This bull gained 4.44 lbs./day and had a final index of 112. The fastest gaining Polled Hereford, with the second-highest index is the SBF Royal Rancher 9215 son owned by Shawn Eberly, gained 4.52 pounds per day. The nine Polled Hereford bulls achieved an average daily gain of 4.00 pounds per day and a lifetime weight per day of age of 3.46 pounds.

This year we have the largest group of Simmental bulls we ever tested. There is something for everyone in this offering, of 24 bulls, with many solid colored, both black and reds, fullbloods, moderate framed and extremely growthy bulls. The group of 28 Simmental bulls, on test, had an average daily gain of 3.77 lbs. per day, with a lifetime weight per day of age of 3.50 lbs. The top gaining and indexing Simmental is the solid black, E T son of Leachman Lucky Buck 7049C owned by John Myers. This light birth weight bull recorded the gain of 5.29 lbs. per day, which is highest among the Simmentals and second fastest over all breeds. He indexed 121 and achieved an

PA Angus Association At Beef Expo

The PA Angus Association announces the Angus on Parade Female Sale for Friday, March 31, at 3 p.m., on the campus of Penn State University at the Ag Arena. Top Angus breeders from Pennsylvania. Maryland and New York have consigned some of their very best to this sale. There are 31 lots with 25 open show heifer prospects, four bred heifers and two cow/calf pairs. This is a tremendous set of cattle with many top AI sires represented and the performance pedigrees which are in demand. The PA Jr.. Angus Association will be holding a semen auction prior to the female sale with over 15 sires represented-- all proceeds from this donated semen benefit the junior activities. For your free reference catalog, please call the PA Angus Association at 717-354-7477 or 354-6193.

Each summer, the PA Angus Association holds our Breeders Show at the Huntingdon County Fairgrounds, and there is a special "Spotlight" class for those juniors who purchase a heifer at this sale. Great incentives are given as well as cash awards for the champion and reserve champion heifer. The Eastern Regional Junior Angus Show is in Ohio this summer, and many of these heifers would work for that show also. The females offered in this sale will be herd builders. They possess the carcass qualities, rib-eye area EPD, marbling and fat and % retail that are ultimately being sought by the producers and consumers in Angus genetics. Producers are also urged to look through the literature at the Angus booth. It's free for the taking.

The Performance Tested Angus Bull Sale will be held on Friday, March 31, at 11 a.m., also at the Ag Arena. This year, 39 tremendous performance tested Angus bulls will sell with several of them gaining over five pounds a day while on test. As a group, they maintained a 4.03 lbs. per day while on test with a lifetime weight per day of age of 3.46 pounds. The top-gaining and top indexing Angus bull is a PS Traveler 351 614 son owned by Marlin and Steve Paul, Mahantongo Angus Farm, Klingerstown, Pa. This site was purchased in Pennsylvania's 1997 performance tested bull sale and was the second highest indexing angus that year! The 5.30 lbs./day Lot #1 gained through the test is the top gain overall breeds! This bull also recorded an adjusted 365-day weight of 1,609 lbs. and a lifetime WDA of 4.41. This bull achieved the highest index of all breeds with a 124. At Mahantongo Angus Farm, they have been raising Angus cattle for almost 50 years. They currently have 100 registered cows, using some AI and also cleanup bulls. The dam of the high indexing bull was born in 1995 and has weaned three calves with a weaning index of 111, his MGD has 4 at 112.

The second fastest gaining and high indexing angus bulls is the TC Stockman 365 son of Ed Dunkelberger's, who gained 5.13 lbs. per day. Two additional Angus gained in excess of 5 lbs. per day on test. Both of these bulls are RR Scotch Cap 9440 sons with yearling weights of approximately 1,450 lbs. These bulls were bred by Robert Work and Penn State respectively, and calculated indexes of 118 and 117. For a free reference catalog, please contact Glenn Eberly at 814-238-2527 or 814-865-5857.

Both Angus Sales will have something for everyone, as will the entire Beef Expo event. Please plan to join the PA Angus Association on Friday, March 31 for two fantastic sales.

adjusted yearling wt. of 1,475 lbs. The second-highest indexing and gaining bull of the breed, owned by Jack Herr, is the black, smooth polled, son of STF Rendition G7Z. This bull gained 4.54 lbs on test and boasts a yearling weight of 1,402 lbs. The third highest indexing Simmental is a maternal brother to the top indexing bull, by Leachman Black Asphalt 7068. This 4.45-pound per day gainer was consigned by Phil Druck and indexed 110.

The top-gaining Charolais, consigned by Raymond Bratton, gained 4.32 pounds per day on test, maintained a lifetime wt./DOA of 3.47 lbs., and is a son of BCF New Trend 992.

The top-gaining Limousin bull is the Quil Run Black Ink BP son which gained 3.91 pounds per day. This black, polled bull posted an adjusted 365-day weight of 1,192 lbs. and was consigned by Kevin Murphy.

The bulls were weighed off test February 22. They had their final average daily gain, adjusted 365-day weight, frame score and adjusted fat thickness calculated. The bulls were scanned ultrasonically to determine fat thickness, estimated loin eye areas and marbling scores. The bulls have had a comprehensive breeding soundness exam, including collections and a semen evaluation. The bulls, offered for sale met mini-

SimConference Convenes In Pennsylvania

The Pennsylvania Simmental Association hosted a well-attended northeastern SimConference, the first one held since 1998. On February 25-27, a total of 34 state association leaders representing eight states were in attendance to hear discussions of the ASA programs, long-range planning, and beef industry trends. The conference was held on the campus of Penn State University.

The second conference is scheduled to be held at North Carolina State University, Raleigh, on April 7-9. At least three such conferences are scheduled for 2002.

SimConferences are designed to bring state association officers and leaders, together with ASA officials and faculty of land-grant university animal science departments. Programs include dissemination of information, opinion input, and the improvement of communications and relations among the involved associations.

Officials were pleased with the turnout and the exchange of information. States represented and their members are as follows: Indiana, Judy Miller, Indianapolis. Kentucky, Dalton Lundy, Bardstown. Maryland, Wallace and Justin Harward, Forest Hill; and Shane Smithson, White Hall. Maine, Sally Beal, Edgar Hussey, Jr., and Joyce and Robert Dyer, all from South Berwick. New York, Joel Reach and Cheryl Eighmey, Unadilla; Laurie Palmer, New Berlin; Sharon Harrington, Campbell; and Jeanne White, Groton. Ohio, Robert Winter, Amanda; Karole Skidmore-Roth, Mt. Gilead; Chris Dickson, Edison; and Jerry Lees, Newark. Pennsylvania, Ginger and Jerry Woolcock, Orangeville; Bill and Natushka Shoemaker, Buffalo Mills; Arnold McClure, Shirleyburg; Wayne and Brenda Stough, Spring Grove; Vicki and Gary Warner, McAlisterville; John Myers, Dallastown; Bob and Connie McQuiston, Stoneboro; Larry Bullis, Gettysburg; Larry Hughes, New Oxford; and David Downs, Stoneboro. Virginia, Ken and Susie Mohler, Rockbridge Bath.

The Millcreek Row Mulcher lets you apply mulch 3 times faster.

YOUR CHOICE
Millcreek Row Mulchers also let you drop spread in the center of rows.

From tree fruit to vegetable beds, from bramble crops to vineyards, organic mulch and compost can reduce chemical input for weed suppression, retain soil moisture, and improve soil fertility by adding organic matter to sandy and clay soils.

Now Millcreek eliminates the costly labor needed for organic mulch and compost application. The remarkable new Millcreek Row Mulcher works with all types of organic material, and even lets you adjust the depth and width of the mulch rows from 12" to 120" wide, from 1/2" to 6" deep.

Starting under $6500, no other machine compares when it comes to capabilities, versatility, and cost effectiveness. Rugged construction. Six sizes, from 3.4 to 20 cubic yard capacity. Custom designs. Call today for a free color brochure, or to discuss your specific needs.

PENNSYLVANIA CATTLEMEN'S ASSOCIATION PCA

PA BEEF EXPOSITION 2000

March 30 to April 2,

Background On Shorthorn Breed Given

The Shorthorn breed of beef cattle are experiencing growth like the breed has never seen before. Registrations are up by at least 20% and American Shorthorn Association membership has increased significantly in both the adults and the juniors. As a result of this the NAILE Shorthorn Show in Louisville this past fall was the largest single breed show in the history of that prestigious show. In fact both the junior and the open shows had more cattle than any other breed to exhibit in 1999.

Pennsylvania and the Mid-Atlantic Region have not been left out. We are experiencing the same kind of enthusiasm here as on the national level. The 2000 Farm Show had many more junior Shorthorn cattle shown, both in the heifer division and in the steer division, then at any time in the recent past. Many of the county fairs and regional show are experiencing tremendous growth in the number of shorthorn cattle being exhibited. Three of the last six years a breeder from Pennsylvania has owned or exhibited the National Champion Bull.

Because of this interest the Pennsylvania Shorthorn Breeders Association (PSBA) has adopted several new ventures to enhance this growth and to reward the membership for its work. A futurity system has been established where Shorthorn Breeders can nominate calves that can go on the show either at the Farm Show (steers) or at the Beef Expo (heifers). These cattle are then eligible for additional premiums. Also in conjunction with the Beef Expo the PSBA has established an event where heifer calves can be evaluated and sold. On April 1, there will be 16 show heifer prospects (1999 calves) sold. We were hoping for 12-15 calves and we exceeded our goal giving evidence again that the breed is growing in Pennsylvania.

Not only is the breed growing in the show ring but also in the commercial cattle business. ASA as well as PSBA has set up a Commercial Acceptance Committee to help to connect people with Shorthorn cattle to sell with people who want and need them. Yes, people have always bought and sold cattle but this is a new tool to use, to quickly connect with each other. One of the ways that has helped tremendously in this effort is with the use of the Internet. ASA has established a website and one of its functions is to enhance the sale of commercial bulls all over the world.

If you would like more information on the ASA you can contact them at 402-393-7051 or www.shorthorn.org. If you desire more information about the 2000 Pennsylvania Heifer Futurity Sale or the PSBA contact Frank Stoltzfus at 717-367-3088 or fstoltzfus@aol.com. If you would like a sale catalog or want to view it on line contact David McElhaney at 724-573-9043 or www.shorthornsonline.com.

With Roundup TVP™ Rewards

In growing your crop, you give it your best. From warehousing your seed, planting it, controlling the weeds…it gets your hard efforts all the way through harvest. But you can't predict the unexpected. You can, however, protect yourself with the Roundup TVP™ Rewards program. Your Roundup Ready® and YieldGard® technology is backed by it. And you won't find a more comprehensive package of benefits through any competitor. It's valuable protection and savings in time of unforeseen circumstances.

Catastrophic Seed Loss Refund – If your warehoused qualifying Monsanto seed* is lost before planting due to theft, fire, flood or other natural disaster, you can qualify for a full refund of the cost of the Technology/Seed Premium paid for the seed.

Replant/Crop Loss Refund – If your qualifying Monsanto technology crop is destroyed for any reason before August 31, 2000, you can qualify for a waiver of the cost of the Technology/Seed Premium charged on your replanted crop or a full refund of the Technology/Seed Premium paid for the seed.

Replant Burndown Refund – If a qualifying Monsanto herbicide burndown treatment was applied to the field in which an approved Replant/Crop Loss Refund claim occurred, you may also qualify for a Replant Burndown Refund of up to 24 oz./A of Roundup Ultra® herbicide to apply as a burndown treatment for the replanted crop.

Premium Performance Plan – If you follow the Roundup TVP Rewards recommendations and experience an unexpected flush of annual weeds prior to canopy closure (in Roundup Ready® soybeans) or prior to reaching the V8 stage or 30 in. (in Roundup Ready® corn), you'll receive up to 24 oz./A of Roundup Ultra herbicide at no charge.

We stand behind our technology, and we'll stand behind you. With Roundup TVP Rewards. Because, for your investment and your valuable business, you deserve to be rewarded.

Agway Foundation Announces Grants

SYRACUSE, N.Y.–The Agway Foundation announced that it awarded more than $130,000 in grants to agricultural programs and projects during 1999.

"The Agway Foundation made a significant investment this past year in a variety of programs and projects that serve the interests of farmers and rural communities in the Northeast," said Stephen H. Hoefer, chairman of the foundation. "One of the primary goals of the Agway Foundation is to support organizations whose activities promote agricultural leadership development or help foster a better understanding of cooperatives, agriculture and our food production system. We were pleased to be able to fund a number of very worthwhile projects during the year."

Agway Foundation grants awarded during 1999 included:

•The Northeast Cooperative Council's Cooperative Leadership Fund, a $50,000 grant (over a five-year period) to support agricultural cooperative education, research, and development in the northeast states.

•Future Dairy Leaders, a $15,000 grant to Penn State University for leadership programs developed through the Department of Dairy and Animal Science.

•Dairy Fellows Program, a $10,000 grant to Cornell University to encourage and support activities for young people to develop interests and careers in the dairy industry.

•Pennsylvania Association of Agricultural Educators, a $10,000 grant to provide schools with access to the Agricultural Education Network, an Internet service that provides teachers and students with information and classroom-ready lessons on a variety of food and agricultural topics.

•LEAD Maryland, a $10,000 grant (over a two-year period) to support agricultural leadership development programs in the state of Maryland.

•New York Dairy Youth Education Program, a $7,500 grant to Cornell University to enable youth participation at the National 4-H Dairy Conference.

•The Empire State Food and Agricultural Leadership Institute, a $5,000 grant to support the Lead New York program, which helps develop effective action-oriented, knowledgeable, and ethical leaders who can shape the future of our communities and New York's food and agricultural industry.

•ACDI/VOCA, a $4,000 grant for international agricultural cooperative development.

•National Future Farmers of America (FFA) Foundation, a $4,000 grant to enhance youth leadership programs in North America.

•Syracuse Hambletonians Foundation, Inc., a $2,500 grant for their At-Risk Youth program.

•Massachusetts Agriculture In the Classroom, a $2,500 grant to foster awareness and education of the importance of agriculture.

•Regional Dairy Quality Management Alliance, a $2,500 grant for bringing industry, government, and academia together to promote the adoption of best dairy management practices.

•New Jersey Agricultural Society, a $2,000 grant for the Farm Tours for Teachers program, which is part of the society's agriculture in the classroom program.

•Farm Foundation, a $2,000 grant for programs on emerging issues that will influence the competitiveness of American agriculture and the well-being of people in rural areas.

•National 4-H Council, a $1,500 grant to help continue the council's positive impacts on youth workers and young leaders.

•Pennsylvania Dairy Stakeholders, a $1,000 grant to support the Farm Business Planning Assistance Program.

•New Hampshire Agriculture In the Classroom, a $1,000 grant in support of increasing the knowledge about the production of food and fiber among elementary school children in the state.

Pennfield Adds Equine Feed Specialist

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) – Pennfield Corporation, a Lancaster based dairy, horse and livestock feed manufacturer has announced the addition of Rebecca Savage as an equine feed specialist.

Savage, a Towson University graduate, has been involved in fox hunting and event riding for several years. Since 1990 she has been a Special Olympic volunteer and since 1993 she has also been an SPCA volunteer.

Savage's responsibilities for Pennfield Feeds will be as an equine feed specialist for Virginia and parts of Maryland. These responsibilities will include sales, marketing, and farm calls.

Produce Large Bales Quickly, Efficiently

COLUMBUS, Ind. — The Claas Quadrant 2200 Square Baler produces large, densely packed bales of straw, hay or silage quickly and efficiently.

The Quadrant 2200 produces dense bales 27 inches high x 48 inches wide and up to 10 feet long. The baler has a hydraulically-operated pickup that is 83 inches wide, has a 10-foot baling channel, one of the longest balling channels on today's market.

The Quadrant 2200 also features the Roto Feed enhanced crop intake which insures even crop flow and high intake volumes. The result is compact, rock hard bales in silage, straw or hay and efficient utilization of space on truck trailers.

The Quadrant 2200 RC features the Claas Roto Cut Cutting System, which preprocesses crops for feeding or bedding. The system includes a heavy-duty helical rotor which feeds the material evenly through stationary knives. Each knife is spring-loaded to protect against foreign material. The operator can choose to use 0, 6, 13 or 25 knives and can engage and disengage the knives via a switch on the cab-mounted control box. By flipping another switch in the cab, operators can fold down the chopping housing to either change knives or clear blockages easily.

The Claas Quadrant 2200 Square Baler produces large, densely packed bales of straw, hay, or silage quickly and efficiently.

The Quadrant 2200 utilizes the advanced Claas Control Terminal (CCT) to control and monitor the machine. Easy to operate, the computerized control system allows the operator to adjust bale length from the driver's seat while providing information on baling pressure, knife position, and tying. The operator may also adjust knife engagement and baling pressure, with the push of a button. The CCT is also available with a Claas moisture sensor.

Other features on the Quadrant 2200 includes six high-performance knotters driven by universal drive shaft and gears, adjustable bale length and density, swinging drawbar hitch, wide angle universal drive shaft, and retractable hydraulic support jack. Optional features include bale shape indicator, central lubrication, extended drawbar, and spring-retained cover plate.

New Guide Lays Down Law For Direct Farm Marketers

LINCOLN, Neb.–Farmers and ranchers involved or interested in direct marketing will find answers to pressing legal questions in the newly published Legal Guide for Direct Farm Marketing, written by law professor Neil Hamilton and funded by USDA's Sustainable Agriculture Research and Education (SARE) Program.

"Direct farm marketing presents an important opportunity to farmers and consumers," said Hamilton, of the Drake University Agricultural Lawn Center. "This guide was written to help address legal questions producers might have about engaging in direct farm marketing. We do not want legal uncertainties to prevent people from exploring direct marketing options."

Funded by North Central Region SARE's Professional Development Program, the Legal Guide answers common questions about laws on marketing products directly to consumers and to retail and wholesale buyers. Hamilton wrote the book for farmers involved in direct marketing produce, livestock and other food products, and for farm advisers, such as extension educators and attorneys working with farm marketers.

Twelve chapters cover legal issues on a variety of topics, such as farmers markets; on-farm businesses; contracts, food stamps and getting paid; advertising, organic certification and eco-labels; land use and property law; labor and employment; insurance and liability; and inspection, processing and food safety.

The book's narrative is laced with specific examples of court cases, state laws, and local regulations involving direct farm marketing. Resource lists, tips, Q & A's and sidebars contribute to its user-friendly format.

Throughout the book and in an appendix, Hamilton refers readers to contacts and resources across the nation, such as state and federal inspectors, organizations, cooperative extension offices, farmers market directors, and small business programs.

Hamilton, who has taught agricultural law for 18 years, has written a series of books and articles for farmers and lawyers, including a periodic column in the Des Moines Register. Hamilton also raises fresh vegetables on his Iowa farm for sale to restaurants.

The 235-page Legal Guide costs $20. To order, contact Drake University Agricultural Law Center, Des Moines, IA 50311; (515) 271-2947. Volume discounts are available on orders of 20 or more.

For information on grant opportunities in the SARE program, visit www.sare.org or call (301) 405-3186.

New Holland Adds Higher Horsepower Models To Compact Tractor Line

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.)–New Holland has expanded the Boomer™ compact tractor line to include six higher horsepower economy and deluxe models that pack big tractor features into a compact package.

The six new models include TC35 and TC35D, 35 gross hp models; TC40 and TC40D, 40 hp models; and TC45 and TC45D, 45 hp models. ("D" models designate a deluxe operator's station plus Dual Power hydrostatic transmission and other premium features.)

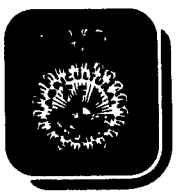
Eye-catching New Holland styling includes a sloped hood for best-in-class visibility. The fiberglass, reinforced plastic body components won't rust.

For convenience, the operator's station can be accessed from either the left- or right-hand side of the tractor. The roomy In-Sight™ operator's station provides a smooth ride and unparalleled view to the loader bucket so it's easy for the operator to see exactly what he or she is doing when working with a loader, snow blower or blade. On the deluxe models, the seat adjusts to varying operator weight and swivels 20° left or right to make visibility of rear work more convenient.

On economy models, the fuel-efficient New Holland engine is matched to a Synchronized Shuttle Shift 12 x 12 transmission which makes it easy to match travel speed to operating conditions.

On deluxe models, an infinitely variable speed hydrostatic drive with Dual Power™ adds convenience because no clutch is required to change gears. The Dual Power hydrostatic transmission, a Boomer exclusive, allows the operator to change from low to high with the push of a button without having to stop to shift gears. And the optional SuperSteer™ front axle allows tight turns for superior maneuverability.

A flip-up hood provides convenient access to the engine and battery so inspection, routine maintenance and servicing can be accomplished quickly and easily. The easy-to-reach fuel tank is located behind the operator's seat, so fuel won't spill onto the hood when filling the tank.



Clover Joins Agri-Basics

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.) – Agri-Basics Soil Service ABSS welcomes Andrew W Clover to the ABSS team of independent crop and soil consultants.

Clover graduated from Penn State University in December 1999 with a bachelor's degree. His coursework reflects an agronomy emphasis. While at Penn State, he was a member of the Ag Systems Management Club, and last summer he served an internship with ABSS.

"Andy brings a combination of farm experience and education to the field," said Jesse Weaver, longtime ABSS consultant. "He is thorough, does a good job, and gets along will with people"

"I like getting out and working with producers and the variety in the job that goes with that," says Colver, who has been working on dairy farms in Lebanon County since he was 16 years old

Prior to joining Agri-Basics, Inc., Colver worked his way through school for the past three years at the Meily Farm in northern Lebanon County, where he continues to serve occasionally as a relief milker.

He lives in Annville, and will be providing crop and soil consultation services in western Lebanon County, northwestern Lancaster County, and Dauphin County

Maryland DHIA Report For February

The February Dairy Herd Improvement information for dairy herds from the DHI processing center in Provo, Utah. The list includes herds from Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia. The information is listed by herd name, county association, number of cows in the herd and the average production per cow in the herd based on Energy Corrected Milk (ECM). ECM combines milk production and components.

The ECM formula is: (7.2 x lbs. protein) + (12.95 x lbs. fat) + (.327 x lbs. milk). To be included, the herd must have 10 cows averaging 65 pounds or more of ECM per cow, per day. All herds reported are on official DHI or DHIR test. Also listed are the top ten herds in Maryland for the Brown Swiss, Guernseys, and Jerseys, and the top seven herds for Ayrshires.

Field Refuges Prevent Moth's Resistance To Genetic Insecticides

ITHACA, N.Y. – Cornell University scientists have demonstrated that creating a refuge in a crop field reduces the chance of insects developing resistance to transgenic insecticidal plants. Researchers report on their finding in the March issue of the journal, Nature Biotechnology.

"The whole concept of a refuge really works," said Anthony M. Shelton, Cornell professor of entomology and the lead author on the Nature Biotechnology article. "Before it has been theory, and this is the first demonstration of it in a field situation. This is all about managing resistance, and we found that, yes, it is important to have a refuge and to manage those insects within the refuge carefully."

In this case, a refuge is a section of plants within the field that have not been genetically engineered to contain the insecmoth developing resistance to Bt ticide.

The insecticide contained in the plants is Bacillus thuringiensis (Bt), a naturally occurring bacterium that is not harmful to humans and is considered by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) as the safest insecticide from an environmental standpoint. The genes to produce Bt proteins have been engineered into plants, and last year farmers in the United States planted nearly 19 million acres of transgenic Bt crops approved by the EPA.

"Bt transgenic plants can greatly reduce the use of broader spectrum insecticides, but there is concern that this technology may be short-lived due to insect resistance," wrote Shelton in the Nature Biotechnology article. Shelton and his colleagues conducted field tests to examine ways of reducing the likelihood of the diamondback broccoli plants.

At Cornell's New York Agricultural Experiment Station in Geneva, N.Y., the scientists had previously conducted laboratory and greenhouse trials for several years using Bt broccoli plants engineered by Elizabeth Earle, Cornell professor of plant breeding and chair of the university's plant breeding department. "Once we felt comfortable with our system, it was important to take it to the field to see how a resistance management program would work under field conditions," said Shelton.

To manage resistance to Bt-engineered plants, Shelton and his colleagues examined several planting options, including how the refuge was placed in the field. Their findings are clear – a refuge is needed, but it is also important how that refuge is placed. Using a "20 percent mixed refuge," in which the Bt and non-Bt plants were mixed randomly, compared with a "20 percent separate refuge," in which a block of non-Bt plants was grown next to the Bt plants, they followed changes in the insects' level of resistance over the course of the season. Their results backed up theoretical models that indicated a separate refuge would be more effective in keeping the diamondback moth from becoming Bt-resistant.

Additional studies examined how to manage the insects in the refuge. The studies' results demonstrated the importance of making sure sufficient insects are generated on the non-Bt plants to mate with any resistant insects that may have survived on the Bt plants.

Fred Gould, professor of entomology at North Carolina State University, a noted expert in the use of Bt transgenic plants, noted in an accompanying commentary in the journal, "Field studies like this one are essential for developing public confidence in resistance management techniques."

Joining Shelton and Earle in authoring the article, "Field Tests on Managing Resistance to Bt-Engineered Plants," are Juliet Tang, a former Cornell entomologist now a Mississippi State University; Richard Roush, a former Cornell entomologist at the Waite Institute in Australia; and Timothy D. Metz, a former Cornell plant breeder now at Campbell University in North Carolina. USDA funded the research.

Video Conference To Focus On Private Forestland Stewardship

TOWANDA (Bradford Co.) – National experts will present perspectives to private forest landowners on strategies to take control over the revenue potential of private lands and for landowners to reduce their tax burden. Private forest landowners throughout Pennsylvania may have several opportunities to obtain more income from their property, but need to learn which strategies best fit their circumstances.

On April 15, from 9 a.m. to noon, Cornell University will broadcast this financially focused satellite videoconference.

In addition to presentations by forest landowners, speakers will include Jonathan Kays discussing which personal attributes you need to consider before undertaking a new enterprise. Next Bill Hoover will give an introduction to strategies to reduce your federal income tax burden and an overview of a forest landowner income tax web page. The second half of the broadcast will begin with Bob Beyfuss who will look at ginseng and several other examples of private forestland enterprises. Finally, Thom McEvoy will describe what you need to consider when planning for the ultimate transfer of your estate.

Landowners wishing to participate should contact the Sullivan County Extension Office at (570) 928-8941 for reservations. Cosponsors include Cornell Cooperative Extension, the New York Forest Owners Association (NYFOA), Penn State University, University of Maryland, Rutgers University, the University of New Hampshire and the University of Connecticut.

The session will be downlinked at the Sullivan County Extension Office in Dushore. There is no fee, but because of limited seating, advanced registration is required. For additional information, call Dr. Bob Hansen at (570) 265-2896.

AFBF Names Harris To Top Staff Post

PARK RIDGE, Ill. – Richard D Harris of Des Moines, Iowa was elected by the American Farm Bureau Federation's board of directors to the newly created position of chief administrative officer and secretary/treasurer, consolidating several former officer positions. He also is secretary/treasurer of AFBF's affiliated companies.

For more than three years prior to joining AFBF, Harris was executive director and secretary/treasurer of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation and senior vice president/secretary-treasurer of that organization's affiliated insurance company

Harris began his career with Iowa Farm Bureau in 1968 as a county fieldman. He also served as director of field services, director of public affairs, and administrative director.

A native of Greenfield, Iowa, Harris has been active in many civic and professional organizations

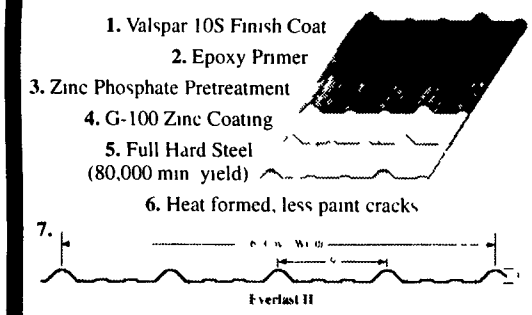
Metal Roofing & Siding

The Ultimate G-100 Process
"The Best"

1. Valspar 10S Finish Coat
2. Epoxy Primer
3. Zinc Phosphate Pretreatment
4. G-100 Zinc Coating
5. Full Hard Steel (80,000 min yield)
6. Heat formed, less paint cracks
7.



Everlast II

NOTE! It is more important what is under the paint than what you see on top!

1. One of the best paints, superior acid rain, cracking resistance and color retention
2. Primer coat promotes outstanding top coat adhesion
3. Zinc phosphate pretreatment. This is a very important process - if your current supplier cannot supply you with this or does not know, you should reconsider
4. G-100 Galvanized Most metal roofing has approx 40% less galvanized under the paint G-100 is more galvanized than most unpainted panels
5. Full Hard Anything less than full hard will bend easier, lower snow loads, etc
6. Heat formed Metal is painted before ribs are formed Most paint cracks at bends, heat forming greatly reduces cracks (check metal siding that is installed for 5-10 years)
7. Stronger design, superior strength, more metal per L F
8. Add Everything Together And Price Should Be $53 37 Per Square $1 69 Per L F

OUR SPECIAL PRICE ONLY
$46.74 PER SQUARE

"This Mixer Improved My Herd's Health"

– Brandt Gibbs, Gibbs Quest Dairy

"This was the first mixer we bought. We got it from Lapp's Barn Equipment in November, 1998. And it's amazing. Just adding this one piece of equipment actually improved our herd health noticeably."

ROTO-MIX

Gibbs Quest Dairy keeps 80 cows in a tie stall barn. They use this RotoMix 414 Forage Express once a day with 200 lbs. of dry hay per mix, 2.5 lbs. per cow. Herd average is 23,500.

Attention
Dairy, Swine & Poultry Producers!
New Products Now Available...

With the addition of our new soybean processing facility, we now offer these products to meet your nutritional needs. Manufacturing these products ourselves allows us to utilize locally grown soybeans and support our local agricultural community!

GOLDEN PRO 46 XP
This natural, mechanically extruded and expelled soybean product is experiencing great acceptance with local dairymen. A course golden colored meal with a 6% fat content, Golden Pro 46 XP is extremely palatable. Golden Pro 46 XP is a natural way to bring the value of high by-pass protein into diets that require a lower fat level.

GOLDEN MEAL 40
An 18 percent fat content along with a 40 percent crude protein makes this mechanically extruded meal product a valuable component in a variety of rations. Full fat content gives you a high level of digestible energy, while high temperature extruding ruptures the oil cells for better nutritional absorbtions.

CRUDE SOYBEAN OIL
A product of Keystone's expelling process, this oil can be used in a wide variety of on farm applications. A natural alternative to animal fats, this oil provides needed energy in various rations.

To make these products available, and to help you utilize your home raised soybeans Keystone Mills announces its

Soybean Exchange Program

As manufacturers and distributers of Golden Pro 46 XP and Golden Meal 40, we are anxious for you to try our products. We are offering a soybean exchange program featuring these quality nutritional products.

Susquehanna Dairy Day

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

ELK LAKE (Susquehanna Co.) — More than 900 farmers and industry personnel packed the Elk Lake school for the 11th annual Susquehanna County Dairy Day held Friday, March 10.

While at the day-long event, dairy day participants could visit with the 68 exhibitors, attend several educational programs, or bid on a winning pie from the pie auction.

In one educational presentation, extension agronomist Mark Madden informed dairy day participants of the new products available for corn weed control.

"What's old is new again," said Madden. " The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has mandated that we use fewer pounds of active ingredient. The chemical companies are taking things we're familiar with and concentrating them or changing the formulation."

Two examples of the newer concentrated formulas are Dual II Magnum and Bicep II Magnum.

Industry mergers are also changing the face of the chemical companies and new Glyphosate products will be available in the coming years.

In the second session of the day, Madden reminded farmers that pesticide safety doesn't end at the field.

"The job isn't done when you put the sprayer away," said Madden, "What about the clothes? The greatest exposure risk for pesticides is through the skin. Clothes contaminated with pesticides put everyone who handles those clothes at risk."

Madden continued to explain that the person laundering the clothes should know the properties of the product used.

"You need to know if it's water soluble or oil soluble. Different chemicals have different needs," said Madden.

Madden suggested that the clothes be collected separately and washed as soon as possible, preferably with a liquid detergent and hot water. Multiple wash cycles or an increased amount of detergent might be needed, and line drying is preferred. After washing the chemical laden clothes, it's also advisable to clean the washer by running a cycle without clothes before doing other laundry.

"The poison is in the dose, not the material," said Madden, "Diluting the pesticides as much as possible can prevent contamination."

In addition to keeping farm workers safe, Dairy Day participants learned how to improve their dry cow nutrition program. Dr. Gabriella Varga of Penn State's Department of Dairy and Animal Science highlighted the ongoing research programs at the University and encouraged farmers to take a look at their situation.

Goals of the dry period are to give the mammary gland a time to rest, give the fetus a chance to grow, and allow for colostrum production.

"One of the real challenges and what's really hard to measure on these farms is the dry matter intake of the dry cow. It's only been in the last few years that we in the research end have been looking at what's happening in terms of intakes in this period," said Varga.

"What happens is that the cow will not eat as much as she gets closer to calving, because she's in some discomfort and some pain. So she slowly goes down in intake," said Varga. "What you want to do is provide more nutrients to meet their requirements."

Through research on 500 cows tracked before and after calving, there was a strong correlation on the amount of feed consumed before calving and how much was consumed after calving when rations are increased to compensate for milk production.

Because fat cows eat less, Varga recommended that the cow's body composition score be calculated before dry off and that the ration be adjusted before drying the cow off in order for her to get down to an average score of 3.00 to 3.50.

"Once you start really looking at the condition of these cows from a thin cow to a fat cow. you'll be surprised to see that you have some cows that are on this fatty end. These cows that accumulate lipid in their livers are the ones that will have depressed appetites, increased days to first ovulation, decreased first service conception and increased incidence of metabolic diseases," said Varga.

Another thing that Varga stressed is the importance of cow comfort.

"I was at a large farm last year, and there was a group of lame cows and it took quite a while to get those cows from the barn to the milking parlor. The farmer put the lame cows in a group closer to the parlor," said Varga. "When those lame cows only had to walk a short distance, they went up 20 pounds of milk per cow. Cow comfort is absolutely important, but very hard to measure."

She added that cow comfort does not end when the cow is dried off. "Anything you can do to keep those cows comfortable during the dry period, whether it's bunk space or a maternity area, is very important," she said.

Dollars are the bottom line for many producers and paying closer attention to the dry period can prevent lots of problems later on.

"It's very hard to put an actual dollar values on some of these diseases that are precipitated during the dry period like ketosis, displaced abomasum, milk fever, or fatty liver, but they're pretty expensive," said Varga.

When considering the economic picture of the dairy farms, managing risk is also an important factor. William Curley, who wears the hats of a Susquehanna County dairy farmer and an economic analyst with the International Dairy Foods Association,encouraged people to use forward contracting and futures to lock in a profit for milk.

"There's no guarantee that the futures price will be profitable," Curley said.

Several guidelines must be followed when deciding to use the market as a tool. First, you need to know your cost of production.

"If you can't recognize a profitable futures price based on your break even price, you shouldn't even be in this discussion," said Curley.

Second, Curley warned of the dangers of trying to time the market.

"Your goal is to lock in a stable and profitable price. Don't focus on whether you make or lose money on a futures position. Focus on whether or not you make or lose money with the combination of your futures position and the cash sale."

Selling futures also has costs including brokerage fees that must be considered in the total picture.

Another tool available to some farmers is forward contracting. With this tool, the farmer would contract with a buyer at a predetermined price.

"These are gaining in popularity partly because of the volatility that we are now facing that we haven't seen before," said Curley.

Curley said that forward contracts are not available to everyone. "Cooperatives are not required to pay the minimum blend price, so if you forward contract with a cooperative for $12.00 and the actual price of milk is $12.50, the cooperative only pays you $12.00," explained Curley.

"Once the cooperative is paid the minimum blend price, they can do anything they want with it because in the strictest interpretation of the law, once the cooperative is paid, you're paid."

The balance of the money would be retained by the cooperative.

Other buyers are required by law to pay the minimum blend price, so they don't offer the option.

"If an independent processor would forward contract with you for a certain dollar amount and the minimum price would come in higher, legally, they're required to pay the minimum blend price," said Curley.

Individual cooperatives also offer programs to smooth out the price swings.

"Every cooperative has their own program that they offer and they're all a little bit different, so you need to sit down and look at them all," said Curley.

Playing the futures market and forward contracting are not tools that everyone could use.

"These programs are designed to smooth out the rough spots," said Curley.

In other Dairy Day activities, winning pies included a peanut delight pie by Robin Campbell, a cream puff pie by Kay Gow, and an apple pie by Jean Castrogiovanni.

Proceeds from the pie auction were divided between the Dairy Princess Program and Susquehanna County 4-H. This year $2,730 was raised from 30 pies, with the high seller going for $265.

Also at the event, health screening tests including PSA tests for men and blood sugar and cholesterol screenings were offered free of charge.

"We'll do about 80 blood tests today," said John Perry, a medical technologist with Barnes Kasson Hospital. "We come here as a way to give back to the community."

Also offered were tetanus vaccinations, testing of the respiratory capacity of the lungs, and a blood oxygen concentration test.

ADADC Makes The Best Hot Chocolate

SYRACUSE, N.Y.–When temperatures drop, the best way to warm yourself inside and out is with a steaming cup of hot chocolate–made with milk–of course!

This winter, American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC) Communications staff set out to show consumers the trendiest and tastiest ways to enjoy this favorite treat.

To kick off the first day of winter and to show consumers just how much better hot chocolate made with milk tastes, ADADC arranged for Old Man Winter to distribute hot chocolate to commuters at Union Square Greenmarket.

Teaming up with Manhattan's Chic City Bakery and joined by the WNBC weatherman, on-air coverage featured consumers enjoying cups of hot chocolate, and City Bakery owner describing the recipe for his famous chocolately concoction.

In addition, ADADC pitched local television stations on the concept of creating a hot chocolate gift basket as a holiday hostess gift, containing all the goodies needed to create a delicious cup of hot chocolate, such as gourmet cocoa powder, chocolate covered spoons, cookie straws, marshmallows, and, of course, a gallon of milk! Also included was a copy of MilkPEP's "Hot Chefs, Hot Chocolate" recipe brochure.

NITRO

Explosive power and capacity take shape in the NITRO™, built for full season application in the row with adjust-on-the-go wheel spacing. Unobstructed 6' clear span profile. Deluxe Series cab for superb visibility of front mounted boom. Air-Flex™* suspension and 50/50 weight distribution.

HEAR WHAT SOME OF OUR CUSTOMERS SAY ABOUT THE NITRO

"Smooth boom suspension coupled with unmatched turning radius and high crop clearance makes a machine that is super productive even in mature crops."
Bob Galetta
Atlantic Blueberry Farms, Hammonton, NJ

"The Nitro is a super machine and is backed by a super dealer. Messick's parts & service is first class!"
Robert Burchett
Maple Spring Farms, Airville, PA

"A-1 machine! Front-mount boom gives exceptional visibility, and makes for fast, efficient spraying. The Nitro makes spraying fun!"
Jim Miller
Kreider Farms, Manheim, PA

"Great Boom ride & visibility! Also doubles as a floater... we put 75GPA on at over 5 MPH
Dorsey Owings
Owings & Sons. Millington, MD

BE Power Train
Clutch and Gear Reduction
Model F

Features
- New style clutch. Fewer moving parts than ever before Parts hardened & finish ground. No linkage to wear out
- Bolts directly onto most 8-22 hp engines. Can be used on engines up to 30 Hp
- 5 8-1 ratio for P.T.O hookups, engine RPMs 3130, and 540 at PTO
- Run live hydraulic with belt.
- No need to cut off crankshaft, just bolt it on.

Take a closer look. Designed for the farmer and/or whoever needs a clutch and gear reduction for P.T.O. and other drives. This BE Clutch and Reduction can easily be mounted directly on engines such as Honda, Kawasaki, Robin w/special pilot dia., Briggs-Vanguard and others. Some engines with larger pilot diameters need an adaptor (we make them), such as Kohler, Onan, small diesels and others.

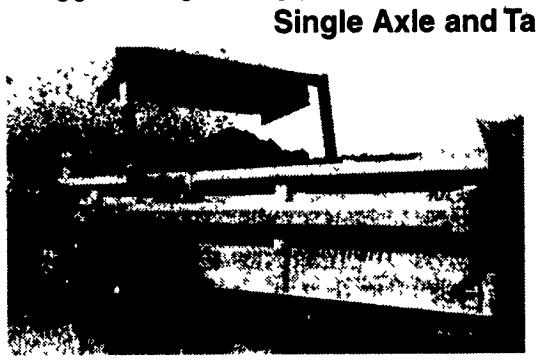
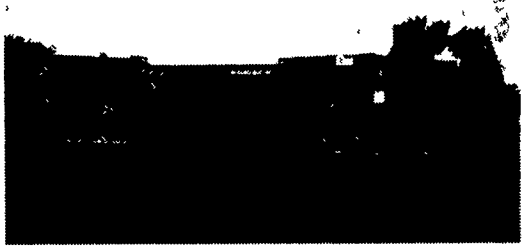
New Heavy Duty 300 Bushel Knight Box Spreaders IN STOCK at BINKLEY & HURST BROS. INC.

BUILT NEW FROM THE GROUND UP WITH NEARLY 50 YEARS OF TESTING!

An all-new spreader designed and built in the Knight tradition of heavy-duty, rugged, long-lasting products with features to carry you into the 21st century.

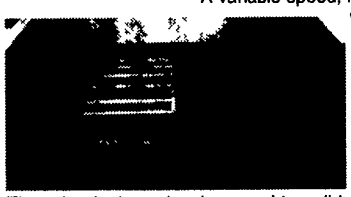
Single Axle and Tandem Axle Models



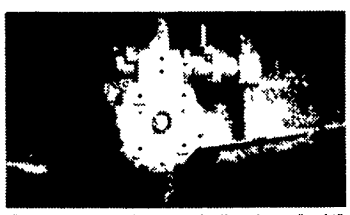


Heavy Duty Variable Speed Drive System
A variable speed, hydraulic apron drive with tractor-mounted speed control valve allows easy adjustment of the apron speed for different materials and for load clean-out

This cut-away view shows the lower side and frame overlap ① which is specially engineered to provide added strength and double protection against rust through The inverted U-channel cross members ② provide double the floor support area for superior strength The inverted design reduces corrosion by eliminating trapped material



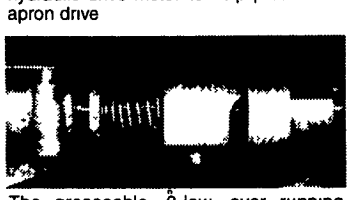
The ultra-high molecular weight, solid poly floor reduces friction and winter freeze down and provides more strength and durability than individual tongue and groove boards or plywood coated with plastic This 3/4" thick, two-piece UHMW poly floor is a first of its kind and is designed to allow for expansion and contraction



The apron gearbox is a hollow bore "split" design, making service and removal of the apron shaft an easy task An overload relief valve is mounted directly to the hydraulic drive motor to help protect the apron drive

10 year warranty on side rust through and on poly floors.

Low Profile For Easy Loading
The paddle placement on the specially designed, 26" diameter rooster-comb beater provides a more consistent, wide spread pattern with better break-up of material The 5/16" thick, one-piece paddles are pre-punched for bolt-on replacement teeth



The greaseable, 2-jaw, over running clutch allows for easy PTO hook up and prevents beater backlash force when the PTO is disengaged The transfer shaft is piloted into the rear clutch jaw to maintain continuous alignment

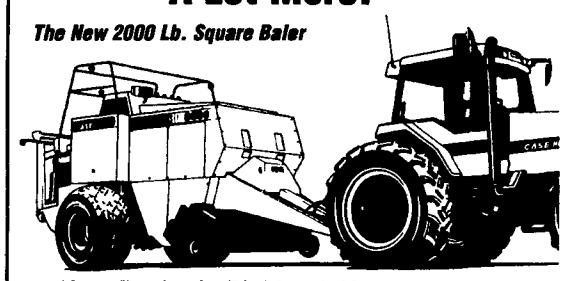
CASE IH Model 8590 Get More From Your Baler. A Lot More.

The New 2000 Lb. Square Baler



Your Dealer is Binkley & Hurst Bros. Inc.

Nothing delivers big-volume yields like the Case IH 8590 Like its predecessor, the 8580, this new large square baler is designed just for large hay producers. But the 8590 also features over a dozen improvements for greater reliability And that translates into even higher productivity in the field So stop by today And see how the 8590 can help you get a lot more from your baling operation

Down And Tangled Undergrowth?

12 Foot

No Problem!

Case IH Disc Mower Conditioner

Non-stop cutting for higher productivity.

- Clean cut at higher ground speeds
- Faster cutting in dense or tangled crops and over obstacles
- Overhead frame design allows unrestricted crop flow
- Automatic roll separating system eliminates plugging

Designed, tested and manufactured by Case IH at its Hesston, Kansas facility

Fits the way you farm

- 9' side-pull of 12' cutting widths available
- Choice of intermeshing conditioner rolls to match your needs
- Quick-convert from field to transport mode

Along with dependable mower conditioners, you can count on us for genuine Case IH parts, professional and reliable service support and flexible financing

The disc design provides for fast cutting in the most adverse conditions–dense undergrowth, tangled prairie grass, rocks, animal obstacles (gopher mounds, ant hills, etc)

CASE IH MX Series Magnum

Case IH is delighted to present the most technologically advanced agricultural tractor on the market today Combining customer input with cutting-edge technology, Case engineers designed and built a tractor with unsurpassed productivity and versatility

The all new MX Series Magnum tractors set new standards in performance, reliability, durability, operator comfort, ease of operation and productivity with fourteen industry leading features

The New MX220 Is At Our Door Come In And See!

Purchase The Latest In Tractor Power From Binkley & Hurst Bros. Today. Rated 165 PTO HP.

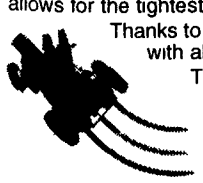
Beautiful Interiors with Automated Comfort Control.

Note Extra Rider Seat for Convenience

The Shortest Turning Large Tractor You Can Own Today! Simple, User-Friendly Operation.

Industry Leading Turning Radius

The revolutionary chassis of the MX Series Magnum improves your overall performance and productivity In fact, the innovative Surround frame allows for the tightest turning radius in the industry, even with front duals!



Thanks to axle improvements, engine placement and a sleek hood design, the MX Series Magnum can easily turn into 12 30-inch rows with all row crop tire configurations on true 60-inch tread settings

The new, single-piece, sculpted, cast iron Surround frame is the key to the enhanced capabilities and performance of these tractors It enables the MX Series Magnum to offer the first factory front duals, dramatically improving both traction and flotation By balancing the chassis, we've significantly reduced the amount of front ballast required And the frame easily accomodates mounted chemical tanks or loaders, allowing you to perform multiple applications.

New 15 Foot Yetter Rotary Hoe and 12 Foot Models In Stock.

ALUMINUM PORTABLE ELEVATORS

(Not recommended for permanent installations - unless ordered with 1/4" poly-wear liner for longer pan life.)

Safety Shield Removed For Display Purposes Only Reinforced Frame

EXCLUSIVE Boot Guard with Agitator

- Heavy-service, belt-type guard attached to sturdy hinge on boot
- Guard rests on flights - movement of flights provides agitating action - keeps material or silage out of boot and moving up the elevator

Includes incline hopper, motor mount, and required belts. Set Up and Ready to Go - Just mount motor (not included) and install shields. Optional polywear liner protects pan - super-slick, self-lubricating liner prevents freezedown...reduces chain stretching...increases chain and pan life, cuts noise levels and lowers energy consumption by up to 30%.

- Easy to handle - sturdily built
- Light weight - rust resistant - never needs painting
- Enclosed bottom trough for clean chain return and extra strength
- Take-up for chain at idler shaft - easily tightened without affecting drive adjustments
- Dropout hole with gate - helps prevent returning cobs and husks from jamming in boot end of elevator Allows returning cobs and husks to fall out before reaching boot Gate can be quickly closed when materials other than cob corn are being conveyed
- Plow-contour corded rubber flights designed for maximum efficiency, minimum ride-up

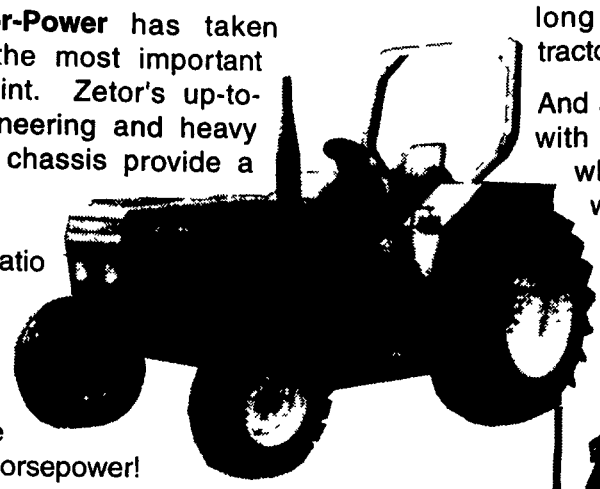
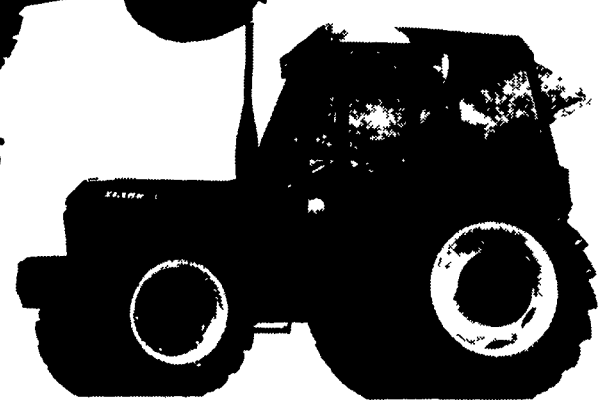
Zetor's Low Prices Used To Be The Quickest Way For Dealers To Make Sales.

But Zetor-Power has taken over as the most important selling point. Zetor's up-to-date engineering and heavy cast iron chassis provide a balanced power-to-weight ratio that means a Zetor tractor does more with less horsepower!

Zetor tractors still pull their own weight after 16 years...twice as long as most American tractors.

And all Zetor tractors come with a two year warranty which underscores its worldwide reputation for building quality tractors that last, and more and more farmers are quick to agree.





50 Years • 1946 - 1996

GLENCOE® SS7200/SS7400 SOIL SAVER®

For your primary tillage needs, nothing prepares your seedbed better than Glencoe SS7200 or SS7400 Soil Savers. These one-pass tillage tools feature a heavy-duty 6"x4" frame with the strength to stand up to high horsepower tractors and years of hard use.

Our adjustable spring-cushioned slicer gang is rock-shaft mounted for optimum bearing and blade protection. Choose heavy-duty rigid, spring cushion or AutoReset shanks with twisted shovels or sweeps to match your conservation requirements. For even more versatility, Soil Savers have working widths that range from 6 to 21 feet.

To get a closer look at the SS7200 and SS7400 Soil Savers, contact us today. Once you see how easy it is to build the optimum seedbed, you'll wonder why you didn't purchase a Soil Saver sooner.

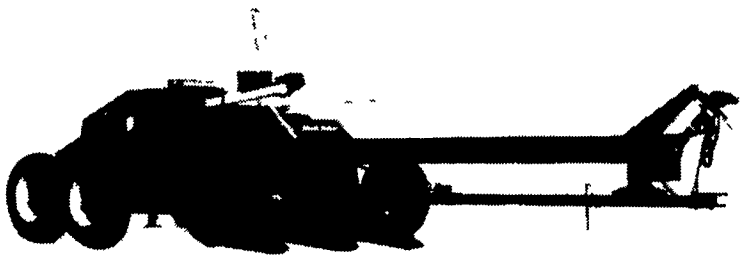
GEHL®

BETTER NUTRITION & PEAK FORAGE HARVESTING CAPACITY!



Increase Production & Profits with a Gehl Crop Processor™

Better feed starts with better harvesting. That's what you get with a Gehl crop processing forage harvester First to put crop-processing rolls in a pull-type forage harvester, Gehl remains the leader with the original Model 1275 and the all-new Model 1075.

GEHL.

- HIGH-SPEED GROOVED ROLLS crack kernels, break-up the cob and shred stalk material
- BENEFITS include increased milk production and improved herd health
- MODEL 1275 is today's top-capacity pull-type forage harvester, handling up to 300 PTO horsepower
- NEW MODEL 1075 handles up to 225 PTO horsepower
- EXCLUSIVE AUTOMAX™ LOAD MANAGEMENTS SYSTEM helps boost capacity

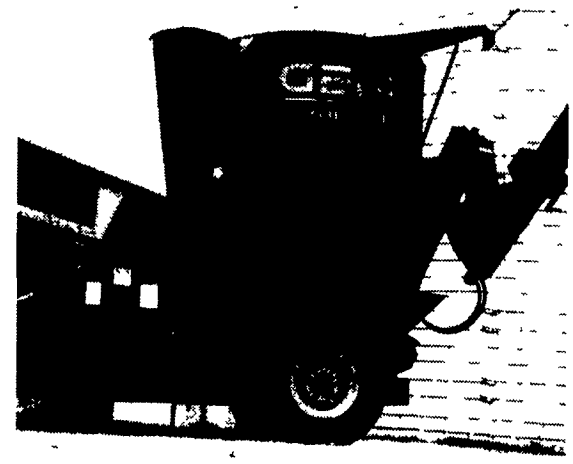
The #1 Name In Feedmaking



Gehl Mix-All® portable grinder-mixers have been leading the industry for over 35 years. Now available with Gehl's famous hammermill or a commercial-grade roller mill to produce the best possible feed for your livestock.

- Total hydraulic control - Self-contained hydraulic system allows infinite speeds to power the discharge conveyor, unloading auger and in-feed attachments
- Remote controls - Operate the unloading conveyor from the tractor seat or from the rear of the machine.
- Electronic scales - For precise ration weighing.
- Customize your machine - With a wide variety of options and attachments.

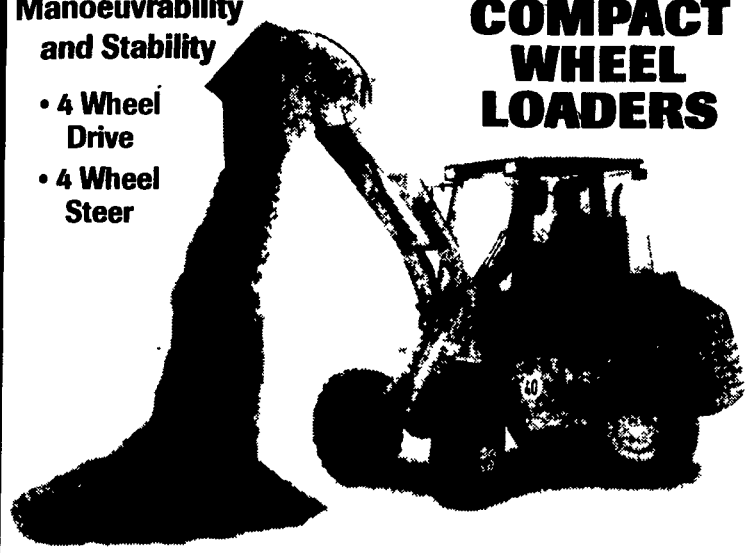
COMPACT WHEEL LOADERS



Confined work areas is where this machine feels at ease. The KramerAllrad 320 will finish any work in no time at all thanks to its surprising manoeuvrability and versatility.

Add exceptional comfort to the outstanding performance of the KramerAllrad 320. Productivity of the driver is enhanced by the excellent ergonomic design of the cab

The entire front loader is of a totally new design and offers high breakout forces and superb tilt-back and dump-out angles. Minimum effort is required to control the joystick which moves the front loader with utmost precision.

In conjunction with reliability and serviceability, this offers maximum productivity.

- Thanks to the hydraulic quickhitch facility the KramerAllrad 320 is a real multipurpose machine – implements are changed within seconds without leaving the operator seat
- Roof opens over the entire width for the efficient ventilation of the cab
- Large windows ensure excellent all around visibility
- Compact design and large steering angles of 2 x 45° make for the amazing manoeuvrability of the KramerAllrad 320
- Tinted glass prevents the cab from heating up through the large windows
- The rounded rear area is not just for good looks, it also reduces the blind spot to a minimum
- The two 100% powershift differential locks ensure smooth work even in the most difficult terrain
- An optimal tilt-back angle and an ideal bucket shape make for fully loaded buckets and less work cycles

'Adopted' Sisters Represent PA Angus Royalty

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Jessica Schmidt, 17, and Katrina Frey, 10, consider themselves sisters, not by blood or by legal adoption, but by the close relationship they honed through involvement in sheep and livestock 4-H Clubs.

Now the two share another activity together. The Pennsylvania Angus Association selected Jessica as the state Angus Queen and Katrina as the Angus Sweetheart. The two travel to shows throughout Pennsylvania and into other states by representing the Keystone State's Angus Association.

Seventeen-year-old Jessica excels in both beef and sheep showing. But it's the hefty black Angus that provides the most challenge to the slender teen.

"I prefer cattle because I get more of a thrill out of working with bigger, animals. Plus they have more personality," Jessica said.

The close relationship between the two "sisters" started when Katrina's parents, Nancy and Fritz Frey, Quarryville, were Jessica's 4-H leaders. Then two-year-old Katrina started shadowing Jessica.

Although both parents are veteran showmen who had achieved championships in several states during their youth, it was Jessica who Katrina wanted to emulate. It was Jessica who taught the girl seven years her junior the intricate details of showing sheep and later cattle.

"Wherever Jessica goes, Katrina goes," Nancy said.

Katrina wanted to be just like the teenager who garnered ribbon upon ribbon for showmanship and paying attention to details in record keeping, and other 4-H activities. So far, she's managing to mirror almost everything Jessica has done. Just like Jessica had done, Katrina won the Novice Shepherd of the Year in her first year in Woolies Club. Both continue to win the record book awards in sheep and cattle clubs.

"I think our moms spur us on," Jessica said of the advantage of having their moms as 4-H leaders. "They're here whenever we have a question."

Interestingly, the mothers consider themselves best friends.

"Four-H establishes friendships between parents as well as between the kids," her mom said.

Jessica's parents, Pete and Laurie, own Susquehannock Farm and Susquehannock Landscape, Drumore, which is situated only a few miles from the Susquehanna River.

Although Jessica's brother, John, 16, owns some of the animals on the farm, most belong to Jessica. In addition to her two Angus cows, two Angus heifers, a crossbred steer, and 33 sheep, the family's pets include four turkeys, a flock of chickens, two dogs, and an assortment of cats.

Representing both the Dorset and Montadale breeds are 13 ewes and 20 lambs. Over the year's Jessica has bred better genetics which has enabled her to take top prizes consistently in showing locally and in neighboring states.

For seven years, Jessica was part of the livestock judging club. Last year the state team qualified for national competition where they placed 14th.

"That's the highest placing an east coast team ever achieved," Jessica said.

According to 4-H rules, Jessica is no longer eligible for the team after qualifying for nationals.

"I really miss it and wish I could do it again. It was awesome at nationals," she said. She also was a member of the meats judging team that placed first in junior and senior state competitions. Her FFA team also qualified for national competition, where they won a silver medal, again making her ineligible for FFA livestock judging this year.

Pennsylvania Angus Queen Jessica Schmidt is assisted in her promotional duties by Pennsylvania Angus Sweetheart Katrina Frey. The two have long considered themselves sisters, not through blood or legal adoption, but through the close relationship honed through 4-H involvement. Shown with them are Jessica's favorite Angus, Twizzler and Black Hawk.

"I really hope to join the Penn State judging team," Jessica said.

Nancy said, "Jessica is really good at teaching others to fit, show, and shear. She is our number one demonstrator."

Jessica tells her younger charges: "Try your best. Get involved as much as you can, not just at Round-Up. Try your hardest and stick with it."

Jessica was president of the Woolies 4-H Club two years ago, and is a senior at Solanco High School, where she is first vice president of the FFA.

Although Jessica helps with the family's landscaping business by mulching, edging, weeding, planting, and mowing clients' yards, she said her true interest lies in livestock. In the fall, she plans to attend Penn State York Campus to study animal science.

"She isn't sure where career plans will lead her, but one thing is certain: "I want a job working with livestock," she said.

So far, she has earned several scholarships through agriculture and hopes to garner a few more.

Another place to find Katrina and Jessica is in the travel trailer of Frey's Livestock Supplies. They travel from show to show to sell livestock supplies.

"I put the queen in charge of my kids and the business," Nancy said of Jessica's mature ability to manage people and business.

For as young as she is, Katrina has managed to accumulate numerous impressive titles in both cattle and sheep competition. In 1998, with her Angus heifer Princess, Katrina won the Jackpot Division of the Montana Treasure Chest. Princess now has five sons. Katrina wishes they had been daughters; nevertheless two bull calves have been on test.

For two years in a row, Katrina showed the champion ewe in the Suffolk breed at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

The ewe named Valentine also garnered second and third placings in the Massachuttes Junior Sheep Show and at the Atlantic National Breeders' Show held in Maryland.

Katrina keeps her sheep at her maternal grandmother's farm, and her cattle on her paternal grandfather's farm. This is the lambing season, and it's Katrina's job to bottlefeed several newborn lambs. In addition to helping with her grandmother's flock, Katrina has four Suffolk, one Cheviot, and two baby Cheviots and a Montadale.

Katrina is a member of the choir at Mechanicsburg Church of the Brethren. She plays the Clarinet in school and is a fourth grader. Already she is getting a headstart in livestock judging. As a member of the team, she is allowed to participate in all practices and all contests below the state level.

Before she joined the judging team, Katrina already was able to name all the parts of animals and the different breeds. She ex-

In addition to livestock showing, Jessica excelled in livestock and meats judging, competing at the national levels in 4-H and FFA.

Both Jessica and Katrina excel in sheep showing and have won numerous ribbons at local, regional, state, and out-of-state shows.

'Sisters' Represent Angus Royalty

Jessica's family includes parents, Pete and Laurie, and brother John.

plained that team members learn to judge animals on videos and then visit farms to do live judging.

It's no surprise that Katrina's dream is to follow in Jessica's footsteps and someday be named state Angus Queen. She takes her cue from Jessica, who said, "It's time consuming showing and caring for both sheep and cattle. Sometimes I'd rather be doing something else, but then the shows come, and I do good, and it all pays off."

While she has achieved many firsts, Jessica said she has her sights set on some more firsts during her final 4-H year.

"It would be really cool to have a champion market lamb or bred and owned at the 4-H Roundup. I had the champion steer, but not the lamb."

Responsibilities are not limited to state events. Jessica and Katrina have already represented the state at Virginia and Maryland shows, and plant to attend the Eastern Regional Show in Ohio and the national show in Iowa.

The two girls are also part of a first for the county. According to Chet Hughes, extension livestock agent, never in the history of the Lancaster County 4-H Beef Club has it had three members who were crowned to state royalty. This year, in addition to Jessica Schmidt as Pennsylvania Angus Queen and Katrina as Angus Sweetheart, Nichole Hess, Mount Joy, is Pennsylvania Hereford Princess.

OK. I can take a hint.

"That's a good shirt, but it needs some buttons," The Farmer informed me a few days ago, gesturing toward a plaid work shirt he had tossed on the laundry pile in the basement. "There's one split and a couple missing."

Those few buttons I can handle. Getting anything else sewn in recent months has gone no farther than my good intentions.

A year or so ago, I sat down at my sewing machine one afternoon to mend some jeans. (The extent of my seamstress endeavors in recent years.) And the faithful, 30-year-old machine, which for more than three decades had been instrumental in constructing and/or repairing everything from the ever-present torn blue jeans to little-girl dresses, from Barbie doll clothes to crazy quilts, from curtains to calf-dressing-contest outfits, just wouldn't sew.

Oh, the motor hummed and the threaded needle zipped up and down for a little while - and then would stall. After fooling with it for a bit, I figured the belt needed to be replaced. No mending that day.

But a replacement belt didn't help. No mending then, either. A second replacement belt, just in case the first was faulty, made no improvement. Still no jeans mending.

Then, it was planting time, and then it was children moving home, then it was summer, then it was harvest time, then it was the holidays... and, geez, a year had flown by. And still the mending pile grew.

Reality was that the machine's basement home for the past two decades, where humidity can be a summertime problem, had probably not been the optimum environment for it. And instead of a belt, it was likely the machinery itself that needed to be replaced.

Mom, bless her heart, had by this time rescued us from the plight of drafty (to say nothing of embarrassing) blue jean rips and tears with her willing and skilled-professional mending ability. Still, getting a replacement sewing machine before another spring season was upon us really began to bug me. Finally, a few weeks ago, I set an afternoon aside to be a responsible-consumer, comparison shopper of the latest in sewing machines.

Sewing machines have changed considerably in 30 years. Oh, the basic design is still similar, but many of the newest machines are computerized. (Surprise!) Some of the most highly-intricate models look like major electronics installations, with rows of little "Windows"-like icons strung across the front from which to select. For professional seamstresses who need lots of specialty and decorative stitch capability, the possibilities of these computerized machines are almost astonishing.

I ran the sewing machine consumer-data I'd gathered pass our daughter, whose degrees are in home-economics and computer technology. We share recipes, clothes, cow milking, and records keeping. Likewise we lament with one another over computer gliches and have swapped disks, keyboards, and printers trying to overcome electronics trip-ups.

Her reaction to my report was reassuring – and identical to mine.

"A sewing machine with a computer chip? I don't think so."

So, call me old-fashioned. Call me stick-in-the-mud. Call me anti-technology.

Call me the owner of a new, non-computerized sewing machine. One that I am confident will not have its brain-chip blown out the first time lightning zaps us and demolishes the surge protector on it recommended for all electronics. (As a better-quality, supposedly-insurance-covered, surge protector did here a year ago, taking two televisions out along with it.)

I love my new basic-stitches, heavy-duty, low-tech sewing machine. But if summer comes before I find time to use it on that stack of drafty jeans, we will have ourselves a good supply of worn denim cutoffs.

My good, sharp scissors doesn't need a computer chip either.

Celebrate Family Farm Appreciation Day

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) – Farm Families and supporters of farm families from Berks, Lehigh, Northampton, Schuyhill counties and the surrounding area are invited to attend the Farm Family Appreciation Celebration and Hoedown.

The event, which will be held on April 1, at the Hamburg Field House, Hamburg, is designed to help build community among farm families and local citizens.

The evening, which will include a hot buffet meal and a hoedown featuring the music of Lynn Ekert and "The Outlaws," is open to all farmers and their children at no charge.

Family farm supporters can attend at a cost of $8 per adult and $5 per child (ages 3-11), children under the age of 3 are free.

This event is being sponsored by the Pomona Grange, the Northeast Pennsylvania Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, the Pennsylvania Cooperative Extension, the Eastern Pennsylvania Agency of Lutheran Brotherhood and Aid Association for Lutherans, Paul Wangerin and Kenneth G. Becker Agencies.

Doors will open at 7:00 p.m. with the meal being served at 7:30 p.m. The hoedown will be from 8:30 p.m. - 10:30 p.m.

Registration information is available by contacting Penn State Cooperative Extension-Berks County, P.O. Box 520, 1238 County Welfare Rd., Leesport, PA 19533-0520 or Phone (610)-378-1327.

ADADC Officers

COLUMBUS, Ohio–The American Dairy Association & Dairy Council Mid East board of trustees elected its 2000 officers.

Reelected for a second term, Paul Broering, from St. Henry, Ohio, Mercer County, will continue as president in 2000.

"It is an honor to be elected again to serve my fellow dairy farmers and represent their best interests in the area of dairy promotion," Broering says. "The checkoff program strives to increase the demand for dairy products–and it's doing just that. Last year, total milk sales increased 3.1 percent!"

Newly elected officers include Merle Chaplin, Moundsville, W.Va., Marshall County, vice president; and Connie Finton, New Philadelphia, Ohio, Tuscarawas County, secretary. Also returning for another term as treasurer is Alice Moore, Frazeysburg, Ohio, Coschocton County. All officers have been elected to serve one-year terms.

Consuming Thoughts

Penn State Extension Home Economist For Berks Co.

Many people think that poaching is a mysterious and difficult way to cook fish. In reality, it is one of the easiest cooking methods. And it certainly produces some of the most delicious fish you'll ever eat.

Simply defined, poaching is cooking in a aromatic broth.

Fish are usually poached in a court bouillon. But you can also use milk or lightly seasoned water. It is one of the simplest ways I know to cook fish since it requires no special ingredients and no measuring. Melt about two tablespoons of butter or margarine in a long, shallow pan or electric skillet. Sprinkle with garlic powder. Add the amount of water you'll need to cover your fish. Pour in about one cup of cooking white wine (non-alchololic) and add a bay leaf. Bring to a boil.

Place your fillets in the broth and cook until the fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. This will take about eight to ten minutes, or longer for thicker fillets. You will have delicious, delicately flavored fish, with now masking of their true flavor.

It is a good way to cook whole, dressed fish this way to make fish flakes. Try it as an alternative to making fish flakes for use in other recipes.

Court bouillon usually consists of water, white wine, onions, celery, carrots and parsley, with some thyme and a bay leaf. You can add your favorite ingredients and seasonings. Chop the vegetables to release their flavor. Once you've made the bouillon, you can cook in it more than once, if you have several servings of fish to prepare.

In poaching, food is completely submerged in the cooking liquid. If your fish is not covered when you put it in, add enough water to cover it.

Fish is delicate and should never be boiled. When you poach, the surface of the water should shiver or shimmer, not simmer. Only the tiniest bubbles should be visible

As with all cooking methods, poaching time is determined by the thickness of the fish. Remove fish immediately when done to prevent further cooking. Overcooking is the most common problem in seafood cooking. And you can overcook fish and dry it out even when it is cooked in water.

For ease in poaching large fish or large fillets, wrap in a layer of cheesecloth before cooking. For very large fish, double the cloth. Allow several inches of extra cloth on each end. Twist the end and make knots to use as handles when lifting the fish.

You can poach whole fish, steaks or fillets. Many people do not like to serve whole fish because it can be difficult to cut through the backbone, and there are bones in the servings. Using fillets eliminates these problems. Always place fillets or steaks in a single layer to poach.

When poaching fillets, many people prefer skinless ones. This prevents curling. However, not much curling occurs in small fillets, so if you do not object to the skin, it's fine to leave it on. Steaks should be poached with the skin on to keep them from coming apart. Remove the skin after poaching.

Remember that you can substitute different cuts of seafood in recipes. Use steaks instead of fillets, fillets instead of whole fish. Just adjust the cooking time.

And always remember that you can substitute species. Other people think that they must have the particular fish named in a recipe. But this is not true. Just substitute like species. For example, use one lean fish in place of another, a mild flavor for another mild flavor, a delicate texture for another delicate texture.

Biodiesel Endorsed At American Farm Bureau

HOUSTON, Texas–The American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF) used biodiesel, an alternative fuel, to power buses used to transport participants to and from the convention center during their annual meeting here recently.

The shuttle buses operated on blends of 20 percent biodiesel and 80 percent petroleum diesel.

Jack Hartman, president of the National Biodiesel Board and a farmer from northeast Iowa, is participating in a number of the annual meeting activities and applauds the AFBF's decision to highlight biodiesel at its convention.

"The benefits of biodiesel to the farm economy are tremendous," said Hartman. "When you consider biodiesel's environmental and performance attributes, along with the added value to feedstock, the creation of more jobs, and an increased tax base, biodiesel is a win-win situation for the farmer and the nation's economy."

Biodiesel is the name for a variety of ester-based oxygenated fuels derived from biological or renewable sources such as soybeans, the nation's most abundant and renewable agricultural product. In its pure form, biodiesel is biodegradable, non toxic, and essentially free of sulfur and aromatics. Biodiesel also is clean burning and has similar BTU content, fuel economy, and performance as conventional diesel fuel.

"Utilizing alternative fuels, such as biodiesel, is a way to support our farmers in a time when many have had to make the difficult decision to continue to produce at a loss or sell land that has been in their family for several generations," said Ron Woods, director of human resources for the AFBF.

Refreshing Citrus For Every Meal

Fruit contains natural sugars that stimulate the brain to think faster and recall information more quickly.

Citrus fruits and juices are full of vitamins and minerals essential to maintaining a healthful diet. These include vitamin C, folic acid, dietary fiber, and potassium. In fact an 8-ounce glass of orange juice contains 100-120 percent of the daily requirement of vitamin C. One medium orange contains 130 percent, and a half of grapefruit contains 110 percent.

The American Cancer Society, March of Dimes, and American Heart Association have recognized the important role a balance diet that includes citrus and fruit juices may play in helping to reduce the risk of certain cancers, neural tube birth defects, and heart disease.

Fresh citrus fruits are hard to beat for nutrition and taste, but many wonderful recipes used fruit and juice offer wonderful tastes and variety.

CINNAMON-HONEY ORANGE SLICES

¼ cup honey
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
4 large navel oranges, peeled, cut into ½-inch slices

In a medium bowl, mix together honey and cinnamon. Add orange slices; stir gently to coat. Set aside for 15 minutes before serving.

PINEAPPLE-LEMON UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

17¼-ounce can crushed pineapple, drained, juice reserved
3-ounce package sugar-free lemon-flavored Jell-O
½ cup egg substitute
1 large egg white
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
¾ cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Line a 9-inch round cake pan with waxed paper. Spray the paper and the pan with non-stick cooking spray.

Evenly spread drained, crushed pineapple over the top of waxed paper in the pan. Sprinkle with lemon Jell-O over the pineapple.

In a medium mixing bowl, beat the egg substitute and egg white until it's a fluffy yellow color. Add sugar and vanilla, beat. Add ⅓ cup pineapple juice. Sift together dry ingredients and beat into the egg mixture. Pour over the pineapple and lemon Jell-O.

Bake for 25-30 minutes or until tester comes out clean. Immediately loosen sides from pan and invert on plate.

LEMON ICE CREAM RINGS

1 fresh pineapple
2 tablespoons frozen lemonade concentrate
¼ teaspoon ground ginger

Place ice cream in refrigerator to soften slightly, about 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, with extra sharp knife, cut off crown and stem of pineapple. Carefully cut off peel and remove eyes. Cut fruit crosswise into ½-inch slices. With round biscuit cutter or sharp knife, remove core from each slice. In small bowl, mix softened ice cream, lemonade concentrate, and ground ginger. Serve ice cream mixture over pineapple rings. Serves 4.

BROILED GRAPEFRUIT

Cut grapefruit in half, cut around sections, and cut a small hole in center of each half. Fill each center cavity until overflowing with honey and one teaspoon butter. Sprinkle a mixture of sugar and cinnamon over entire top of fruit. Put under a broiler for a few minutes until it turns brown. Garnish with berries or grilled chicken liver.

Makes two servings.

CLASSIC AMBROSIA

3 cups orange sections
4 cups mixed pink and white grapefruit sections
1½ cups shredded coconut
Strawberries for garnishing

Combine all ingredients except berries in serving bowl. Refrigerate overnight. Garnish with berries just before serving. Makes 10-12 servings.

To many people, the fresh taste of grapefruit as a culinary staple extends only to drinks and a few familiar dishes. In reality, it is far more versatile fruit than many know. In fact, cooks in cultures all over the world have found limitless opportunities to incorporate the sweet, fragrant fruit and juice into creative meal ideas.

But beyond good taste, research indicates that citrus, particularly grapefruit, is packed full of nutritional value, providing numerous all-natural, disease-fighting nutrients. As nutrition supplements become more commonplace, it's important to remember that many key vitamins and minerals necessary for proper healthy can be found in all-natural, easily accessible, and reasonably priced foods like grapefruit.

Grapefruit contains no sodium or cholesterol. An excellent source of fiber, grapefruit also is high in vitamin C, an important antioxidant, and contains vitamin A, folate, and potassium. A whole grapefruit has more dietary fiber (12 grams) than a majority of the top 20 most consumed fruits, including apples, bananas, and strawberries. A diet high in fruits and vegetables containing dietary fiber also may help support healthy cholesterol levels and may help reduce the risk of some cancers.

Eating grapefruit is one of the best ways to fortify your diet with vitamin C. Scientists have learned that this powerful antioxidant helps to neutralize the activity of highly unstable molecules of oxygen called free radicals, which can damage cells, lead to aging and may contribute to chronic diseases like heart disease and cancer. Additionally, vitamin C is essential for healthy skin and gums.

The health benefits extend beyond the fruit itself. Eating grapefruit also boosts the nutritional value of other foods, specifically those high in iron.

Consuming a grapefruit or a glass of juice prior to or during a meal provides vitamin C that converts iron contained in non-meat foods, such as spinach, to a form that is easy for the body to absorb.

Pump up iron levels by eating the Fresh Spinach and Grapefruit Salad, which contains the crucial combination of spinach and grapefruit.

FRESH SPINACH AND GRAPEFRUIT SALAD

10-ounce package spinach, washed, stemmed, torn
2 medium grapefruit, peeled, cut crosswise in half, and separated into sections.
1 red bell pepper, cut into short, thin stripes
½ cup sliced green onions
½ cup light honey-dijon or Italian dressing
¼ cup low-fat bacon bits
¼ cup fat-free seasoned croutons

In a large bowl, combine spinach, grapefruit sections, bell pepper strips, and green onions. Add dressing; toss well. Transfer mixture to four serving plates. Sprinkle with bacon bits and croutons. Makes 4 servings.

Carpenter Ants A Nuisance But Not Much Of A Threat

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)–As the weather warms, homeowners may panic if they notice large black ants–most likely carpenter ants–in and around their house, fearing that the home's structural timbers are at risk to the pests. But even if you have a carpenter ant infestation, you probably have little to worry about, says a Penn State expert.

"Although often blamed for causing damage to wood, carpenter ants usually are little more than a nuisance," says Steven Jacobs, senior extension associate in entomology in the College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Carpenter ants are somewhat lazy," Jacobs explains. "They usually attack wood that's already rotted. If they run into a sound, dry piece of wood, they generally won't go much farther. But they have been known to cause extensive damage to soft materials, such as insulation board."

Carpenter ant workers are wingless, dark brown to black in color and ¼ to ½ inch long. The winged reproductives resemble the workers but are up to ¾ inch long. The ants' bodies are constricted between the thorax and the abdomen.

Because carpenter ants are social insects that live in colonies and excavate wood, they often are mistaken for termites. However, termite workers are creamy white and live hidden from view. Winged termite reproductives may resemble carpenter ants, but termite bodies are not constricted between the thorax and abdomen. Also, termites' antennae are straight with bead-like segments, whereas carpenter ant antennae are elbowed.

In nature, carpenter ants aid in the decomposition of dead, decaying trees by excavating rotted wood for nesting sites. They eat dead insects and other small invertebrates as well as honeydew secreted by aphids and scale insects.

When foraging for food, carpenter ants may find their way inside your house. There, they will feed on meats and foods containing sugar and fat. In some cases, these foraging workers may establish a satellite colony in the house, congregating in existing voids, such as hollow doors or the space between studs in walls.

"In homes, the ants typically do not excavate wood for nests," says Jacobs. "They may tunnel through sound structural timbers, but this has little effect on the timber's structural integrity."

Jacobs says to get rid of the ants, the parent and satellite nests must be found and eliminated:

•Use a flashlight to look for foraging workers at night. "Check basement, attic, garage and building exterior from May through July between the hours of 10 p.m. and 2 a.m.," says Jacobs. "It may be possible to find where they're entering the house or follow them back to their parent colony, which often is located in a tree, log or waste wood within 100 yards of the house. If numerous winged reproductive ants are found at windows, they probably came from an indoor nest."

•Check areas where the wood may be wet or damp because of poor ventilation, a leaking roof, defective flashing, overflowing or leaking gutters and downspouts, condensation from water pipes, or leaking bathtubs, showers and appliances. "Look for piles of coarse, stringy wood particles, dead insect parts and other debris sifting from cracks in the siding, behind moldings, in the basement and attic and under porches," Jacobs says. "Because carpenter ants don't feed on wood, excavated particles are dumped outside the nest. Satellite colonies within homes sometimes can be located by listening for rustling sounds in walls and ceilings using a stethoscope or inverted water glass."

These signs determine if the insect infesting your wood is a carpenter ant or a termite:

Ant
Termite
Unlike termites, carpenter ants don't feed on wood, but they often nest in deteriorating wood.
To reduce ant problems:
• Replace water-damaged or decaying wood
• Seal openings and cracks in buildings and foundations
• Keep all firewood or waste wood at least 100 feet from buildings
• If needed, apply sprays once a month around the exteriors of foundations (from April through Sept.)
Carpenter ants are dark brown or black in color
Additional graphics and information available on the Internet at aginfo.psu.edu/psp

•Remove stumps, logs and waste wood within 100 yards of the building. Do not allow vegetation, especially evergreen shrubs and trees, to be in contact with the house.

•Store firewood away from the house, bringing it into the house only when needed.

•Keep wooden parts of the house dry by making needed repairs to roofs, flashing, gutters and downspouts. Replace any water-damaged, decaying wood. "Carpenter ants usually won't infest wood that is sound and has a moisture content of less than 15 percent," Jacobs explains.

•Seal holes through which pipes and wires enter the house.

•Spraying insecticide along baseboards and around doors and windows may stop ants from foraging in those areas temporarily. But because the nests often are in walls, it won't eliminate the problem. "Commercial baits aren't very effective for carpenter ants," Jacobs says. "Your best bet is to spray around the exterior of the foundation, which provides a barrier to ant movement. Sprays should be applied at least once a month from April through September for most areas of Pennsylvania.

"Use only products manufactured and approved for this purpose and carefully follow the instructions and precautions on the label," Jacobs warns.

Jacobs says if you prefer to hire professional help to get rid of carpenter ants, first get estimates from at least three reputable pest control companies.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Cumberland Co. Horse Club

The Cumberland County Light Horse and Pony Club held their monthly meeting on February 23. The meeting was held at Green Ridge Village, Newville, at 7 p.m. Nikki McCaffrey called the meeting to order.

The meeting's program was horse health care and worming. Janet Holsten, senior horsemanship leader, had arranged for a guest speaker from Pfizer Fantasia Animal Health. The speaker, Mr. Shaverlson, spoke about the effects of worming and an everyday wormer.

After the program, the treasurer's and secretary's reports were read. Carrie McLaughlin and Michelle Thomas led the club in the 4-H pledge and a song. Following book group meetings and refreshments, the next meeting was announced for March 22 at 7 p.m. at Green Ridge Village.

Lebanon Co. Horse Club

The Latigo 4-H Horse Club discussed upcoming fundraisers at its February 11 meeting at Hideaway Hills. The club plans to sell pretzels and baked goods at a horse auction in April. Members are also encouraged to sell 4-H cookies to help out the club and county programs.

During the meeting, the club also announced that each member will be doing a presentation on a horse-related topic at one of this year's meetings. Members practiced communications skills by working on an activity called "Talking Horse." The club also announced that all county horse club members are invited to attend the horse social on Friday, March 24.

They want to provide a corn meal recipe brochure to those who buy the stone mill-ground corn meal from them. Send recipes to the society in care of Susan Knaub, EASE&OES, P.O. Box 652, Red Lion, PA 17356.

QUESTION — Ruth Lockwood from Pine Bush, NY, wants a recipe for homemade liverwurst.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, wants a recipe for Italian Riccota Bread, not using yeast.

QUESTION — Myrtle Sorge, Sicklerville, N.J., is searching for a recipe to make kidney pudding in casings.

QUESTION — Trina Boitnott, Boones Mill, Va., wants a recipe for pecan jelly and other nut-flavored jellies. She tasted pecan jelly in a specialty shop in Virginia. The jelly tasted exactly like pecan pie in a jar.

QUESTION — Sandy Truckner, Avonmore, is looking for a recipe that had been printed in a children's cookbook that was popular in the late 1950s or early 1960s, where she lived in northeast Ohio. Called Eskimo Cookies, the no bake chocolate cookie did not contain rolled oats.

QUESTION — A reader wants a recipe to make chicken chow mein for 50-100 people.

QUESTION — A reader wants to know if it's possible to make puffed wheat or puffed rice without much financial investment.

QUESTION — Phyllis Stauffer, Carlisle, wants a recipe that Little Caesar's used to have. It was a buttery dip with herbs that they served with breadsticks.

ANSWER — A reader requested a recipe to make scrapple. Thanks to Dorothy Stoms, Deerfield, N.J., for sending recipes.

Scrapple

1½ cups yellow corn meal
½ teaspoon salt
1 pound ground pork sausage
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ teaspoon dried sage leaves
Butter
10¾-ounce can condensed chicken broth, undiluted

In small bowl, blend together corn meal and 1 cup water. In large saucepan, combine pork sausage, sage, salt, parsley, and chicken broth.

Gradually stir in two cups water, being careful to separate sausage into fine pieces. Bring to boiling.

Slowly add corn meal to the boiling mixture, stirring constantly with wire whisk. Reduce heat; simmer, uncovered, 15 minutes.

Turn into 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Cool, refrigerate, covered.

To serve, turn out of pan; cut into slices ¼-inch thick. Saute in hot butter skillet until golden brown. Serves 8. Serve with pancake syrup.

ANSWER — A reader requested recipes to make sausage and pork roll. Thanks to Dorothy Stoms, Deerfield, N.J., for sending recipes. This is a 100-year-old recipe.

Vermont Homemade Sausage

1 pound ground pork
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sage

Mix together ingredients well. Shape into patties. Place into freezer bags and freeze.

Fruited Pork Rolls

½ cup light or dark raisins
1½-2 pounds thinly-cut pork steak
1½ cups soft stale bread crumbs
1 cup chopped apple
1½ teaspoons instant minced onion or 2 tablespoons minced raw onion
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon thyme
2 tablespoons water
1 tablespoon shortening
1 cup chicken broth

Rinse and dry raisins. Trim any excess fat from meat; pound meat, then cut into 5 or 6 servings pieces. Combine bread crumbs, raisins, apple, onion, salt, thyme, and water. Center each piece of meat with stuffing, roll up and fasten with string. Brown in heated shortening. Add broth, cover and cook slowly until meat is very tender about 45-50 minutes. Skim any excess fat from pan drippings; thicken remaining juices slightly with a little corn starch mixed with water, if desired. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

ANSWER — A reader sent this recipe requested by S.Kanady, Mickleton, N.J. The recipe is a bit vague. Perhaps the reader who sent in the recipe or someone else could send in complete instructions for canning.

Pickled Green Tomatoes

Put small plum tomatoes or small green tomatoes in one or two-quart jars.

2 parts water
1 part white vinegar
4 teaspoons Kosher salt
1 teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon basil
1 tablespoon pickling spice
1 small clove garlic
1 grape leaf

Put grape leaf on bottom of jar and add remaining ingredients.

ANSWER — Thanks to Thelma Hostetter, Annville, for sending a recipe for potato filling.

Potato Filling

6 large potatoes, cooked, mashed
3 slices bread, toasted
1 large onion, diced
4 tablespoons butter
½ cup diced celery
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
Black pepper, to taste
3 tablespoons parsley

Saute onion and celery in butter. Add toasted, cubed bread to mixture and saute lightly. Add to mashed potatoes. Add milk, eggs, salt, pepper, and parsley. Mix well.

Put in casserole dish sprayed with vegetable spray. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

Easter Pie

1¾ cups cold milk
2 (3.4-ounces) packages instant vanilla pudding
6-ounce can frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed
8-ounces whipped topping
6-ounce graham cracker pie crust

Pour milk into a large bowl. Add pudding and whisk 30 seconds. Add lemonade concentrate. Beat with whisk 30 seconds until thick. Stir in whipped topping. Spoon into crust. Chill at least four hours. Garnish with paper-thin sliced lemon.

ANSWER — For readers who are looking for some good recipes for bread machines, here are some from Mickie Schweighofer, Quakertown. She recommends "The Bread Machine Cookbook," with favorite recipes from 100 kitchens by Donna Rathmell German, Bristol Publishing Enterprises Inc., San Leandro, Calif.

Cracked Wheat Bread

⅔ cup boiling water
⅔ cup cracked wheat

ORANGE-CARAMEL FLAN

1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup water
3 cups granulated sugar, divided
1 pound cream cheese, softened
¾ teaspoon vanilla extract
4 tablespoons honey
8 eggs
1 quart orange juice
Fresh berries, as needed
4 cups orange sections
Toasted sliced almonds, as needed

In a saucepan, combine lemon juice, water, and two cups sugar, bring to a boil and simmer until the liquid becomes a very pale amber color. Remove pan from heat and distribute the caramelized mixture evenly among 12 seven-ounce ramekins (2 tablespoons each); allow to harden at room temperature.

To prepare the custard, cream the cheese, add vanilla, honey, and remaining sugar; blend. Add eggs, one at a time; blend and then incorporate orange juice slowly to prevent lumps from forming. Distribute custard equally among the 12 ramekins (5-ounces liquid in each). Place all into a bain maries with ½-inch water and bake at 325 degrees for 80 minutes (until knife inserted in center comes out clean). Remove the ramekins from the oven and cool on a rack. When room temperature, place in refrigerator. Chill until firm.

To serve, run a knife along the inside edge of ramekin, invert plate over the ramekin, invert both the plate and ramekin and remove the ramekin. Garnish with each flan with fresh berries, toasted almonds, and ⅓ cup orange sections. Yield: 12 servings.

ORANGE CUSTARD PIE

1 cup skim milk
2 large egg yolks
½ cup sugar (scant)
3 tablespoons corn starch
1 packet unflavored gelatin
Prepared graham cracker pie crust
2 oranges, sectioned
Confectioners' sugar (optional)

In heavy saucepan, combine juice, milk, yolks, sugar, corn starch, and gelatin until blended. Cook, stirring over medium heat until mixture is smooth and begins to boil. Remove from heat, and pour into pie crust when cool. Chill for at least one hour or until firm.

Before serving: For pith-free orange sections, place unpeeled orange on cutting board. With sharp paring knife, slice off the top and bottom of orange, cutting deep enough so no white pith shows. Sit the orange on its bottom, and working downwards, shave off the sides of the oranges, cutting deep enough to remove all pith.

When the orange is completely peeled, cut between membranes that divide segments so that again, no pith or membrane shows. Lay orange sections on top of pie in concentric circles and serve.

Just before serving, sprinkle orange segments heavily with confectioners' sugar. Place 4 to 6 inches under preheated broiler until browned.

Penn State Pointers ► Hearty Potted Plants

Graphics / Illustration Tom Laird College of Agricultural Sciences © Penn State 2000

☐ Isolate New Plants
Before purchasing, carefully inspect plants for insects, mites and diseases. Regardless of the results, isolate new plants from your other plants for at least two weeks.

☐ Prepare the Ideal Soil
Pasteurize any garden soil before adding it to the mix Add 10 percent sand or vermiculite to potting soil to improve drainage and texture.

☐ Maintain Adequate Moisture Levels
Potted plants must remain moist once they're established. Even a short dry period can affect the plant and its roots.

☐ Meet the Plant's Environmental Needs
Research your plants' light requirements—and avoid sudden changes in light intensity and temperatures when moving plants inside or outside.

☐ Selectively Fertilize Your Plants
Fertilize potted plants lightly and only during their active growth stage when they need the additional nutrients. Never apply fertilizer while a plant is in bloom.

☐ Periodically Flush Out Impurities
Leaching is done by adding rain or soft water in an amount four to five times the soil volume to flush any mineral salts out the pot's drain hole. Remove the pot from standing water after leaching is complete.

Notes For Dads

Teaching Problem Solving

One of the most valuable skills you can pass on to your child is the ability to deal with problems and conflicts as they arise. They are a fact of life from toddlerhood to adulthood.

How can Dad contribute to helping children resolve problems?

Children learn what they live. Research has shown that what a parent does has a much greater effect on a child than what he tells his child to do.

In essence 'actions speak louder than words.'

When a dad encounters a child who has a problem (or whose behavior is viewed by him as a problem), how is it handled?

I asked a dad to share his philosophy of problem solving and conflict resolution.

He had to think a minute.

Is this an issue we consciously think about? We need to.

When you realize that your approach to the problem will determine how your child reacts to problems or confrontations in the future, the answer acquires great importance. In our society of road rage, children killing other children, teen suicide, drug usage and violence, will your son or daughter have the tools to find constructive ways to resolve differences?

Dad, you are one of your child's first and most influential teachers. Do you get angry and strike out when someone does or says something you don't like? Do you scream obscenities or insults when things don't go your way? Do you use drugs or alcohol to numb the pain? Do you intimidate or force others (including your child) to do what you want?

The dad I interviewed shared some important points:

1. Get emotionally detached before attempting to resolve the situation. We cannot think clearly, or hear another's point of view, when we are upset. The parent and the child may need a cooling down period before discussing the problem. Providing a 'time-out' for a child can accomplish this goal. For the parent, imagine a friend or stranger came to you with this particular problem so you can view the issues in the third person and look at it objectively.

2. Find out the other person's point of view. This requires good listening skills like eye contact, attentiveness and paraphrasing what you hear them saying. Showing that you understand the thoughts and feelings of another defuses anger and creates a positive atmosphere for moving to the next step.

3. Analyze the situation. Explore suggestions together. In conflict, try to find a middle ground. Examine the values involved. How important is the issue in the larger scheme of things?

4. What is an acceptable solution? Sometimes a compromise is in order. Sometimes an impartial third party is the best mediator. If two siblings are squabbling, that could be you, Dad!

So, take the time, dad, or grandpa, to teach your child the skills of problem solving and give them a gift that will last a lifetime!

Then your child, when he grows up, may be sending you greeting cards that thank you for always being there-caring, listening and guiding.

Be prepared, for he or she will continue to call you for advice. What a compliment!

In order to teach these skills, taking a workshop or reading a book may be helpful. There are many good ones out there. Parent Effectiveness Training by Thomas Gordon is an excellent resource. Look for something that includes active or reflective listening, 'I'-messages and problem solving. You and your child will be glad you did.

It's A Buggy World

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

Imagine a world without any insects.

Hooray! No bees or wasps that sting. No flies in our kitchen. No ants at our picnic or fleas on our dog or cats.

But wait!

Who would pollinate our apple trees and sweet corn?

What would the fish in the streams eat?

We wouldn't have milk to drink because insects pollinate the alfalfa and clover we feed as hay to dairy cows.

We need insects! In fact, our world couldn't exist without insects.

We know that bees pollinate crops. Let's look at some other beneficial bugs from around the world.

How about munching and crunching a handful of roasted termites like they eat in South Africa. We can gather the eggs of the water boatmen to make a Mexican cake. Do fried caterpillars and chocolate-covered ants sound good to you?

The crunch when eating an insect probably comes from its exoskeleton, the skeleton on the outside of its body. Insects have no bones. The exoskeleton can't grow as a child's bones grow either. When the exoskeleton becomes too tight, the insect grows a new one and then sheds the outer one in a process called molting.

Did you know that the "dairy farmer ants" milk aphids! When the aphids walk by, the ants gently stroke their backs, causing the aphids to secrete a honeydew liquid which the ants then eat!

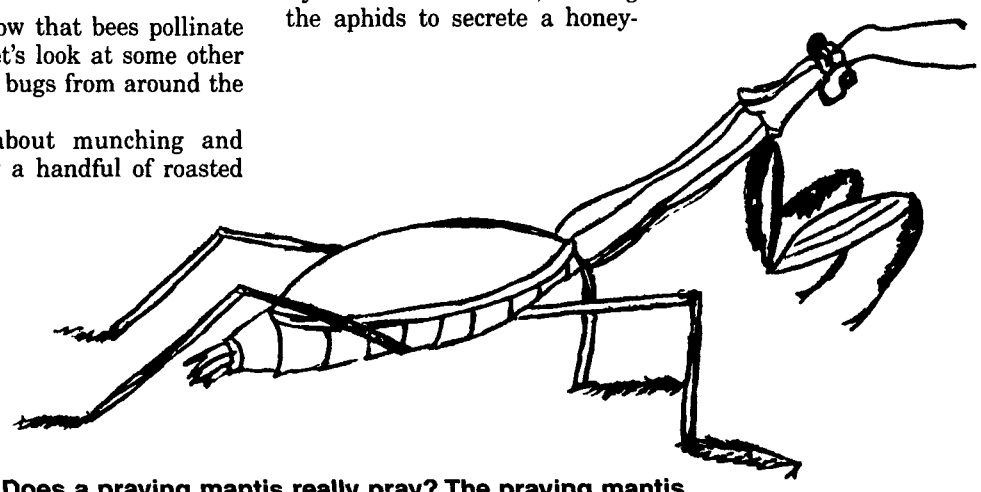
To learn more about insects, read a "World Book" encyclopedia.

Buggy Body Parts

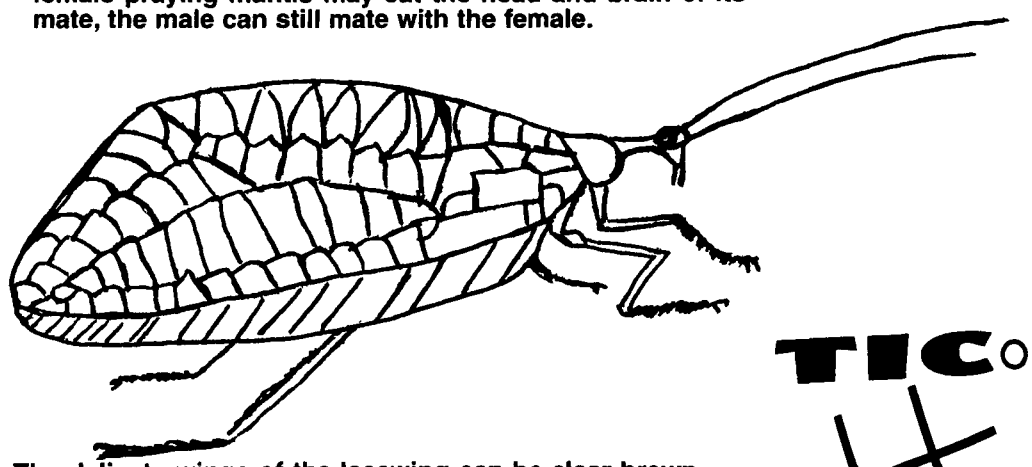
Not every bug that scuttles across the sidewalk or lands on a flower is an insect. Is a spider an insect? Why or why not? Read on, and then decide for yourself.

Insects have three main body parts: the head, thorax, and abdomen.

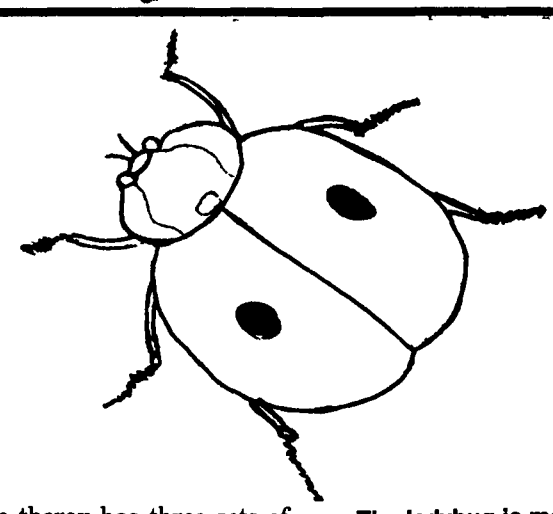
The head contains the antennae for smelling and feeling; the mouthparts for chewing or sucking; and compound eyes that are usually made up of thousands of lenses.



Does a praying mantis really pray? The praying mantis usually lives in tropical or warm climates. In 1899, someone brought the European Mandid to Rochester, New York, and it has been spreading through the Eastern United States ever since. They eat other insects. Even though a female praying mantis may eat the head and brain of its mate, the male can still mate with the female.



The delicate wings of the lacewing can be clear brown or green. Some lacewings give off a strong odor. They eat aphids.



The thorax has three sets of legs. The legs are shaped to serve a purpose - swimming, carrying pollen, jumping, digging, or tasting food.

If an insect has one set of wings, they're attached to the thorax. If they have a second set, that second set is attached to the abdomen. The abdomen houses the internal organs.

Now go find a spider. Is it an insect? How many body parts does it have? How many legs?

You'll discover that a spider runs on eight legs and has two main body parts. You won't see any antennae or wings on a spider either, so they're now insects.

Fun Facts

- Insects, birds, and bats are the only animals that have wings.
- Dragonflies are the fastest flying insects (up to 60 mph).
- Nearly 1 million kinds of animals have been named by scientists. More than 800,000 of these are insects.
- Seven to ten thousand insects are discovered by scientists every year.
- Some insect noises can be heard up to a mile away.
- Insects have no lungs.
- Insects have enormous strength.

The ladybug is more heroine than lady! When the scale insect pest almost destroyed California's fruit crop in the late 1800's ladybugs were shipped in to eat the pests and save the crop.

- A flea can broad-jump 13 inches.
- There are four times as many insects as all other kinds of animals combined.
- The fairy flea is about one-hundredth of an inch long while the Goliath beetle can grow to more than four inches long.
- The Atlas moth has a wingspan of about 10 inches.
- Some insects can live in hot springs, frozen streams, crude oil, and embalming solutions.
- Of the 800,000 species of insects, less than one percent are harmful.
- How far can butterflies fly on food energy stored in their bodies? 100 miles.
- Insects eyes are always open. They don't have eyelids.
- The growth cycle from egg to adult in some insects is only a few days. For others, it's 17 years.
- Adult mayflies live only a few hours or days. Queen termites may live for more than 50 years.

West Snyder FFA

The second annual ACES (Agricultural Cooperation Establishes Success) Leadership Conference was held on Saturday, February 19 through Sunday, February 20 at the Marriott Hotel in Harrisburg. The conference was sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association of the FFA. Andy McClay, a former National FFA Officer, served as the Keynote speaker for the event. Andy motivated students to set their goals and work hard to achieve them.

West Snyder FFA members who attended the conference included Melissa McWilliams, Charles Kessler, Kate Heeter, Jessica Walter, Phaedra Wray, Hannah Etzler, Heidi Good, Heather Hollenbach, Sandy Opdyke, and Daphne Wagner. Maria Trego, Pennsylvania FFA State Reporter and a graduate of the West Snyder FFA Chapter, also attended.

While at the conference, students learned their role as an FFA member, developed team building skills, and attended workshops on goal setting, time management, cooperation, and citizenship. This conference was designed to improve leadership skills and self-esteem of the individual FFA member.

Cedar Crest FFA

The Cedar Crest FFA chapter has been identified as a national winner of the National FFA Organization's 2000 Fall Commodity Marketing Activity. The Commodity Marketing Activity (CMA) is a biannual activity that is conducted for a six week period in the spring and fall of each year.

CMA integrates the classroom with real life experience, which helps students gain a practical knowledge of the business world. Teams create a model farm, which may consist of: corn, soybeans, wheat, soybean meal, cattle, hogs, cotton, orange juice, and sugar. Team members decide when to buy and sell these products to achieve the greatest economic gain.

Orders are called to a commodity broker and the trade is recorded. Current prices and market conditions are utilized, however no money is exchanged. Each FFA chapter may have up to four teams consisting of an unlimited number of team members.

Winners are determined by combining the team's trading and final exam scores. The team, from each participating state, with the highest combined total will be presented with the State Winner's plaque. A cash award will be given to the team with the highest overall score in the nation.

The commodity Marketing Group Activity is sponsored by the Stewart-Peterson Advisory Group, the Chicago Mercantile *exchange, and Data Transmis*sion Network Corporation as a special project of the National FFA Foundation, Inc.

Locally, the Cedar Crest FFA's teams placed first and second in the state. The first place team consisted of Tim Gettle, Erin Templin, Mike Sensenig, and Kendra Reist. The second place team consisted of Jason Shirk, Amanda Martin, and Missy Walborn.

Recently the state FFA record book contest was held at Penn State University. Over 450 books were entered. The judges scored the books on accuracy, neatness, and completeness. Chet Brubaker from Cedar Crest won the Lebanon County Keystone Farm Credit award for the best record book in Lebanon County He will receive a savings bond for this achievement.

The Cedar Crest medal winners were as follows: Chet Brubaker, Richard Roof, Billie Jo Atkins, Jason Shirk, Tim Gettle, Nate Artz, Jeremy Balsbaugh, Joel Krall, Amanda Waltermyer, Hanna Bomgardner, Jared Zimmerman, Dan Eberly, Sarah Krall, Beth Kreider, Hanna Bomgardner, Jared Zimmerman, Amanda Martin, Sarah Krall, Rachael Krall, Nikki Yate, Amanda Waltermyer, Joel Krall, Billie Jo Atkins, Jeremy Balsbaugh, and Erick Rheinheimer.

Dairy Of Distinction Seeks Nice Looking Farms

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Do you take pride in maintaining your dairy farm? Does your farm project an attractive, wholesome image to consumers? If so, the Dairy of Distinction Program of Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, and Vermont is looking for you.

The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program that oversees the Distinction program was first started in 1983 in Pennsylvania. The Dairy of Distinction recognize the hard work and dedication of the farmers who maintain attractive farms.

The purpose of the program is to instill a greater sense of confidence in the wholesomeness of dairy products, thus increasing sales.

Farms that apply are judged on the roadside appearance of building, grounds, and surroundings, since this is what our dairy product consumers observe as they drive by the farm.

The cleanliness of the barnyard, feed areas, and manure management are all areas taken into consideration when a team of judges takes a look at your farm from the road. Your milk cooperative or handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality.

Judging is conducted during the month of May. Award winners are announced during local June Dairy Month activities. To qualify for consideration, you must be actively dairy farming and shipping milk.

Del-Jame Farm near Hamburg in Berks County is a 1999 Dairy of Distinction winner. Since the program began in 1987 in Pennsylvania, more than 700 farms have been given this farm beautification award. Entries are now being received for the year 2000 program. Take time to enter your farm now.

Applications are available for Pennsylvania dairy farms from Michael O'Conner, 324 Henning Building, Dept. of Dairy and Animal Science, Penn State University, University Park, PA 16802. Phone: (814) 863-3913.

New York State applications are available from Carol Keene-Ainsille, 3993 Jordonville Road, Jordonville, NY 13361. Phone: (315) 858-2770.

For New Jersey applications, contact Joy Ricker, 91 Beemer Road, Sussex, NJ 07461. Phone: (973) 875-4803.

For Vermont applications, send to Elisa Clancy, Vermont Department of Agriculture, 16 State Street, Drawer 20, Montpelier, VT 05620-2901. Phone: (802) 828-3835.

All applications must be completed and returned to your respective state secretary by April 15, 2000.

The Dairy of Distinction program is financed in Pennsylvania by dairy farmers through the American Dairy Association & Dairy Council Mid East and the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program in cooperation with many local agribusiness organizations. The program is conducted with advice and help from the Penn State Cooperative Extension.

HOW IS YOUR FARM SCORED?

Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program Inc.

Awards will be based upon neatness, good maintenance, and other factors that can be controlled by the farmer. Attractive background scenery should not be weighted heavily in judging. All judging observations should be made from a vehicle at one or more points on an adjacent public highway. If the farm is off the road, the judging will take place from the nearest lane. Judging should give equal consideration to old wood construction and new construction of metal or concrete block.

The award program may be used for subsequent advertising or promotion activities for dairy products or dairy farming. Farmers who apply for the award agree that if selected they will cooperate with these promotion activities and make all reasonable efforts to maintain both the exterior and interior of heir properties in an acceptable manner.

HOW THE APPLICATION WORKS

The owner or operator of the dairy farm should sign the application and send it to the Dairy of Distinction state secretary by April 15.

HOW THE JUDGING WORKS

Judging teams will visit farms during the month of May. Farms will be judged each year as the award is presented on an annual basis. Any dairy failing to maintain appearance standards will be asked to remove their signs. The Dairy of Distinction signs remain the property of the committee, not the property of the dairy farmer. All farms must achieve a compliance score of 90 percent on their Dairy of Distinction score card. Your cooperative or milk handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality.

RULES FOR THE DAIRY OF DISTINCTION AWARD

1) The Dairy of Distinction sign remains property of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Committee.
2) The post and bracket shall be supplied by and maintained by the dairy farmer. It is suggested that a wood post 4' x 4' x 12' or iron pipe 2' x 12' can be used. Posts or pipe should be installed and maintained in true vertical position with 8' above ground. Top of the bracket should be lower than six inches from the top of the post.
3) Signs shall be displayed in front of the dairy at roadside. An attractive post or bracket, or other frame, shall be used to display the sign. No more than three signs should be displayed from the sign frame or post, and all shall be of a style, general size, and quality comparable to the Dairy of Distinction sign. Sign should be secured on all sides to avoid wind damages.
4) Signs shall not be moved to other premises. New owners of a Dairy of Distinction farm must apply to retain the sign
5) Replacement of damaged signs is at the committee's discretion.
6) No producer shall be charged with scoring or sign expenses.
7) Judges' decisions will be final.
8) Judging will take place between May 1st and May 31st.
9) Farms awarded a Dairy of Distinction sign in previous years will be judged between April 1st and April 30th. If they do not qualify, they will be rejudged between May 1st and May 31st so they have the opportunity to keep the sign.
10) Farms that do not requalify will return the sign to their regional Dairy of Distinction committee.

Dairy of Distinction
2000 Pennsylvania Application

PURPOSE OF PROGRAM

Attractive dairy farms give the consumer greater confidence in the wholesomeness of milk and stimulate milk sales which encourages public support for the dairy industry The award gives recognition to the dairy farmer for maintaining a well-kept farmstead

ELIGIBILITY

All Northeast dairy farms producing milk for sale are invited to submit an application for the award Dairies receiving the 10 highest scores in each of the 21 districts will receive an 18" x 24" Dairy of Distinction sign to be displayed in front of their farm

Berks County Dairy 4-H'ers Honored

VIRGINVILLE (Berks Co.) — The Berks County 4-H Dairy Club banquet was recently held at the Virginville Grange Hall to recognize 4-Hers, leaders, and coaches for their hard work and dedication in 1999.

The two top awards presented during the evening were the Charles D. Care Memorial Award and the Joyce Miller 4-H Career Advancement Award.

Three received the Charles D. Care Memorial Award for the Rookie of the Year. The first recipient was Jason Rice, son of Dave and Beth Rice of Kempton. Jason is an active member of the North Berks 4-H Dairy Club and has participated in dairy bowl and other contests, shown at local fairs, and helped with community service projects.

The second recipient was Melissa Schuler, the daughter of David and Eileen Schuler of Fleetwood and a member of the Eastern Berks 4-H Dairy Club. According the club, Melissa could always be found volunteering to help with club activities, participating in dairy judging, and showing her dairy animals.

Brittni Treichler, the daughter of Keith and Suzanne Treichler of Kutztown, was the third recipient of the Rookie of the Year award. She is a first-year member of the Eastern Berks 4-H Dairy Club. Brittni participated in all of her club's community service projects and participated in dairy judging and dairy bowl.

The Joyce Miller 4-H Career Advancement Award was awarded to Brandon Treichler, son of Keith and Suzanne Treichler of Kutztown. Brandon is a member of the Easter Berks 4-H Dairy Club and is a freshman at Penn State University, University Park. Throughout his 4-H years, Brandon has participated in local, state, and national 4-H dairy activities. In 1998, he was of four 4-Hers selected to represent Pennsylvania at the National 4-H Dairy Conference in Madison, Wisconsin. To Brandon, being a 4-H teen leader for five years has been is most meaningful experience because he was able to help other 4-Hers.

During the evening, Gary Kurtz of Fleetwood was honored with a Bonnie Mohr painting for his years of service to the 4-H dairy program in Berks County. Gary volunteered as a dairy 4-H leader for 17 years from 1983 and 1990, served as the dairy council president for 12 years from 1985 to 1997, and served as the dairy council treasurer from 1998 to 1999.

Project book awards were presented to the following members. In the large herd category, award winners were Megan Phillips, Megan Schantz, and Jill Vail. In the small herd category, winners included Aaron Davis, George Brown, and Melanie Bicksler.

Dairy herd journal awards were presented to the following members. In the large herd category, Melissa Schuler, Jesse Bitler, Brandon Treichler, and Trisha Geist. Small herd winners were Brittni Treichler, Marisa Koinski, and Keri Houp.

Office book awards were presented to Keri Houp for the treasurer's book at Eastern Berks Club and Megan Schantz for the scrapbook at Eastern Berks Club.

Many other members were also honored for participating in 4-H programs and events during 1999. Michelle McMichael, 1999-2000 Berks County Dairy Princess, presented her skit during the banquet, and Ashley Mohn, 1999-2000 Berks County Little Dairy Miss, gave a poem thanking the dairy cow for dairy products.

Debbie Dietrich, extension agent, presented a Bonnie Mohr painting to 4-H leader Gary Kurtz for his dedication to the 4-H program. Dairy Council President Linda Youse helped to present the award.

4-H Capital Days

Ever wondered about the inside workings of government agencies like the Game Commission, the Department of Education, or the State Police?

If you are a 4-H member 15 years or older, you are invited to attend Pennsylvania 4-H Capital Days on May 1-2. Capital Days in an educational, two-day program sponsored each year by Penn State Cooperative Extension. The purpose of the citizenship program is to increase 4-H members' understand of the roles and functions of state-level government.

Susquehanna County is looking for two 4-H members to participate in Capital Days. Registration must be submitted by March 17. The cost is $105 per delegate, which includes meals, a T-shirt, and Monday night's lodging.

If you are interested in attending Capital Days and are from Susquehanna County, contact Joann Kowalski at 278-1158.

Susquehanna Swine Club

The Baconeers Swine Club held its first meeting of the new millennium on Saturday, February 12. The main activities of the night were paperwork and electing officers.

After saying the pledges, the whole club voted and elected officers. Results were Brian Dana, president; Miranda Herbert, vice president; Ronalyn Corbin, secretary; Rachel Weaver, treasurer; Denise Hardisky, club reporter.

The club discussed fund raiser options and finding a reputable swine dealer from which to purchase pigs. Club leader Ann Corbin announced the tagging date for pigs would be Saturday, April 29, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Harford Fair Grounds.

Corbin also reported that there would be a clinic on picking your marking hog and marketing lamb by extension agent David Castrogiovannia. He will also be leading a chapter 3 swine clinic, which all second year 4-H swine members are encouraged to attend.

Miranda and Brendan Herbert presented the educational activity, "How To Pick Your Market Hog." Following the presentation, Brian Dana assumed his presidency and announced that the next meeting will be held on March 26 at 2 p.m. in the Claverack Building. John and David Corbin agreed to present the educational activity for that meeting.

Mother's Activities Never End

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) – Kathy Gnagey of Hays Park Drive has varied interests besides being a wife and mother of four children living on a wonderful farm.

She is a certified nursing assistant employed at a nursing home, and one whose gentle voice speaks kindly to her patients.

Often, she is in the barn at milking time., assisting David Gnagey, her husband, or training members of the Horse and Rider 4-H Club where she is a leader, about handling horses and horse health.

"I love horses," she reports. As a girl she would sit fascinatedly, for hours watching the muscular Belgians pull massive logs out of the woods where her dad worked at a sawmill. If not found there, she likely was off to some pasture where she could watch horses the Amish owned.

"I always found a way to be around horses," she said.

The family's horse stock consists of five Appaloosas and one Quarter/Morgan.

Sarah, 18; Andrea, 16; Adam, 13; and Troy, 7, have been taught the family works together, attends church together and opens its home to newcomers. They have been encouraged to embrace new experiences without fear, as Sarah recently did for a month when she accompanied a service group to Germany and Poland.

The teen in summer is eligible to participate in the National 4-H Exchange trip to California and the family expects to host a Japanese girl Andrea's age this summer.

Three days after last Christmas four visitors from South Africa arrived at their home through a church project and Gnagey was a bundle of nerves.

"I couldn't sleep the night they came," she recalled.

The entire experience turned out wonderful. The guests spoke English and had no inhibitions about just being carefree, which often sent the household into peals of fun.

On the third floor of the big 1870 farmhouse they installed the guests in the remodeled bedrooms, which had a bathroom between them.

"They had the whole third floor to themselves," Gnagey said.

She described the infamous and hilarious snowmobile ride taken by the eager males of the party.

"We didn't have snow," she said, "but they rode snowmobile on the grass for hours. They rode so fast, I couldn't even get their picture."

It seemed each time she tried bringing them into focus in the camera viewfinder, they were already past. She had to give it up.

The older gentleman was determined to own a pair of Levi jeans, a status symbol in his land.

"I also took them shopping to the Dollar Store and they thought they were in heaven," Gnagey said, about the very low price of goods.

One myth they held that people in the U.S. don't work hard, was effectively dismissed by Gnagey who unconsciously appeared covered with the typical dirt, grime and manure stains any farmer acquires on a typical day.

"It was really something to bring two worlds together," Gnagey observed. E-mail keeps them in touch.

On a porch rocking chair, Kathy Gnagey enjoys a breather of a warm late winter evening. The very small, old fashioned brick of the 1870 farmhouse are visible behind her.

Gnagey says the most significant change in the farm's history is he and his wife are the first descendants who had to buy it.

About 300 of the 560 acres are tillable for corn and hay the primary crops raised for their own livestock – 100 milking cows, 25 dry cows, and 160 heifers.

"David is the operator," said the wife, but we do bills together and I help with the milking."

The children are always in the barn as well, feeding calves and Adam, especially, is picking up greater responsibilities like driving tractor.

They won't forget how tornadoes hit the area on May 31 and June 2, 1998.

In view of surrounding mountains, the vulnerability to such a strike seemed ridiculous to most people.

Gnagey and the kids, who were by themselves at the time, fled to the basement to huddle and pray after moments earlier, being transfixed as they saw the thing coming soundlessly toward them.

Later, back upstairs, they found shattered window glass everywhere and half the house roof gone. Relieved, they saw the barn was intact and no animals died. Their neighbors, however, didn't fare nearly so well.

"A house that is organized, then not," observed the homemaker, "feels like it's not your home." The family spent the night in their vacation camper.

Rather than vegetables, her perennial flower garden is Gnagey's pride and joy. "I work in it as soon as the weather is nice enough to get down on my hands and knees," she said.

Despite an allergy, she adores the smell of mown grass and tends the lawn, herself.

Crocheting and stenciling crafts, she said, are reserved for wintertime.

Her perennial flower garden is Kathy Gnagey's pride and joy, although it is too early in the season to look good. She is examining the poppies.

Doing Business from your Home

If your household is like mine, you can always use a little extra money. It seems that coats are forever wearing out, and shoes are being outgrown. While the quickest solution might be to get a job (or a second job), leaving the home and working according to someone else's schedule isn't an idea that appeals to everyone. For many people, starting their own business–a home based business–is a very attractive option.

Home-based businesses appeal to people for a variety of reasons. Many types of products and services can be provided from the home setting. Much of the equipment that was once found only in a large business setting (like the FAX and computer) is becoming part of the home scene. Many adults find themselves sandwiched between two generations, both needing attention and time, making it necessary to balance income/work and family time. Probably first on many entrepreneurs' lists, however, is that setting up a business in the home means fewer overhead dollars than rental/purchase of a commercial location.

If you think a home business might be for you, how should you get started? First, come up with an idea that might be a good business idea. The product or service should be something about which you know (or are willing to learn). Your business may be related to a hobby that you have, or, for farm families, it may involve adding value to vegetables or fruits already grown/produced on the farm. It may involve some new skill that you have always wanted to develop, that you will learn before going into business.

Once you have come up with an idea, look hard at it. This hard look is often called a feasibility study. You need to see if the idea is "do-able," marketable, and profitable.

A "do-able" idea is a legal one. Check with your township, borough, or city government to find out whether zoning allows you to conduct your business in your home. Each municipality is different, and some neighboring businesses may have been "grandfathered in," which means that they existed before zoning was put in place, and are allowed to operate, contrary to an ordinance. Do not assume that land zoned for agriculture can be used for all businesses. Check it out! Find out about any special licenses or registrations that are needed to operate–and who issues them. For example, food product businesses must be inspected and registered by the PA Department of Agriculture.

When looking at marketability, try to find out who would be most likely to buy your product or service–also called your target market. Find out how many people living in your area fall into this group. As you learn about your target market, try to find out how many other people make exactly what you want to make. In his book, "Sell What You Sow," Eric Gibson says that is is just as important that a newly-developed product be different from other products already on the market, as it is that the entrepreneur choose something they enjoy producing. At this stage, you need to decide if the market can bear another maker of strawberry jam.

Finally, make sure that you will be able to make a profit with this idea. Some businesses require that you purchase equipment and materials to get things going, so that it is impossible to make a profit in the first six months, year, or two years. However, you must be able to see the light at the end of the tunnel, a time when you will make money, after all the expenses are paid, for an idea to be a good business idea.

If you find you have a good business idea, remember that you don't have to go it alone. There are many sources of help. Cooperative Extension, local college business departments, and the Small Business Administration's Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) all provide free information. Throughout the year, Cooperative Extensions across the state will be offering Food for Profit classes for people who want to set up food businesses. Call your county office to see when the next session will be in your area.

Taking time to gather information will be the first big step so that you can, on your own time, in your own home, take a good business idea and make it into a source of extra income and personal satisfaction.

It all starts with a question: "Is a home based business for me?"

Update From the Pa. FFA Association

The mid-winter convention has successfully come and gone, and thus marks a little over half of the year for us as state officers.

It has been an exciting year full of surprises, good times, laughter, tears, and most of all, the members.

We have attended many events, such as the Big E in Massachusetts, National Convention in Louisville, Ky., and to events at more than 100 chapters from throughout the state.

The chapter visit tour is in high gear and we are nearly finished. We've all had a great time visiting and getting to know all of you in your own home chapters.

Just because our year is half over doesn't mean we don't have many exciting activities left. As listed, SLLC is approaching in March. Located in Harrisburg, SLLC teaches how a bill is passed and amended. A tour of the Hershey Chocolate factory and the state capitol building is scheduled in conjunction with the conference.

Our state officer candidacy school is quickly approaching. Watch for dates, times, and locations to be posted in your respective areas.

Finally, our last major function as the 1999-2000 state officer team is Pennsylvania FFA Activities Week. Come join us and watch as members from throughout Pennsylvania "unlock their potential."

Thank you to everyone who has helped make this year go smoothly, and thanks to the members of the Pennsylvania FFA.

QUESTION — Amy McBlane, Boyertown, is raising a dual breed chicken — buff orphingtons. Amy wants to know how old the males can become without caponizing or getting tough. If 13 weeks is the maximum, she wants to caponize them or needs someone to teach her how to do it. She has written information, but want hands-on experience.

QUESTION — Susan Sensenig, Mount Joy, is looking for a white teddy bear dressed in blue with stars, moons, or a design that glows in the dark. These 12-inch bears had been sold in 1994, she thinks, by Furst McNess Co., Freeport, Il.

QUESTION — Ann Hochenbury is looking for a pattern for an Afghan called "The Night Before Christmas." The design is by Raymond Gustafan, photographed by Scott Little, and is a scenic portrayal of St. Nick's midnight ride, which captures many details mentioned in the poem. The central motif is the farewell scene, complete with miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer. The pattern appeared in the 1991 "Better Homes and Garden" magazine.

QUESTION — Frank Cerami, Ottsville, is looking for the company that manufactures wood paving blocks like those used in the Philadelphia Historic District.

QUESTION — Becky Allgyer, Skiles Rd, wants to know where to find a French Fleur cannister set (stoneware).

QUESTION — Anna Bryan writes that years ago her mom had an angel food cake pan with a lid on top. She asks where she can find one with a lid.

QUESTION — Janet Lawton, Wellsboro, is searching for the address and phone number for Tom Schell, who wrote "An Introduction to the Dried Floral and Woody Ornamental Business." She believes Schell lives in Illinois or Indiana.

ANSWER — Alice Richey, Cochranville, wanted a contact person for purchasing pan replacements for Guardian Service. Thanks to Pat Elligson, Millers, for sending the following address: Irvin Bernstein, 2110 Harmony Woods Rd., Owings Mills, Md. 21117. Phone (410) 560-0777.

ANSWER — For a York County reader who wanted to know how to remove oil stains from driveways and garage floors, a reader recommends sprinkling area with cat litter and then sweeping.

ANSWER — Here's another solution for removing milk bottle stains. Karen Kinnane, Pompton Plains, N.J., writes that if the white stains are mineral deposits, fill the bottles ¾ full with white vinegar and add ¼ with ammonia. Allow solution to set in bottle for 3 or 4 days. If the glass is still stained, it may be what is called "sick" glass, which means it is permanently stained. Coating the inside of the bottle with mineral oil (from a drug store) may camouflage the stains for about six months. Then the bottle must be washed inside with warm soapy water, dried, and re-coated.

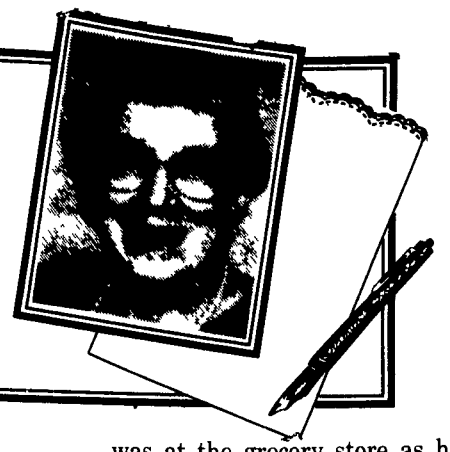
Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser



The middle of March and St. Patrick's Day makes me think of planting garden.

Despite my husband's disability, he rototilled a bit of our garden so that we could plant sugar peas. He did this while I was at the grocery store as he knew that I did not want him to try to handle the big rototiller. We planted three kinds of peas in a 100 foot row. All of these will need a six-foot fence for support.

I save my own seed. Although, they are available to the public through the "Heirloom Seed Project" at the Landis Valley Museum near Lancaster. My mother-in-law planted these kinds: "Risser Sickle pea and Risser Early Sugar Pea" in the 1920s.

My parents' farm was on the edge of a village. And, each spring we would see an elderly lady with a pan out int he field cutting dandelions. We thought she was a bid odd, but now I too look forward to cutting some tender dandelions for a salad. Many people add a hot bacon dressing but I like mine simply raw with a bit of mayonnaise and a hard boiled egg.

Now that spring is almost here, the pink geranium in a hanging basket has started to bloom again. It has seven big blooms which I enjoy looking at as it hangs in the big bay window. Even the impatiens plants, that I brought in in the fall, continue to bloom.

Recently, I spent another day of my life riding in a car. We drove to western Pennsylvania to visit my husband's brother He recently moved to a Veterans Home in Holidaysburg. It is a large complex, and he was surprised to see us.

Possible To Age More Slowly?

Here, let me get that for you. Just sit and relax; I'll tend to everything. Take it easy; you shouldn't be straining yourself.

Such is the nature of the solicitous phrases often heard by those who are nearing or have reached retirement age.

There's a strong feeling in our culture that part of the proper way to show respect for the older members of society is to make sure they exert themselves as little as possible.

The golden years, to the American mind, are best spent sitting on porches sipping lemonade, not walking to town for a quart of milk, cleaning out the gutters, and using stairs rather than an elevator to climb a flight or two.

But it's apparently that very attitude that helps make older folks, well, old. The less physically active people become as they advance in years, the faster their bodies give out on them. That's the conclusion from a team of scientists at the USDA Human Nutrition Research Center on Aging at Tufts University.

Dr. William Evans, chief of the Center's Human Physiology end Laboratory, and Dr. Irwin Rosenberg, director of the center, report that while inactivity doesn't necessarily shorten the life span, it most definitely shortens the health span. That is, a decrease in physical exertion makes people less capable of doing things for themselves at a younger age than necessary. it also makes them more prone to such illnesses as heart disease, diabetes, and osteoporosis, so that the last 20 to 30 to 40 years of their lives are often unduly compromised by a combination of bodily complaints and dependency on others.

Conversely, those over 45 who continue to push themselves physically as the years go by have a much better chance of maintaining their vigor, stamina, and physical flexibility as well as overall health and therefore of reaching and living through old age self-reliant. They can take out their own trash, walk a mile to the senior citizens center rather than be driven, and carry the laundry down to and up from the basement without feeling winded. It's true not only for those in their 60s and 70s but even for many in their 80s and 90s. Better still, those in their golden years who have lost a good deal of physical capacity can retard and even reverse the trend. Even if you're already 75 years old, the researchers say, feel overburdened with aches and pains, and have long since accepted the idea that an energetic lifestyle is over for you, you can still turn things around. They cite evidence of men in their 70s who within 12 weeks' time went from being able to lift 44 pounds to 85 pounds, losing fat and gaining muscle. In just eight weeks, women in their 90s nearly tripled their strength! How?

With exercise. With huffing and puffing and working up a sweat, and with lifting weights.

The idea of an octogenarian or nonagenarian working out to the point of perspiring might sound very distasteful, very punishing, and perhaps even dangerous. But it's just that level of exertion that keeps aging from being synonymous with illness and proves that chronological age, marked by the number of years lived, is distinct from biological age, marked by the body's capacity.

Consider the comment of a 93-year-old woman who completed the researchers' strength-training program: "I feel as if I were 50 again. Now I get up in the middle of the night and can get around without using my walker or turning on the light."

Or the words of a 58-year-old: "As I moved into my 50s, my body felt more and more like a dead weight. I simply accepted it as part of growing older. How wonderful to discover this isn't the way I have to feel at my age–to know that, by working at it, I can actually feel better and more ready for life than I did when I was 22."

Drs. Evans and Rosenberg detail their energy-enhancing exercise plan, which they couple with sound nutrition, in their newly released book, Biomarkers: The 10 Determinants of Aging You Can Control (Simon & Schuster: New York, $21.95).

The biomarkers are actually key physiological factors that are associated with aging but which regular exercise and a prudent diet can keep in as tip-top shape as possible for as long as possible.

In the 10 Biomarkers: Keeping Them 'Young,' famous baseball pitcher Leroy "Satchel" Paige never knew exactly how old he was. He told people to use his performance on the pitcher's mound to estimate his age. But that did little good, since he was a leading pitcher for about 25 years, from the 1920s into the 1950s. What that probably means is that his biomarkers remained "young" even as he grew older because he was so active. The 10 biomarkers Drs. Evans and Rosenberg have pinpointed include the following: 1. muscle 2. strength mass 3. basal metabolic rate 4. body fat percentage 5. aerobic capacity 6. blood-sugar tolerance 7. cholesterol/HDL ratio 8. blood pressure 9. bone density 10. the body's ability to regulate its internal temperature.

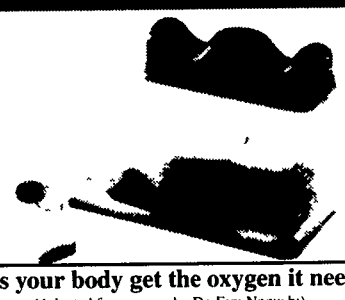
Introducing
The Chi Machine
The Sun Harmony Aerobic Exerciser
It does the work - You get the aerobic benefits.



"In only three weeks of using the Chi Machine, I lost 15 pounds effortlessly - and hospital lab tests showed that my blood cholesterol level dropped from 225 to 160 mg"

How do I use my Chi Machine?
* Place the machine on a rug Lie on your back and put your ankles in the grooves of the footrest on top of the machine
* Set the timer switch to activate the machine for the number of minutes you desire First time users should start with 2-5 minutes
* The footrest will begin to move back and forth, carrying your feet briskly from side to side This movement will carry up through your legs and torso, throuthout your entire body, causing you to wiggle back and forth - that's right like a fish swimming in water
* All you do now is relax and breathe deeply, letting the machine rock you gently but firmly for a maximum of 15 minutes
* When the time is up and the machine stops, remain lying down for another two to five minutes, relaxing and breathing deeply, enjoying the remarkable afterglow - chi - as it moves throughout your body

"In two months of using the Chi Machine, my thighs, hips, stomach and buttocks now look as good as they did when I was in my 20's - and I'm almost 52"

A totally unique device which promotes the body's own natural absorption of oxygen.

Does your body get the oxygen it needs?
(Adapted from a quiz by Dr Eigi Noguchi)
Check all the boxes which apply to you -
- ☐ I wake up tired, even after eight hours of sleep
- ☐ I sleep restlessly, waking up frequently
- ☐ I suffer from chronic fatigue
- ☐ I have poor physical endurance
- ☐ I tend to be moody and irritable
- ☐ I am susceptible to colds and flu
- ☐ I suffer from allergies
- ☐ I frequently feel tense and on edge
- ☐ I am frequently constipated
- ☐ I have frequent pain in my shoulder and/or back
- ☐ I have weight problems
- ☐ I crave sweets, alcohol or soda

If you checked more than three boxes, your body might not be assimilating sufficient oxygen Please consult your physician You may wish to have your blood oxygen levels tested - before and after you begin to use the Chi Machine

A new standard from the 3-cylinder leaders

New Holland has raised the standards for 42 to 62 PTO hp tractors with the introduction of TND and TNS models.

The higher standards include:

- Proven engines: up to 36% torque rise
- Exclusive SuperSteer™; 76 degree turning
- Exclusive Traction Management System
- Iso-mounted, fully enclosed cab with standard A/C, heater, tilt/telescope steering, front/rear washers/wipers, best electronic dash, best visibility, and more
- Clutchless power shuttle fingertip control
- State-of-the-art 16x16 Synchro Command™ transmission with 4 speeds under 1 mph

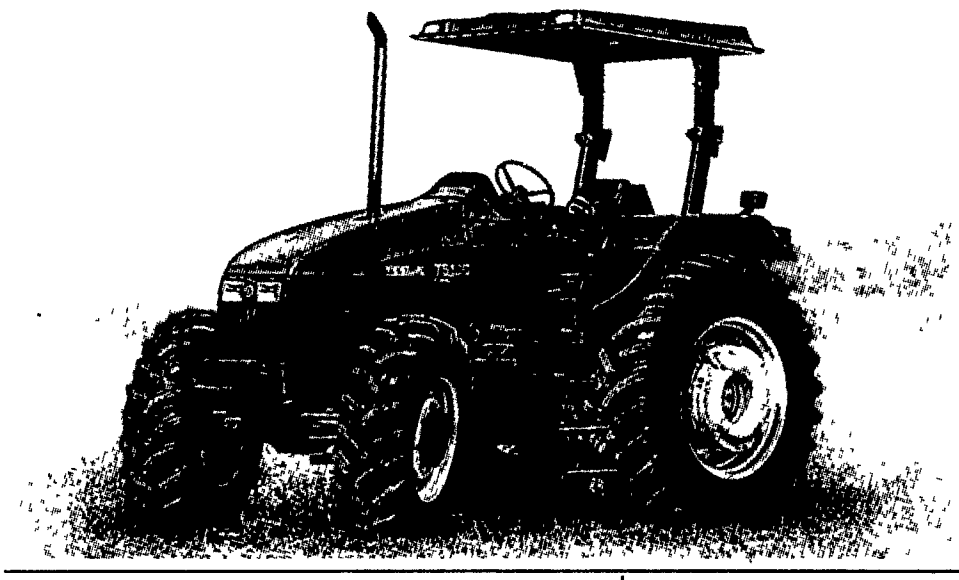
NEW HOLLAND



Building on a good thing

You might recognize the engines, drivelines and axles on the new New Holland TS tractors. They have excellent reputations based on past performance. Thousands of customers have put these components to hard use and benefited from their performance and durability.

So, New Holland wasn't about to change a good thing. They made other improvements to these 70- to 90-PTO-hp tractors instead – like increasing the horsepower, improving the comfort of the cab, relocating the fuel tank for added convenience, adding a top road speed of 25 mph, upgrading the electrical system and adding outlets and modernizing the styling.

Better see these exciting 70- to 90-PTO-hp TS tractors for yourself. And find out how good design can become even better.

NEW HOLLAND

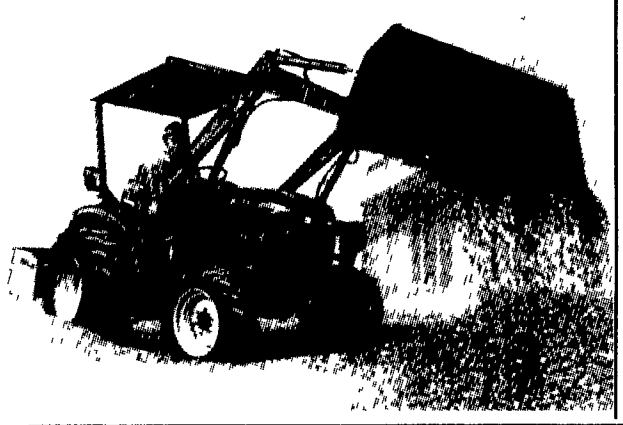
On the farm... the estate... on the job site

Boomer compact diesels are designed for hard work from the ground up. They provide better maneuverability, versatility, and easy of service.

- SuperSteer™ FWD axle reduces turnaround up to 50%
- Innovative styling means great visibility and easy operation
- Comfort-Plus™ deck delivers greater operator comfort.
- Flip-up hood makes service simple

See Boomer now!

NEW HOLLAND



Take control

Put a NEW commercial mower from New Holland to work for you and you take control with:

- Automatic, four-wheel drive – extra traction when you need it.
- Two-pedal forward reverse hydrostatic drive – fast, easy maneuverability
- Low center of gravity – better stability
- High-lift mower deck – clears 6" curbs easily
- Mower deck flips up to a vertical position – easier service and cleaning

Get maximum control from your commercial mower. Stop in for a test drive.

NEW HOLLAND

Nothing compares to a Super Boom™

Why choose a New Holland skid steer?

- Superior visibility
- Unbeatable stability
- Faster speeds
- Superior dump height & reach
- Greater bucket & lift capacity
- The most attachments
- Unmatched dependability

AUTO PARTS AUCTION

FOR THE ESTATE OF COLEMAN STOOPS

40-YEAR COLLECTION FORD V8 PARTS

FRIDAY & SATURDAY, APRIL 14 & 15, 2000

COMMENCING AT 10:00 AM EACH DAY

SELLING TWO SEPARATE RINGS BOTH DAYS

Along Rt. 13 2.2 Miles South of Odessa, Delaware – Just Below The point Where The New Rt. 1 Bypass Rejoins Rt. 13. Approximately 8 miles North of Smyrna. Village of Fieldsboro.

Selling Ring One, Friday: Tons of Ford V-8 flathead parts of all kinds, but very little sheet metal. You can expect anything mechanical, some N.O.S. included. Sparkplugs.

Selling Ring Two, Friday: Tools, tools, and more tools – mechanical tools, primitive hand tools, power hand tools, antiques, bottles, miscellaneous non-auto collectibles.

Selling Ring One, Saturday: Antique gas pump, Texaco #1 truck and #2 truck, many other vintage Texaco collectibles and service station items, Ford memorabilia, Ford Times, N.O.S. Ford boxes, hundreds of automobilia trinkets.

Selling Ring Two, Saturday: more Ford parts, mostly flathead but later also. Any sheet metal we uncover will be sold Saturday. Complete engines, rears, radiators, trannys, wheels, etc.

ALL GOODS SOLD AS IS, WHERE IS. YOU CAN GET INTO THE PROPERTY 8:00 AM EACH DAY TO LOOK AROUND; NOT BEFORE, PLEASE. DELAWARE HAS NO SALES TAX, AND WE ARE NOT CHARGING A BUYER'S PREMIUM, SO YOU PAY WHAT YOU BID. ABSOLUTE SALE.

FLASH! Gordon Clark, a longtime friend of Coleman's, has decided to liquidate his stock of N.O.S. & Used GM parts at the same time.

We will employ another auctioneer to accommodate him, since the building he rented from Mr. & Mrs. Stoops will be sold.

Ridge Administration Announces 32 Farms Preserved

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)–Lt. Gov. Mark Schweiker recently announced the approval of 32 farms–more than 4,500 acres–for preservation. The approval puts Pennsylvania one-third of the way toward Gov. Tom Ridge's pledge to preserve 100 farms during the "100 Days of Growing Greener."

This is a record number of approvals for one State Agricultural Land Preservation Board meeting and represents nearly $6 million in state funds to protect farmland from non-agricultural development.

"Today, we mark '100 Days of Growing Greener' by using nearly $6 million to help protect 32 farms and more than 4,500 acres of quality farmland," Schweiker said. "We now are one-third of the way toward our goal of preserving 100 farms by Earth Day. Through 'Growing Greener,' we'll invest $20 million this year and $100 million over five years to preserve prime agricultural land for our hardworking farm families, and the quality of life and beautiful vistas we all enjoy."

On January 8 at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, Gov. Ridge announced his goal of preserving 100 farms over the next 100 days, culminating on Earth Day. He called the loss of open space and farmland Pennsylvania's biggest environmental challenge in the new century.

"Not all of our work will be done in these 100 days," Gov. Ridge said at the Farm Show. "'Growing Greener' is a five-year program, and we plan to use every day of those five years to leave our children 'Penn's Woods' that are even cleaner and greener than we found them."

The state board today also allocated a record $45 million–including the $20 million in "Growing Greener" funds–to 50 eligible counties for farmland preservation. Forty-two counties also appropriated a record $24 million in matching funds–bringing the total available dollars for farmland preservation this year to nearly $70 million.

In addition, the state board approved the first three applications under the Land Trust Reimbursement Grant Pilot Program, created by Gov. Ridge last year as part of the Supplemental Farmland Preservation allocation. The pilot program will reimburse eligible land trusts for up to $5,000 per easement to cover costs such as surveying, title searches, and appraisals. The first three approvals were easements acquired by the Farm and National Lands Trust of York County.

Created in 1989, the Pennsylvania Agricultural Land Preservation Board oversees the state Farmland Preservation Program. The program allows the state and counties to purchase development rights, referred to as easements, to guarantee that farms will remain as agricultural land.

Agriculture Secretary Samuel E. Hayes, Jr. said he will work with the State Agricultural Land Preservation Board, county farmland-preservation boards, and the state's farm community to reach Gov. Ridge's goal of 100 farms.

"We are determined to meet the Governor's goal of preserving 100 farms in 100 days," said Secretary Hayes, chairman of the State Agricultural Land Preservation Board. "The board shares the Governor's enthusiasm and commitment toward preserving our proud agricultural heritage and the life our farm families enjoy."

Including the seven county-owned easements accepted today, the Farmland Preservation Program has protected 1,225 farms in 42 counties, encompassing 152,205 acres.

Following is a list of 25 properties approved for easement purchase using state funds, including owner, municipality, acreage, and purchase cost: Adams County ing up abandoned mines and restoring watersheds, providing funds for recreational trails, helping communities address land use, and providing new and upgraded water and sewer systems.

On Tuesday, Feb. 8, Gov. Ridge unveiled his 2000–01 budget, proposing $135 million to fund the second year of the five year "Growing Greener" initiative. These funds will come from $100 million in new money from the General Fund and $35 million in funds redirected from the Recycling and Hazardous Sites Cleanup funds, and the Landfill Closure Accounts.

For 100 days–from the January Farm Show until Earth Day on April 22–Gov. Ridge and his Administration will announce at least one new "Growing Greener" initiative every week to showcase how the state's largest-ever environmental investment is benefiting Pennsylvanians.

Gov. Ridge kicked off "100 Days of Growing Greener" at the January Farm Show by announcing that he expects 100 farms to be preserved over the next 100 days, culminating on Earth Day. On Jan. 13, Lt. Gov. Schweiker was in Berks County to mark the second week of "100 Days of Growing Greener" by announcing $5.1 million in "Growing Greener" grants for watershed protection and abandoned mine reclamation in 45 counties. On Jan. 20, Gov. Ridge marked the third week by announcing 30 grants totaling nearly $6 million to help protect critical habitat and open space across Pennsylvania.

On Jan. 26, Gov. Ridge marked the fourth week by signing a $210 million agreement with the USDA that will protect Pennsylvania watersheds, ensure the conservation of up to 100,000 acres of farmland, and improve wildlife habitat in the Chesapeake Bay watershed. On Feb. 4, Lt. Gov. Schweiker announced "Growing Greener" funds to help 10 communities across the state to develop community gateway gardens.

And last week, Gov. Ridge launched "Growing Smarter," which would make the largest state investment in local land-use planning; unveiled his 2000–01 budget proposal, which includes the second year of funding for "Growing Greener"; and toured the largest sportsmen show of its kind in North America to announce a new website providing one-stop access to "Growing Greener" grants and information –www.GrowingGreener.org.

Beginning Grazier's School Focuses On Grass Selection, Herd Health

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

SYLVAN (Franklin Co) — What s good for tall fescue can simply make cows sick according to a leading grazier

Burning down and removing the grasses from the rotationally grazed farm operated by the Glenn Moyer family has been one of the hardest decisions I ve made since I ve worked with grazing systems in 13 years ' he said

Moyer host for the Beginning Dairy Graziers School in mid October at the farm owned by American Farmland Trust (AFT) at the foot of the Tuscarora Mountain near Sylvan looked over the brown grasses destroyed by Roundup

Speaking to a group of two dozen producers learning how to graze Moyer shook his head realiz ing that it was awkward to have to get rid of the fescues — hardy grasses that can withstand drought and recover quickly — but he be lieves they could be responsible for health problems at his dairy

Fescue endophyte toxicity and possible nitrate problems resulting from quick regrowth from rains fol lowing a drought emergency could be responsible for a drop in milk production respiratory problems lameness fescue foot ' and a lots of symptoms of things, said Moyer

Fescue can be tolerant of dry weather At the more than 300-acre AFT farm the fescues were the first to green up well when rains fell after the drought The persistent plant has genetics that makes it hardy and vigorous readily surviving cold winters and prolonged drought

Fescues, dating back 30 years, can experience a green flush after a drought But that flush can be ac companied by nitrate toxicity — leading to lots of problems in cows

What I found out about fescue is that almost everyone has a theory said Moyer But ridding the farm of fescue — which they are doing gradually — is contrary to the way I was trained and how I was taught to graze,' he said Re placing it is 'uncharted territory "

In October, Bryan T Petrucci director of farms division for AFT, introduced the graziers who at

The AFT farm uses a concrete feed pad measuring about 100 feet long by 22 feet wide, with an additional area measuring 65 feet by 12 feet, comprising a feed area for 108 cows with two feet of room per cow, Moyer noted. The pad can accommodate about 130 cows Moyer hosted the Beginning Dairy Graziers School in mid-October at the farm Photo by Andy Andrews

Cattle, Equipment Can Move Efficiently, Safely With Good Laneway Design

INDIANA (Indiana Co) — If a laneway is designed correctly, herdstock managers can move live stock and equipment quickly safely and efficiently noted several ex perts who spoke here last year

Late in the spring about 70 people, including herd managers graziers and agri industry experts spoke at a grazing field dale and tour of Dale Bracken s stocker cattle farm near Indiana

The field day, sponsored by Project Grass, the Indiana County Conservation District and the Mabis Mekenna Foundation focused on laneway design and maintenance J B Harold, Project Grass coordinator Allan Wood Natural Resource Conservation Ser vice (NRCS) state engineer and Bill Stout Pasture Lab University Park spoke about laneway construction
